Murder In Montparnasse A Mystery Of Literary Paris:

Murder in Montparnasse Howard Engel, 2000-10-01 A killer walks among the bohemians and expats of the Left Bank Engel's descriptions of Paris in the twenties are charming adding to the fun Publishers Weekly Michael Ward is a journalist newly arrived in the City of Light when he falls in with Jason Waddington an expatriate bullfight loving American who introduces him to the cafe scene and his crowd of fellow writers and artists At the moment though the most talked about figure in town is Jack de Paris a serial killer who targets beautiful women But Ward soon discovers that Jack de Paris is not the only trouble afoot in Montparnasse Rumor has it that Waddington has written a damaging roman a clef about his friends and tempers are rising even as fear of the killer grips the city When the body of Laure Duclos is found it seems their circle has finally been touched by Jack But Ward has his doubts and begins to wonder whether Laure was truly Jack de Paris's latest victim or if someone else was using the serial killer as a convenient cover In a feat of literature reminiscent of Caleb Carr's The Alienist Howard Engel blends intriguing historical fact with suspenseful fiction to produce a thriller of the highest order Murder in Montparnasse will delight both new readers and longtime fans of Engel's Benny Cooperman mysteries Highly recommended Library Journal Literary Globalism Carolyn A. Durham, 2005 Johnson's Le Divorce and Le Mariage allow for a consideration of the profound changes that the international novel of Henry James has undergone in a globalized world of altered Franco American cultural relations Tremain's The Way I Found Her illustrates the use of cultural borrowing to create an international corpus of texts and a cosmopolitan community of readers Harris's Chocolat and Blackberry Wine reveal her metaphoric use of the space of provincial France to represent postmodernity as a world of mobility and rootlessness

The Measure of Paris Stephen Scobie, 2012-03-01 Paris remains one of the most fascinating cities in the world It provides a measure of excellence in many areas of culture and it is itself constantly being measured both by its lovers and by its critics This book presents a series of studies on the images of Paris presented by writers mostly Canadian from John Glassco to Mavis Gallant to Lola Lemire Tostevin but also in such other areas as social history and personal memoir The result is a wide ranging discussion of the city's history in 20th century literature and thought which will appeal to all those who love Paris or who have ever walked on its streets

Murder in Montparnasse Howard Engel, 1992-01-01 It's autumn 1925 and a killer uncannily like England's Jack the Ripper is stalking the city streets of Paris and preying on young women Michael Ward is a journalist newly arrived to the Left Bank When he falls in with Jason Waddington an expatriate American writer who introduces him to the cafe scene and his crowd of writers and artists Ward soon discovers that Jack de Paris is not the only trouble afoot in the City of Light Rumor has it that Waddington has written a damaging roman a clef about his friends and tempers are rising even as fear of the killer grips the city When the body of Laure Duclos is found it seems their circle has finally been touched by Jack But Ward has his doubts and begins to wonder whether Laure was truly Jack de Paris's latest victim or if someone else was using the serial killer as a convenient cover to protect themselves In a feat of literature reminiscent of Caleb Carr s The Alienist Howard Engel blends intriguing historical fact with nail biting fiction to produce a thriller of the highest order Murder in Montparnasse will delight both new readers of Engel and his long time fans Library Journal ,2003 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately
