It's a Print! William Reynolds, Elizabeth Ann Trembley, 1994 The mechanistic age of the twentieth century has required a mechanized medium for expression the production of film dependent from the start on machines such as cameras projectors lights and now more heavily reliant on computers sensitive films miniaturization and sophisticated sound recording devices has flowered in this century not only as a means of popular entertainment but as a critically acclaimed art form These essays highlight true cinematic adaptations as completely different products from films based loosely on the gimmick or plot or character of a certain fiction

Most studies of the interwar years have focussed upon literary elites rendering that past and its literature in almost exclusively male terms In Forever England Alison Light argues that we cannot make sense of Englishness in the period or understand the changes within literary culture unless we recognise the extent to which the female population represented the nation between the wars From the traumatic aftermath of the First World War Forever England traces the making of a conservative national temperament which could be defensive and protective yet modernising in outlook In a series of literary analyses the author suggests some of the tones and accents of this new version of Englishness in particular she looks at new kinds of readership and fiction at the historical and emotional significance of the whodunit the burgeoning of historical romance and the creation of a middlebrow culture in the period Forever England evokes a powerful sense of period and of the pleasures of reading providing an intimate picture of interwar life from inside the English middle classes As a feminist inquiry it argues from a different kind of social and political history one which makes connections between the interior structures of private life and their more public national forms Controversially it also urges that feminism deal with conservative as well as radical desires and their place in women's lives The Bloomsbury Handbook to Agatha Christie Mary Anna Evans, J.C. Seventies British Cinema Robert Shail,2019-07-25
Seventies British Cinema provides a comprehensive re evaluation of British film in the 1970s The decade has long been written off in critical discussions as a doldrums period in British cinema perhaps because the industry facing near economic collapse turned to unacceptable low culture genres such as sexploitation comedies or extreme horror The contributors to this new collection argue that 1970s cinema is ripe for reappraisal giving serious critical attention to populist genre films they also consider the development of a British art cinema in the work of Derek Jarman and Peter Greenaway and the beginnings of an independent sector fostered by the BFI Production Board and producers like Don Boyd A host of highly individual directors managed to produce interesting and cinematically innovative work against the odds from Nicolas Roeg to Ken Russell to Mike Hodges As well as providing a historical and cinematic context for understanding Seventies cinema the volume also features chapters addressing Hammer horror the Carry On films Bond films of the Roger Moore period Jubilee and other films that responded to Punk rock heritage cinema and case studies of key seventies films such as The Wicker Man and Straw Dogs In all the book provides the final missing piece in the rediscovery of British cinema s complex and protean history Contributors Ruth Barton James Chapman Ian Conrich Wheeler Winston Dixon Christophe Dupin Steve Gerrard Sheldon Hall I Q Hunter James Leggott Claire Monk Paul Newland Dan North Robert Shail Justin Smith and Sarah Street

British Movie Entertainments on Vhs and DVD: A Classic Movie Fan's Guide John Howard Reid,2010-11 Unlike their American colleagues British suppliers were extremely slow to release their country s superb libraries of classic films for movie fans to purchase on either VHS tapes or DVD discs In 2004 little over 100 titles were available But now there are around 700 with promises of many more to come This book details some of the best Over 400 movies in all are described in either minute detail or in summary form The quality or lack of quality in the DVD transfer is fearlessly indicated The author s emphasis is on movies made before 1970 especially those with popular stars such as Glynis Johns Gracie Fields George Formby Margaret Lockwood Arthur Askey Anna Neagle James Mason Patricia Roc Stewart Granger Vivien Leigh Laurence

Olivier Will Hay Tommy Trinder Alec Guinness Michael Wilding Peter Finch Christopher Lee Peter Sellers David Niven
