Mexican National Cinema:

Mexican National Cinema Andrea Noble, 2005 Mexican National Cinema provides a thorough and detailed account of the vital and complex relationship between cinema and national identity in Mexico From Amores Perros and Y Tu Mama Tambien this book delves into the development of Mexican cinema from the intense cultural nationalism of the Mexican Revolution through the Golden Age of the 1930s and 1940s and the nuevo cine of the 1960s to the renaissance in Mexican cinema in the 1990s Individual chapters discuss the relationship with Hollywood cinema the stars of the Golden Age the role of foreign authors in the founding of Mexican cinema tensions in the industry in the 1960s national and international reception of contemporary film and film makers Examining the portrayal of Mexican nationhood through critical analysis of film genres including revolutionary films machismo and mexicanidad the prostitute and the work of female authors Mexican National Cinema is an excellent addition to all media film and cultural studies students Mexican National Cinema Andrea Noble, 2005

Mexican National Cinema Andrea Noble, 2005 Examining key film texts and genres and set in a broad historical and theoretical context this student friendly study provides a thorough and detailed account of the vital and complex relationship between cinema and national identity in Mexico Bunuel and Mexico Ernesto R.

Acevedo-Muñoz, 2003-11-13 Though Luis Buñuel one of the most important filmmakers of the twentieth century spent his most productive years as a director in Mexico film histories and criticism invariably pay little attention to his work during this period The first book length English language study of Buñuel's Mexican films this book explores a significant but neglected area of this filmmaker's distinguished career and thus fills a gap in our appreciation and understanding of both Buñuel's achievement and the history of Mexican film Ernesto Acevedo Muñoz considers Buñuel's Mexican films made between 1947 and 1965 within the context of a national and nationalist film industry comparing the filmmaker's employment of styles genres character types themes and techniques to those most characteristic of Mexican cinema In this study Buñuel's films emerge as a link between the classical Mexican cinema of the 1930s through the 1950s and the new cinema of the 1960s flourishing in a time of crisis for the national film industry and introducing some of the stylistic and conceptual changes that would revitalize Mexican cinema Mexican transnational cinema and literature Maricruz Castro, Maricruz Castro

Ricalde, Mauricio Díaz Calderón, James Thomas Ramey, 2017 When we invoke Mexican cinema we imply that some kind of national cinema exists but what is a national cinema Analyzing what it means for a film or literary work to cross borders and how such borders are defined this book reflects on the implications of the term transnational in relation to film and literature conceived as Mexican Mexico on Film Armida de la Garza, 2006-12-18 Given its features as a modern mass medium and thus closely related to the nation cinema has rightly been regarded as a privileged site for putting forward and contesting representations of national identity or in short as a main arena in which narratives of national identity are negotiated What do films such as Amores Perros or Traffic say about Mexican identity In what way could Bread and Roses or The Crime of

Padre Amaro be part of its transformation This book looks at representations of e Mexicanitye in Mexican cinema and also in Hollywood throughout the twentieth century and beyond arguing that the international context plays at least as important a role as ethnicity religion and language in the construction of images of the national self although it is seldom taken into account in theories of national identity The Mexican film may reveal much about Mexican society e g Traffic and the prevalence of drug trafficking Bread and Roses and the problems of migration Amores Perros in relation to metaphors of the nation as an extended family The Crime of Father Amaro in discussing the changing position of the Catholic Church and Herod s Law a scathing critique to the political system that dominated Mexico for the best part of the 20th century Throughout the book emphasises the contingent nature of hegemonic representations and our ongoing need to tell and to listen to or indeed view stories that weave together a variety of strands to convincingly tell us who we are Canadian Journal of Film Studies ,2001

Cinesonidos Jacqueline Avila,2019-09-16 During Mexico s silent 1896 1930 and early sound 1931 52 periods cinema saw the development of five significant genres the prostitute melodrama including the cabaretera subgenre the indigenista film on indigenous themes or topics the cine de a oranza porfiriana films of Porfirian nostalgia the Revolution film and the comedia ranchera ranch comedy In this book author Jacqueline Avila looks at examples from all genres exploring the ways that the popular regional and orchestral music in these films contributed to the creation of tropes and archetypes now central to Mexican cultural nationalism Integrating primary source material including newspaper articles advertisements films with film music studies sound studies and Mexican film and cultural history Avila examines how these tropes and archetypes mirrored changing perceptions of mexicanidad manufactured by the State and popular and transnational culture As she shows several social and political agencies were heavily invested in creating a unified national identity in an attempt to merge the previously fragmented populace as a result of the Revolution The commercial medium of film became an important tool to acquaint a diverse urban audience with the nuances of Mexican national identity and music played an essential and persuasive role in the process In this heterogeneous environment cinema and its music continuously reshaped the contested fluctuating space of Mexican identity functioning both as a sign and symptom of social and political change Mexican Cinema Paulo Antonio Paranaguá,Consejo Nacional para la Cultura y las Artes (Mexico),British Film Institute,1995 With essays by the most authoritative scholars this unique study and reference work is the first English language survey and analysis of Mexican cinema The book provides extensive coverage of the delirious melodramas of El Indio Emilio Fernandez and Roberto Gavaldon many shot by the supremely romantic cinematographer Gabriel Figueroa and the contemporary successes of Jaime Humberto Hermosillo It also includes the Mexican work of Luis Bunuel the surreal intense dramas of Felipe Cazals and Arturo Ripstein the innovative work of Paul Leduc and much more This lavishly illustrated book also contains notes on over 150 individual films an extensive dictionary of directors and other personalities together with filmographies and an extensive chronicle of Mexico s political cultural and
