Silcox, Graham Roebuck, 2008 The essays collected in this volume explore many of the most interesting and some of the more surprising reactions of English people in the early modern period to their encounters with the mysterious and the foreign In this period the small and peripheral nation of English speakers first explored the distant world from the Arctic to the tropics of the Americas to the exotic East and snowy wastes of Russia recording its impressions and adventures in an equally wide variety of literary genres Nearer home fresh encounters with the mysterious world of the Ottoman Empire and the lure of the Holy Land and of course with the evocative wonders of Italy provide equally rich accounts for the consumption of a reading and theatergoing public This growing public proved to be in some cases naive and gullible in others urbanely sophisticated in its reactions to otherness or frankly incredulous of travelers tales BOOK JACKET Translation and the Making of Modern Russian Literature Brian James Baer, 2015-11-19 Brian James Baer explores the central role played by translation in the construction of modern Russian literature Peter I s policy of forced Westernization resulted in translation becoming a widely discussed and highly visible practice in Russia a multi lingual empire with a polyglot elite Yet Russia s accumulation of cultural capital through translation occurred at a time when the Romantic obsession with originality was marginalizing translation as mere imitation The awareness on the part of Russian writers that their literature and by extension their cultural identity were born in translation produced a sustained and sophisticated critique of Romantic authorship and national identity that has long been obscured by the nationalist focus of traditional literary studies By offering a re reading of seminal works of the Russian literary canon that thematize translation alongside studies of the circulation and reception of specific translated texts Translation and the Making of Modern Russian Literature models the long overdue integration of translation into literary and cultural studies Modern Poems from Russia. Mirsky, 1926 You Will Hear Thunder Anna Akhmatova, 2017-08-14 Anna Akhmatova lived through pre revolution Russia Bolshevism and Stalinism Throughout it all she maintained an elegant muscular style that could grab a reader by the throat at a moment s notice Defined by tragedy and beauty in equal measure her poems take on romantic frustration and the pull of the sensory and find power in the mundane Above all she believed that a Russian poet could only produce poetry in Russia You Will Hear Thunder spans Akhmatova s very early career into the early 1960s These poems were written through her bohemian prerevolution days her many marriages the terror and privation of life under Stalin and her later years during which she saw her work once again recognized by the Soviet state Intricately observed and unwavering in their emotional immediacy these strikingly modern poems represent one of the twentieth century s most powerful voices Encyclopedia of Literary Translation Into English: A-L O.
