DiFuria, Walter Melion, 2021-12-20 In epideictic oratory ekphrasis is typically identified as an advanced rhetorical exercise that verbally reproduces the experience of viewing a person place or thing more specifically it often purports to replicate the experience of viewing a work of art Not only what was seen but also how it was beheld and the emotions attendant upon first viewing it are implicitly construed as recoverable indeed reproducible This volume examines how and why many early modern pictures operate in an ekphrastic mode such pictures claim to reconstitute works of art that solely survived in the textual form of an ekphrasis or they invite the beholder to respond to a picture in the way s he responds to a stirring verbal image or they call attention to their status as an image in the way that ekphrasis as a rhetorical figure makes one conscious of the process of image making or finally they foreground the artist s or the viewer s agency in the way that the rhetor or auditor is adduced as agent of the image being verbally produced Contributors Carol Elaine Barbour Ivana Bi ak Letha Ch ien James Clifton Teresa Clifton Karl Enenkel Arthur DiFuria Christopher Heuer Barbara Kaminska Annie Maloney Annie McEwen Walter Melion Lars Cyril N rgaard Dawn Odell April Oettinger Shelley Perlove Stephanie Porras Femke Spielberg Caecilie Weissert Elliott Wise and Steffen Zierholz

The Oxford Handbook of Early Modern European History, 1350-1750 Hamish Scott, 2015-07-23 This Handbook re-examines the concept of early modern history in a European and global context The term early modern has been familiar especially in Anglophone scholarship for four decades and is securely established in teaching research and scholarly publishing More recently however the unity implied in the notion has fragmented while the usefulness and even the validity of the term and the historical periodisation which it incorporates have been questioned The Oxford Handbook of Early Modern European History 1350 1750 provides an account of the development of the subject during the past half century but primarily offers an integrated and comprehensive survey of present knowledge together with some suggestions as to how the field is developing It aims both to interrogate the notion of early modernity itself and to survey early modern Europe as an established field of study The overriding aim will be to establish that early modern is not simply a chronological label but possesses a substantive integrity Volume I examines Peoples and Place assessing structural factors such as climate printing and the revolution in information social and economic developments and religion including chapters on Orthodoxy Judaism and Islam *Catalogue of the Books in the Senior Section Johannesburg (South Africa). Food and Health in Early Modern Europe David Gentilcore,2015-11-19 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2016 Food and Health in Early Modern Europe is both a history of food practices and a history of the medical discourse about that food It is also an exploration of the interaction between the two the relationship between evolving foodways and shifting medical advice on what to eat in order to stay healthy It provides the first in depth study of printed dietary advice covering the entire early modern period from the late 15th century to the early 19th it is also the first to trace the history of European foodways as seen through the prism of this advice David Gentilcore offers a doctor s eye view of changing food and dietary fashions from Portugal to Poland from Scotland to Sicily not forgetting the expanding European populations of the New World In addition to exploring European regimens throughout the period works of materia medica botany agronomy and horticulture are considered as well as a range of other printed sources such as travel accounts cookery books and literary works The book also includes 30 illustrations maps and extensive chapter bibliographies with web links included to further aid study Food and Health in Early Modern Europe is the essential introduction to the relationship between food health and medicine for history students and scholars alike

War and Society in Early Modern Europe Frank Tallett, 2016-02-08 War and Society in Early Modern Europe takes a fresh approach to military history Rather than looking at tactics and strategy it aims to set warfare in social and institutional contexts Focusing on the early modern period in western Europe Frank Tallett gives an insight into the armies and shows how warfare had an impact on different social groups as well as on the economy and on patterns of settlement

Architectures of Festival in Early Modern Europe J.R. Mulryne, Krista De Jonge, Pieter Martens, R.L.M. Morris, 2017-10-25 This fourth volume in the European Festival Studies 1450 1700 series breaks with precedent in stemming from a joint conference Venice 2013 between the Society for European Festivals Research and the PALATIUM project supported by the European Science Foundation The volume draws on up to date research by a Europe wide group of academic scholars and museum and gallery curators to provide a unique intellectually stimulating and beautifully illustrated account of temporary architecture created for festivals of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries together with permanent architecture pressed into service for festival occasions across major European locations including Italian French Austrian Scottish and German Appealing and vigorous in style the essays look towards classical sources while evoking political and practical circumstances and intellectual concerns from re shaping and re conceptualizing early sixteenth century Rome through providing for the well being and political allegiance of Medici era Florentines and exploring the teasing aesthetics of performance at Versailles to accommodating players and spectators in seventeenth century Paris and at royal and ducal events for the Habsburg French and English crowns The volume is unique in its field in the diversity of its topics and the range of its scholarship and fascinating in its account of the intellectual and political life of Early Modern Europe
