Methuselah's Zoo Steven N. Austad, 2022-08-16 Stories of long lived animal species from thousand year old tubeworms to 400 year old sharks and what they might teach us about human health and longevity Opossums in the wild don't make it to the age of three our pet cats can live for a decade and a half cicadas live for seventeen years spending most of them underground Whales however can live for two centuries and tubeworms for several millennia Meanwhile human life expectancy tops out around the mid eighties with some outliers living past 100 or even 110 Is there anything humans can learn from the exceptional longevity of some animals in the wild In Methuselah's Zoo Steven Austad tells the stories of some extraordinary animals considering why for example animal species that fly live longer than earthbound species and why animals found in the ocean live longest of all Austad the leading authority on longevity in animals argues that the best way we will learn from these long lived animals is by studying them in the wild Accordingly he proceeds habitat by habitat examining animals that spend most of their lives in the air comparing insects birds and bats animals that live on and under the ground from mole rats to elephants and animals that live in the sea including quahogs carp and dolphins Humans have dramatically increased their lifespan with only a limited increase in healthspan we re more and more prone to diseases as we grow older By contrast these species have successfully avoided both environmental hazards and the depredations of aging Can we be more like them Methuselah's Gang Puts'u,1980 A group of children befriend an old man with a very long beard and together they have many adventures in which the beard plays an important part Back to Methuselah: A Metabiological Pentateuch Bernard Shaw,2022-05-28 Back to Methuselah by Bernard Shaw is a play where the author expresses his reflections on the topic of religion and atheism science politics and history The preface of the book deals with popular thoughts institutions and most sacred beliefs Shaw gives a history of the different beliefs towards the nature of a human and the universe He goes on with his own mental struggles and evolution Shaw criticizes the church and its followers whom he calls idolaters He says that their superstitions and legends actually deter people from the divine But he criticizes atheism too and reflects on how the atheists manipulate the Darwin teachings of evolution
