Nurturing a Daoist-Inspired Classroom Pedagogy Through the Contemplative Lenses of Teacher Diaries David McLachlan Jeffrey, 2024-08-01 The harmonizing influence of ancient Daoist philosophy is of much relevance to the world in which we live today and this is especially so in the field of global education Among the growing numbers of contemporary teachers and scholars who nurture Daoist wisdom in their classrooms this book takes the unique pathway of considering its applications through the contemplative lenses of teacher diaries Its South African born author has taught academic English for over three decades in Japan the Middle East and the People's Republic of China Since early childhood he has infused his fascination for Daoist wisdom with his enjoyment of writing diaries and in ways that derive insights into the compassionate frugal and humble foundations of Daoist inspired pedagogies within contemporary classroom environments This book presents Daoist wisdom in terms of it being the Supreme Ultimate of all ways It introduces the classical Daoist texts of the Laozi the Zhuangzi and the Liezi and shares a short historical overview of Daoism with its growing global influence As such it emphasizes that Daoist inspired pedagogies encourage a delicate balance between intuitive insights and intellectual analysis and in ways that are not antagonistic toward each other but which dance together as one In this regard the role of meditation during the undertaking of diaries is specifically highlighted concerning its propensity to bring one into the present moment pacify racing thoughts and transcend the ego It also shows how a meditative state of mind that accompanies the reading writing and analysis of the diary entries contributes to deeper self discernment along with unique intuitive insights related to oneself as a teacher and the classroom environment In addition this book describes how the Wordsmith Tools Program and the Book of Changes can be used as additional approaches to analyzing thought patterns within the diary entries and how these also nurture inward contemplations and the intuitive insights that accompany them Thereafter considerations based on the applications of core Daoist principles for classroom pedagogies are filtered through the contemplative lenses of teacher diaries These principles are the unintentional integrity of de the complementary duality of yin yang the cosmic vitality of qi the self so ness of ziran the unforceful spontaneity of wuwei and the unblemished purity of pu This book illustrates through its diary lenses how these six Daoist principles can be nurtured in ways that contribute to a scholarliness that is grounded in an equal appreciation for the logical applications of intelligence along with the uniqueness of intuitive creativity which cannot be explicitly taught but which spontaneously arises from within the deep reservoirs of intuitive wisdom which exist within the true selves of everyone In addition this book shares pearls of Daoist wisdom for teachers from within the poetic chapters of the Laozi as well as within the amusingly enlightening stories in the Zhuangzi and the Liezi such that their ancient teachings can be applied to Daoist inspired pedagogies and nurtured in ways that unite the joyfulness and scholarly efficacy of both teaching and learning It is shown how doing so enhances a sense of awe wonder openness and contemplative oneness within the classroom environment making it a happier more contented and more meaningful place for both teachers and students No One Like Him John S. Feinberg,2006-04-26 Many contemporary theologians claim that the classical picture of God painted by Augustine and Aquinas is both outmoded and unbiblical But rather than abandoning the traditional view completely John Feinberg seeks a reconstructed model one that reflects the ongoing advances in human understanding of God s revelation while recognizing the unchanging nature of God and His Word Feinberg begins by exploring the contemporary concepts of God particularly the openness and process views and then studies God s being nature and acts all to articulate a mediating understanding of God not just as the King but the King who cares Part of the Foundations of Evangelical Theology series

Ordinary Mind as the Way Mario Poceski,2007-04-13 Under the leadership of Mazu Daoyi 709 788 and his numerous disciples the Hongzhou School emerged as the dominant tradition of Chan Zen Buddhism in China during the middle part of the Tang dynasty 618 907 Mario Poceski offers a systematic examination of the Hongzhou School s momentous growth and rise to preeminence as the bearer of Chan orthodoxy and analyzes its doctrines against the backdrop of the intellectual and religious milieus of Tang China Poceski demonstrates that the Hongzhou School represented the first emergence of an empire wide Chan tradition that had strongholds throughout China and replaced the various fragmented Schools of early Chan with an inclusive orthodoxy Poceski s study is based on the earliest strata of permanent sources rather than on the later apocryphal encounter dialogue stories regularly used to construe widely accepted but historically unwarranted interpretations about the nature of Chan in the Tang dynasty He challenges the traditional and popularly accepted view of the Hongzhou School as a revolutionary movement that rejected mainstream mores and teachings charting a new path for Chan s independent growth as a unique Buddhist tradition This view he argues rests on a misreading of key elements of the Hongzhou School s history Rather than acting as an unorthodox movement the Hongzhou School s success was actually based largely on its ability to mediate tensions between traditionalist and iconoclastic tendencies Going beyond conventional romanticized interpretations that highlight the radical character of the Hongzhou School Poceski shows that there was much greater continuity between early and classical Chan and between the Hongzhou School and the rest of Tang Buddhism than previously thought biotechnology and how it affects the body and discusses a number of related issues including visualization mediation and epistemology The author offers a compelling thesis arguing that the exploration of the human body has one ultimate aim to gain knowledge of it and to conquer it Exploration of body has an intrinsic link to power since knowledge is constitutive for the power over the body Ultimately the conquest of body means the power to intervene into life processes The book breaks new ground with its study of body visualizations from the Renaissance drawings to the medical imaging In particular it investigates their complex mediality It also considers the extension and the reach of biopower that is now possible thanks to a wide range of engineering applications The author originally questions the research approach by rethinking the relationship between mental and sensual examination She takes into consideration the epistemological problem of the two modes of exploration obtaining knowledge from empirical exploration and projecting that knowledge to the object of exploration

Mind Is Flat Nick Chater, 2018-08-07 In a radical reinterpretation of how the mind works an eminent behavioral scientist reveals the illusion of mental depth Psychologists and neuroscientists struggle with how best to interpret human motivation and decision making The assumption is that below a mental surface of conscious awareness lies a deep and complex set of inner beliefs values and desires that govern our thoughts ideas and actions and that to know this depth is to know ourselves In this profoundly original book behavioral scientist Nick Chater contends just the opposite rather than being the plaything of unconscious currents the brain generates behaviors in the moment based entirely on our past experiences Engaging the reader with eye opening experiments and visual examples the author first demolishes our intuitive sense of how our mind works then argues for a positive interpretation of the brain as a ceaseless and creative improviser
