Ideology and Foreign Policy in Early Modern Europe (1650-1750) Gijs Rommelse, 2016-05-13 The years 1650 to 1750 sandwiched between an age of wars of religion and an age of revolutionary wars have often been characterized as a de ideologized period However the essays in this collection contend that this is a mistaken assumption For whilst international relations during this time may lack the obvious polarization between Catholic and Protestant visible in the proceeding hundred years or the highly charged contest between monarchies and republics of the late eighteenth century it is forcibly argued that ideology had a fundamental part to play in this crucial transformative stage of European history Many early modernists have paid little attention to international relations theory often taking a Realist approach that emphasizes the anarchism materialism and power political nature of international relations In contrast this volume provides alternative perspectives viewing international relations as socially constructed and influenced by ideas ideology and identities Building on such theoretical developments allows international relations after 1648 to be fundamentally reconsidered by putting political and economic ideology firmly back into the picture By engaging with and building upon recent theoretical developments this collection treads new terrain Not only does it integrate cultural history with high politics and foreign policy it also engages directly with themes discussed by political scientists and international relations theorists As such it offers a fresh and genuinely interdisciplinary approach to this complex and fundamental period in Europe s development

Power and Image in Early Modern Europe Jessica Goethals, Valerie McGuire, 2009-05-27 Are images and spectacles fundamental mediators of power relationships in the West This book draws upon the language of cultural studies to investigate a contemporary hypothesis in the shifting ideological landscape of early modern Europe Apparently aesthetic choices by artists may also have been the means to consolidate and subvert institutionalized or non institutionalized bodies of power Meanwhile communities in Europe reacted to the intrinsic power of the image in literature and letters commenting upon both its use and abuse Both diachronic and geographic connections are made among disparate but important moments of image making in the twelfth through seventeenth centuries The influence of Descartes is traced from La Rochefoucauld and the communal spectacles of the Ancien R gime salon to the Netherlands and Rembrandt s sketch Death of the Virgin Shakespeare bears similar anxieties about Joan of Arc s transgression of gender boundaries in Henry VI as does Castiglione s Courtier when serving the Renaissance Prince Spenser s dilemma about the non difference between fiction and history resolves itself in the same way as does the Byzantine rejection of iconoclasm Other articles in the collection examine anomie in Vatican frescoes by Giorgio Vasari corporeal decay and the supernatural as spectacle on the early modern English stage and affective self perception and subjectivity in the scoring of Italian opera not as just a conference volume but as an organic group of essays on early modernity The essays span an impressive number of cultures from Byzantium to England Italy and Spain to the Netherlands and theorize the image from a number of disciplinary vantage points Not surprisingly art history and theatre are well represented but so are music history and literary studies Most of the essays are short but sufficiently developed to allow for thoughtful arguments on the status of the visual in early modern culture on the stage on the page and as artistic and musical representation they do deliver fine close readings and leave me sufficiently intrigued to want to return to or familiarize myself with the original texts I come away from this collection encouraged about the state of graduate studies in Europe and North America Jane Tylus Professor of Italian and Comparative Literature and Vice Provost for Academic Affairs New York University The essays are interdisciplinary and touch upon many themes that lie outside my own field of specialization I was therefore surprised and pleased to find them not only original and instructive but also inviting and accessible to the non specialist Although they range far with respect to chronology and theoretical suppositions they are coherently united in their concern for the functioning of the image in the conservation revision or critique of socio political power in their respective cultural contexts I will mention three essays representing three different fields as striking examples of disparate images used to consolidate reconstruct or overthrow the dominant powers of their times Kathryn Falzareno s essay Mother s Milk and Deborah s Sword is a close reading of Shakespeare s portrayal of Joan of Arc in Henry VI It is a close analysis of the paradoxical status of Joan Saint of the French strumpet for the English Christian warrior maiden contrasting with Deborah in the Ancient Testament The dominant and totally unexpected image which brings together the contradictions embodied by Joan are the breasts the source of nurture in the figure of Mary but an encumbrance for the mythological amazons who removed one breast to facilitate their use of the bow Ljubica Ilic s Echo and Narcissus Labyrinths of the Self is an elegant reading of echo music the apparently impossible translation of the Ovidian story into music and opera Ovid s story represents the nymph Echo as the auditory equivalent of Narcissus reflection echoing sound as reflecting light Ovid s echo myth undoubtedly influenced opera by Jacopo Peri during the time of the Medici and then Monteverdi in the musical setting of Orfeo Finally Elissa Auerbach s Taking Mary s Pulse Cartesianism and Modernity in Rembrandt s Death of the Virgin is a brilliant commentary on the Dutch painter s rendering of an ancient theme the dormition of the Virgin but at the center of the painting is the figure of a physician taking the pulse of her limp hand The intrusion of this scientific element in the ancient iconography of the event of Mary s death is the unmistakable sign of the wave of modernity that swept over the Netherlands with the popularity of Cartesian philosophy and science John Freccero Professor of Italian and Comp Lit NYU

Households and the Production of Well-Being in Modern Europe Assoc Prof Tindara Addabbo, Dr Alastair Owens, Dr Cristina Borderías, Ms Marie-Pierre Arrizabalaga, 2012-12-28 Feminist scholars have long pointed out the relevance of the unpaid work that goes on within European households in sustaining the well being of the continent's populations. However, care work and domestic labour continue to be largely unremunerated and unequally distributed by gender. This unique volume of interdisciplinary essays casts new light on the roles that households play in securing the well being of individuals and families, uncovering the processes of bargaining and accommodation and conflict and compromise that underpin them. Contributors put gender at the centre of their analyses, demonstrating the uneven experiences of men and women as both providers and receivers of welfare in European households in both the past and the present. As European states grapple with changing family forms, a growing population of dependent people, increased participation of women in labour markets and a profound shift in the nature and organisation of work, this book makes a timely contribution to our understanding of the critical role played by households in mediating processes of economic and social change. It offers new challenges to scholars, researchers and policy makers eager to address gender inequalities and enhance well being. This book is the second of four volumes being published as part of Ashgate's Gender and Well Being series that arise from a programme of international symposia funded by the European Science Foundation under the auspices of COST European Cooperation in the field of Scientific and Technical Research.

Rhetoric and Medicine in Early Modern Europe Nancy S. Struener, 2016-04-08 Through close analysis of texts, cultural and civic communities and intellectual history, the papers in this collection for the first time propose a dynamic relationship between rhetoric and medicine as discourses and disciplines of cure in early modern Europe. Although the range of theoretical approaches and methodologies represented here is diverse, the essays collectively explore the theories and practices, innovations and interventions that underwrite the shared concerns of medicine, moral philosophy and rhetoric: care and consolation, reading, policy and rectitude, signification, selfhood and autonomy, all developed and refined at the intersection of areas of inquiry usually thought distinct. From Italy to England, from the sixteenth through to the mid-eighteenth century, early modern moral philosophers and essayists, rhetoricians and physicians investigated the passions and persuasion, vulnerability and volubility, theoretical intervention and practical therapy in the dramas, narratives and disciplines of public and private cure. The essays are relevant to a wide range of readers, including cultural, literary and intellectual historians, historians of medicine and philosophy, and scholars of rhetoric.
