Multi Governance Of Water:

The Multi-Governance of Water Matthias Finger, Ludivine Tamiotti, Jeremy Allouche, 2012-02-01 As the governance of transboundary rivers becomes a subject of growing importance due to the increasing pressure on freshwater resources this timely collection examines water scarcity and efforts to better manage rivers and river basins Most specialists agree that states face many institutional inadequacies when dealing with shared resources and that new governance mechanisms are needed to improve water management Using case studies of the Aral Sea basin and the Danube Euphrates and Mekong river basins the contributors develop a new approach to water governance the concept of multi governance an effort to collectively solve public problems by involving a series of relevant actors from the local to the global level such as institutions states civil society and business

Water Governance in OECD Countries Organisation for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD), 2011-11-04 Water Governance in OECD Countries A Multilevel Approach addresses multilevel governance challenges in water policy implementation and identifies good practices for coordinating water policy across ministries between levels of government and across local actors at subnational level Based on a methodological framework it assesses the main coordination gaps in terms of policy making financing information accountability objectives and capacity building and provides a platform of existing governance mechanisms to bridge them Based on an extensive survey on water governance the report provides a comprehensive institutional mapping of roles and responsibilities in water policy making at national subnational level in 17 OECD countries It concludes on preliminary multilevel governance guidelines for integrated water policy

Inclusive Development and Multilevel Transboundary Water Governance - The Kabul River Shakeel Hayat, 2020-04-30 The four decades long ideological based insurgencies and conflict in the Kabul River Basin KRB have seriously hampered the relations and foreign policies of both Afghanistan and Pakistan Consequently it restricts them to solve various bilateral issues including transboundary waters This lack of cooperation over shared water resources is one of the barriers to achieve inclusive and sustainable development Additionally it has contributed to the prevailing anarchic situation where each country does what it wants The absence of a formal water sharing mechanism coupled with poor water management practices within both the riparian counties are resulting various flow and administration related challenges Moreover these challenges are further exacerbated by regional changes in social political environmental and economic systems The scholarly literature suggests that an analytical transboundary water governance framework is essential to address the challenges of water politicisation and securitisation quality degradation and quantity reduction Additionally the literature rarely integrates a a multi level approach b an institutional approach c an inclusive development approach or d accounts for the uses of different types of water and their varied ecosystem services for improved transboundary water governance To enhance human wellbeing and achieve inclusive and sustainable development in the KRB this research indicates that it is essential to 1 defrost frozen collaboration 2 bypass border dispute 3 use biodiversity and ecosystem services approach 4 address existing and potential natural and anthropogenic challenges 5 remove contradictions in the policy environment 6 combat resource limits and dependence by promoting collaboration on long term cost effective solutions and 7 enhance knowledge and dialogue on inclusive development
