behaviors slowly began to unravel ultimately prompting the powerful realization that the death she was grieving was not her husband's but her own. For many years she conformed to the roles and expectations society placed on her, listened to the shoulds and became attached to stories that did not serve her. She lost herself in the process. As Corina began to look within, she learned how our systems distort our reality, mask our true nature and alter our behaviour in destructive ways. Once she stopped assuming systems are a given, she chose to interact differently with them or abandon them entirely. By seeing them for what they are, their power over her eventually dissolved, allowing her to reclaim her autonomy and freedom. Illusions shares a roadmap of how one woman removed the blinders, healed her wounds and dismantled the status quo after the sudden death of her husband.

The Mammoth Book of Great British Humour Michael Powell, 2010-10-14 A doorstopper of a collection of the very best of both contemporary and classic British wit and humour. From Monty Python's Nudge nudge wink wink say no more to Dan Antopolski's Hedgehogs Why can't they just share the hedge. From George Bernard Shaw to Michael McIntyre, from Eric Morecambe to Omid Djalili and from Oscar Wilde to Jimmy Carr, a side splitting look at Britain, the British and life in general. Including these gems from Britain's finest comedians, I was delighted to learn that my friend's schadenfreude was not as satisfying as mine. Armando Iannucci: I went on a girls night out recently. The invitation said: dress to kill. I went as Rose West. Zoe Lyons: For a while I was the perfect mother. Then the Pethidine wore off. Jenny Eclair: My girlfriend was complaining last night that I never listen to her. Or something like that. Jack Dee: Why do dogs always race to the door when the doorbell rings because it's hardly ever for them. Harry Hill: Arse gravy of the very worst kind. Stephen Fry on The Da Vinci Code: You have to come up with this shit every year. Last week I just wrote: I still love you. See last year's card for full details. Michael McIntyre on Valentine's Day: I went to the doctor and he said: You've got hypochondria. I said: Not that as well. Tim Vine: I have the body of an eighteen year old. I keep it in the fridge. Spike Milligan: When someone close to you dies, move seats. Peter Kay: My neighbour asked if he could use my lawnmower and I told him of course he could so long as he didn't take it out of my garden. Eric Morecambe: My dad's dying wish was to have his family around him. I can't help thinking he would have been better off

'Bitter with the Past but Sweet with the Dream': Communism in the African American Imaginary Cathy Bergin, 2015-05-19 The legacy of the relationship between African American writers and Communism in the US is a contested one Bergin argues that in three novels by seminal mid century authors Wright Himes and Ellison Communism is not dismissed as incapable of meeting the demands of black political identity but is castigated for its refusal to do so A detailed focus on the political milieu in which these texts operate challenges many of the presumptions about the inability of Communism to comprehend racial oppression which dominate literary critical approaches to these novels She draws on the complex formations black political agency presumed and reproduced by American Communism during the Depression
