American Automobile Advertising, 1930-1980 Heon Stevenson,2008-11-24 This book provides a comprehensive history of American print automobile advertising over a half century span beginning with the entrenchment of the Big Three automakers during the Depression and concluding with the fuel crises of the 1970s and early 1980s Advances in general advertising layouts and graphics are discussed in Part One together with the ways in which styling mechanical improvements and convenience features were highlighted Part Two explores ads that were concerned less with the attributes of the cars themselves than with shaping the way consumers would perceive and identify with them Part

Three addresses ads oriented toward the practical aspects of automobile ownership concluding with an account of how advertising responded to the advance of imported cars after World War II Illustrations include more than 250 automobile advertisements the majority of which have not been seen in print since their original publication British Naval Weapons of World War Two Norman Friedman,2020-07-30 John Lambert was a renowned naval draughtsman whose plans were highly valued for their accuracy and detail by modelmakers and enthusiasts By the time of his death in 2016 he had produced over 850 sheets of drawings many of which have never been published These have now been acquired by Seaforth and this is the third of a planned series of albums on selected themes reproducing complete sheets at a large page size with an expert commentary and captioning The initial volumes concentrate on British naval weaponry used in the Second World War thus completing the project John Lambert was working on when he died His interest was always focused on smaller warships and his weapons drawings tend to be of open mountings the kind that present a real challenge to modelmakers rather than enclosed turret guns but he also produced drawings of torpedo tubes underwater weapons fire control directors and even some specific armament related deck fittings Following the earlier volumes on destroyer and escort armament this one covers the multitude of weapons carried by Coastal Forces many of which were improvised ad hoc or obsolescent but eventually leading to powerful purpose designed weaponry An appendix covers the main deck guns carried by British submarines of this era The drawings are backed by introductory essays by Norman Friedman an acknowledged authority on naval ordnance while a selection of photographs adds to the value of the book as visual reference Over time the series will be expanded to make this unique technical archive available in published form a move certain to be welcomed by warship modellers enthusiasts and the many fans of John Lambert s work British Car Advertising of the 1960s Heon Stevenson,2015-03-27 During the 1960s the automobile finally secured its position as an indispensable component of daily life in Britain Car ownership more than doubled from approximately one car for every 10 people in 1960 to one car for every 4 8 people by 1970 Consumers no longer asked Do we need a car but What car shall we have This well illustrated history analyzes how both domestic car manufacturers and importers advertised their products in this growing market identifying trends and themes Over 180 advertisement illustrations are included
