Out There In The Woods Stephen Sparks,Tom Allman,2012-12-21 In the late summer of 2011 35 year old Aaron Bassler an allegedly mentally disturbed resident of Mendocino County California shot and killed two innocent victims a well liked conservationist and a much admired city councilman and former mayor These events sparked an unprecedented 36 day manhunt in the vast forested area east of the coastal town of Fort Bragg The case involved local state and federal officers from over a dozen law enforcement agencies including various SWAT teams and the U S Marshals Service an agency very experienced in searching for fugitives However the searchers were under the constant threat of being the next victims and had never experienced a landscape like this Meanwhile Bassler had virtually grown up in this environment and knew that time and terrain were on his side As Mendocino County Sheriff Tom Allman recalls We had little to go on other than we knew we were searching for an armed and very dangerous Aaron Bassler and that he was out there in the woods

The Business of Killing Indians William Kiser,2025-03-18 How colonial conquest was driven by state sponsored profit driven campaigns to murder and mutilate Indian peoples in North America From the mid 1600s through the late 1800s states sponsored scalp bounties and volunteer campaigns to murder and mutilate thousands of Indians throughout North America Since central governments in Amsterdam Paris London Mexico City and Washington DC failed to provide adequate military support and financial resources for colonial frontier defense administrators in regional capitals such as New York Qu bec City New Orleans Boston Ciudad Chihuahua Austin and Sacramento took matters into their own hands At different times and in almost every part of the continent they paid citizens for killing Indians taking Indians captive scalping or beheading Indians and undertaking other forms of performative violence As militant operatives and civilians alike struggled to prevail over Indigenous forces they considered barbaric and savage they engaged in not just plundering slaving and killing but also dismembering corpses for symbolic purposes and for profit Although these tactics mostly failed in their intent to exterminate populations state sponsorship of indiscriminate violence took a significant demographic toll by flooding frontier zones with murderous units whose campaigns diminished Indigenous power reduced tribal populations and forced weakened survivors away from traditional homelands High wages for volunteer campaigning along with cash bounties for Indian body parts and the ability to take captives and keep valuable plunder promoted a state sponsored profit opportunity for civilians Report of the Attorney General of the State of California California.
