Modern Melancholia:

The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Theory, Modern Power, World Politics Nevzat Soguk, Scott G Nelson, 2016-04-28 Deliberately eschewing disciplinary and temporal boundaries this volume makes a major contribution to the de traditionalization of political thinking within the discourses of international relations Collecting the works of twenty five theorists this Ashgate Research Companion engages some of the most pressing aspects of political thinking in world politics today The authors explore theoretical constitutions critiques and affirmations of uniquely modern forms of power past and present Among the themes and dynamics examined are textual appropriation and representation materiality and capital formation geopolitical dimensions of ecological crises connections between representations of violence and securitization subjectivity and genderization counter globalization politics constructivism biopolitics post colonial politics and theory as well as the political prospects of emerging civic and cosmopolitan orders in a time of national religious and secular polarization Radically different in their approaches the authors critically assess the discourses of IR as interpretive frames that are indebted to the historical formation of concepts and to particular negotiations of power that inform the main methodological practices usually granted primacy in the field Students as well as seasoned scholars seeking to challenge accepted theoretical frameworks will find in these chapters fresh insights into contemporary world political problems and new resources for their critical interrogation

Histories of Emotion Rüdiger Schnell, 2020-11-23 This study addresses two desiderata of historical emotion research reflecting on the interdependence of textual functions and the representation of emotions and acknowledging the interdependence of studies on the premodern and modern periods in the history of emotion Contemporary research on the history of emotion is characterised by a proliferation of studies on very different eras authors themes texts and aspects The enthusiasm and confidence with which situations actions and interactions involving emotions in history are discovered however has led to overly direct attempts to access the represented objects emotions feelings affects as a result too little attention has been paid to the conditions and functions of their representations That is why this study engages with the emotion research of historians from an unashamedly philological perspective Such an approach provides among other things insights into the varied often contradictory observations that can be made about the history of emotion in modernity and premodernity

Dying Modern Diana Fuss, 2013-04-12 In Dying Modern one of our foremost literary critics inspires new ways to read write and talk about poetry Diana Fuss does so by identifying three distinct but largely unrecognized voices within the well studied genre of the elegy the dying voice the reviving voice and the surviving voice Through her deft readings of modern poetry Fuss unveils the dramatic within the elegiac the dying diva who relishes a great deathbed scene the speaking corpse who fancies a good haunting and the departing lover who delights in a dramatic exit Focusing primarily on American and British poetry written during the past two centuries Fuss maintains that poetry can still offer genuine ethical compensation even for the deep wounds and shocking banalities of modern death As dying loss and grief become ever more thoroughly obscured from public view the dead start chattering away in verse Through bold original interpretations of little known works as well as canonical poems by writers such as Emily Dickinson Randall Jarrell Elizabeth Bishop Richard Wright and Sylvia Plath Fuss explores modern poetry's fascination with pre and postmortem speech pondering the literary desire to make death speak in the face of its cultural silencing

Queer Disappearance in Modern and Contemporary Fiction Benjamin Bateman, 2023 Queer Disappearance in Modern and Contemporary Fiction breaks with appearance based models of queer performativity and argues for the experiential richness and political potentials of recessive tendencies in twentieth and twenty first century queer literary production The study theorizes a perish performative that allows for agency in practices of abeyance and it discovers within queerness s ample archive of vanishing acts an environmental ethos antithetical to inflationary versions of the human Tying modernist classics by E M Forster and Willa Cather to Andrew Holleran s gay classic Dancer from the Dance and then moving to the contemporary ecogothic of Lydia Millet s How the Dead Dream and the trans decadence of Shola von Reinhold s Lote the book refuses the common wisdom that queerness becomes louder and prouder over time delineating instead a minimalist and daydreaming subjectivity wherein queerness finds escape respite and varied opportunities for imaginative reverie This precarious subjectivity necessitated but not defined by oppression and obstacle rewards and restores the queer self and it also contests the logics of development acquisition and productivity that wreak havoc on the planet and entrench social disparities of race class and ability Queer Disappearance in Modern and Contemporary Fiction supplies multiple accounts of the collective and personal pleasures possibilities and perils to be found in pulling away going missing and taking a break

Remembering Masculinity in Early Modern Florence Allison Mary Levy, 2006-01-01 This book nuances our understanding of commemorative portraiture in early modern Florence The author argues that male and female portraiture complexly generated within a discourse of male anxiety and pre mortuary mourning could pictorially console the subject against his own potentially unmourned death Merging early modern visual culture and critical theories of the body this book raises new questions about Renaissance portraiture and re configures our understanding of masculinity and mourning

Witchcraft in the Modern World Brian P. Levack, 2013-10-28 Witchcraft and magical beliefs have captivated historians and artists for millennia and stimulated an extraordinary amount of research among scholars in a wide range of disciplines This new collection from the editor of the highly acclaimed 1992 set Articles on Witchcraft Magic and Demonology extends the earlier volumes by bringing together the most important articles of the past twenty years and covering the profound changes in scholarly perspective over the past two decades Featuring thematically organized papers from a broad spectrum of publications the volumes in this set encompass the key issues and approaches to witchcraft research in fields such as gender studies anthropology sociology literature history psychology and law This new collection provides students and researchers with an invaluable resource comprising the most important and influential discussions on this topic A useful introductory essay written by the editor precedes each volume

Early Modern Writing and the Privatization of Experience Nick Davis, 2013-10-24 Reading a wide range of early modern authors and exploring their cultural historical philosophical and scientific contexts Early Modern Writing and the Privatization of Experience examines the shift in focus from reliance on shared experience to placing of trust in individualized experience which occurs in the writing and culture of the period Nick Davis contends that much of the era s literary production participates significantly in this broad cultural movement Covering key writers of the period including Shakespeare Donne Chaucer Spenser Langland Hobbes and Bunyan Davis begins with an overview of the medieval early modern privatizing cultural transition He then goes on to offer an analysis of King Lear Richard II Henry IV Part 1 The Winter s Tale and the first three books of The Fairie Queene among other texts considering their treatment of the relation between individual life and the life attributed to the cosmos the idea of symbolic narrative positing a collective human subject and the forming of pragmatic relations between individual and group

Textual Healing: Essays on Medieval and Early Modern Medicine Elizabeth Lane Furdell,2021-09-20

Time, Narrative, and Emotion in Early Modern England David Houston Wood,2016-02-24

Exploiting a link between early modern concepts of the medical and the literary David Houston Wood suggests that the recent critical attention to the gendered classed and raced elements of the embodied early modern subject has been hampered by its failure to acknowledge the role time and temporality play within the scope of these admittedly crucial concerns Wood examines the ways that depictions of time expressed in early modern medical texts reveal themselves in contemporary literary works demonstrating that the early modern recognition of the self as a palpably volatile entity viewed within the tenets of contemporary medical treatises facilitated the realistic portrayal of literary characters and served as a structuring principle for narrative experimentation The study centers on four canonical early modern texts notorious among scholars for their structural that is narrative or temporal difficulties Wood displays the cogency of such analysis by working across a range of generic boundaries from the prose romance of Philip Sidney s Arcadia to the staged plays of William Shakespeare s Othello and The Winter s Tale to John Milton s stubborn reliance upon humoral theory in shaping his brief epic or closet drama Samson Agonistes As well as adding a new dimension to the study of authors and texts that remain central to early modern English literary culture the author proposes a new method for analyzing the conjunction of character emotion and narrative structure that will serve as a model for future scholarship in the areas of historicist formalist and critical temporal studies
