Software Engineering IV Paolo Giorgini, Jörg Müller, James Odell, 2003-12-22 The explosive growth of application areas such as electronic commerce enterprise resource planning and mobile computing has profoundly and irreversibly changed our views on software systems Nowadays software is to be based on open architectures that continuously change and evolve to accommodate new components and meet new requirements Software must also operate on different platforms without recompilation and with minimal assumptions about its operating environment and its users Furthermore software must be robust and autonomous capable of serving a naive user with a minimum of overhead and interference Agent concepts hold great promise for responding to the new realities of software systems They offer higher level abstractions and mechanisms that address issues such as knowledge representation and reasoning communication coordination cooperation among heterogeneous and autonomous parties perception commitments goals beliefs and intentions all of which need conceptual modeling On the one hand the concrete implementation of these concepts can lead to advanced functionalities e.g. in inference based query answering transaction control adaptive workflows brokering and integration of disparate information sources and automated communication processes On the other hand their rich representational capabilities allow more faithful and exible treatments of c plex organizational processes leading to more e fective requirements analysis and architectural detailed design

Environments for Multi-Agent Systems Danny Weyns,H. Van Dyke Parunak,Fabien Michel,2005-02-18 The modern eld of multiagent systems has developed from two main lines of earlier research Its practitioners generally regard it as a form of arti cial intelligence AI Some of its earliest work was reported in a series of workshops in the US dating from1980 revealinglyentitled DistributedArti cialIntelligence andpioneers often quoted a statement attributed to Nils Nilsson that all AI is distributed The locus of classical AI was what happens in the head of a single agent and much MAS research re ects this heritage with its emphasis on detailed modeling of the mental state and processes of individual agents From this perspective intelligenceisultimatelythepurviewofasinglemind thoughitcanbeampli ed by appropriate interactions with other minds These interactions are typically mediated by structured protocols of various sorts modeled on human conver tional behavior But the modern eld of MAS was not born of a single parent A few searchershavpersistentlyadvocatedideasfromthe eldofarti ciallife ALife These scientists were impressed by the complex adaptive behaviors of commu ties of animals often extremely simple animals such as insects or even micro ganisms The computational models on which they drew were often created by biologists who used them not to solve practical engineering problems but to test their hypotheses about the mechanisms used by natural systems In the ar cial life model intelligence need not reside in a single agent but emerges at the level of the community from the nonlinear interactions among agents cause the individual agents are often subcognitive their interactions cannot be modeled by protocols that presume linguistic competence

Measuring Effectiveness in Humanitarian and Development Aid Andre M. N. Renzaho,2007 Donor countries are currently scaling up their aid programmes in response to strategies proposed through the Millennium Development Goals Recent positive research on the impact of foreign development aid has led to increased expectations on the part of donor countries. Research suggests that per capita income growth over the last decade would have been lower in the absence of aid and also that public sector expenditure on health and education in developing countries would not have been as great without aid inflows. However, there still remain many significant gaps in knowledge on aid allocation and effectiveness. This book addresses a number of these gaps and provides many new and important analytical insights into aid. Among the topics covered are the interface between aid allocation and perceptions of aid effectiveness, the inter-recipient concentration of aid from non-government organizations, the year-on-year volatility of aid impacts, the impact of aid on public sector fiscal aggregates and evaluation of the country-level impacts of aid. The book is an essential companion for professionals engaged in aid policy reforms and also for scholars in the areas of development economics, international finance and economics.

Multi-Agent-Based Simulation II
Jaime S. Sichman, Francois Bousquet, Paul Davidsson, 2003-08-03
This volume presents extended and revised versions of the papers presented at the Third International Workshop on Multi Agent Based Simulation MABS 2002, a workshop federated with the First International Joint Conference on Autonomous Agents and Multi Agent Systems AAMAS 2002, which was held in Bologna, Italy, in July 2002. This workshop was the third in the MABS series. The earlier two were organized as workshops of the two most recent ICMAS conferences: ICMAS 1998, Paris, France, and ICMAS 2000, Boston, USA. Revised versions of the papers presented at these workshops were published as volumes 1534 and 1979 in the Lecture Notes in Artificial Intelligence series. One aim of the workshop was to develop stronger links between those working in the social sciences and those involved with multi agent systems. We are pleased to note that many important conferences in various disciplines such as geography, economics, ecology, sociology and physics have hosted workshops on MABS-related topics and that many respected journals publish papers that include elements of MABS. But although MABS is gradually acquiring legitimacy in many disciplinary fields, much remains to be done to clarify the potential use of MABS in these disciplines. Researchers from these disciplines have different points of view on issues such as time frame, space, geographical scales or organizational levels, etc. Moreover, the interest in MABS goes beyond the scientific community as MABS models have been developed and used interactively with other communities as well.

Macht, Ressourcen und Gewalt
Armando Geller, 2006
Mittels organisierter Gewalt ausgetragene Konflikte bestimmen nach wie vor die politische Landschaft in vielen Regionen unserer Welt. Macht, Ressourcen und Gewalt nehmen im komplexen Gefüge zeitgenössischer Konflikte eine besondere Stellung ein. Die simulationsbasierte Analyse von Machtbildungs-, Ressourcenverteilungs- und Gewaltanwendungsprozessen sowie der am Ursprung dieser Prozesse stehenden Konfliktakteure vermag einen erhellenden Einblick in die Komplexität zeitgenössischer Konflikte zu vermitteln. Damit soll zu einem besseren Verständnis dieses aus politikwissenschaftlicher und humanitärer Sicht zentralen sozialen Phänomens beigetragen werden. Diese Publikation richtet sich an SozialwissenschaftlerInnen, deren Interesse zum einen der Konfliktforschung und zum anderen innovativer methodischer und theoretischer Ansätze gilt. Sie nimmt zudem eine bewusst kritische Position in der Betrachtung von Konflikten ein und richtet sich deshalb auch an jene die sich reflektiert mit zeitgen
