Comparative Capitalism and the Transitional Periphery Mehmet Demirbag, Geoffrey Wood, 2018-10-26 An original and insightful book this work focuses on domestic and overseas firms operating in those Central Asian and Eastern European countries considered to be the transitional economic periphery

Chapters shed light on their distinct forms of capitalism and how it influences and adapts the firms located there. The eminent authors show how in a post state socialist world there are several implications for both domestic and overseas firms functioning successfully in the transitional periphery. With the complex mix of political and market mediation and informal personal ties, chapters explore the delicate balance of liberalisation in transitional economies. Detailed examples from specific countries in Eurasia and Central Asia such as Belarus, Turkey, Azerbaijan, Mongolia, Uzbekistan, Armenia, and Georgia are discussed alongside broader thematic issues of economic and social change, labour relations, and human resource management. Most importantly, it is shown that liberalisation has little connection to short term business growth. To succeed in such contexts, international firms need to be both pragmatic and creative in coping with malleable yet durable forms of institutional mediation. Providing a unique perspective on the transitional economic periphery and much needed insights from international business, this book is essential reading for researchers and graduate students studying transitional economies, non traditional business models, institutional persistence, and change, political and economic development, and management in economically transitioning countries.

It captures the actions, law making, and practice of the EU as a cutting edge actor in the world promoting convergence against the grain. In a dynamic twist, the book uses methodology to reflect upon some of the most dramatically changing dimensions of current global affairs. Questions explored include who and what are the subjects and objects of convergence as to the EU and the world. How do court centric and less court centric approaches differ? Can we use political science and international relations as service tools? Four key themes are probed: framing EU convergence, global trade, convergence, the EU as the exceptional internationalist, and positioning convergence through methodology.
