Modeling Minority Women Heroines In African And Asian American Fiction:

Modeling Minority Women Reshmi J. Hebbbar, 2013-10-11 This powerful study reconceptualizes ideas of ethnic literature while investigating the construction of ethnic heroines shifting the focus away from cultural politics and considering instead narrative or poetic qualities which involve surprising relationships between Anglo American women's writing and fiction produced by Asian American and African American women authors

Politicizing Asian American Literature Youngsuk Chae, 2007-12-12 This book examines U S multiculturalism from the perspective of Asian American writings drawing contrasts between politically acquiescent multiculturalism and politically conscious multiculturalism Chae discusses the works of writers who have highlighted a critical awareness of Asian Americans social and economic status and their position as unassimilable aliens yellow perils coolies modern day high tech coolies or as a model minority which were ideologically woven through the complex interactions of capital and labor in the U S cultural and labor history Chae suggests that more productive means of analysis must be brought to the understanding of Asian American writings many of which have been attempting to raise awareness of the politicizing effects of U S multiculturalism

Racial Attitudes and Asian Pacific Americans Karen Kurotsuchi Inkelas, 2006 This study examines the complex sources and implications of the racial attitudes of Asian Pacific American APA college students who as one of the fastest growing demographics in higher education enrollments play an increasingly significant role in campus race relations

Asian Americans and the Shifting Politics of Race Rowena Robles, 2013-09-13 Asian Americans and the Shifting Politics of Race examines the political and discursive struggles around the dismantling of race based admissions policies in an elite public high school in San Francisco The book analyzes the arguments put forth by plaintiffs in and the media's depiction of the case Brian Ho Patrick Wong Hilary Chen v SFUSD The Ho lawsuit filed by a group of Chinese Americans challenged race based admissions policies that were intended to ensure diversity by giving special consideration to African American and Latino students Robles argues that the Ho plaintiffs exploited the dominant racial construction of Asian Americans as model minorities to portray themselves as victims of discrimination and relied on contrasting constructions of Black and Latino students as undeserving and unqualified beneficiaries of affirmative action The decision in favor of the plaintiffs effectively ended school desegregation racial balance and affirmative action in San Francisco In order to examine the consequences of the Ho decision on student attitudes Robles spent four years studying and observing the first cohort of students to enter the high school after race was eliminated from admissions considerations

Teaching Anglophone South Asian Women Writers Deepika Bahri, Filippo Menozzi, 2021-06-15 Offers pedagogical techniques for teaching South Asian women's writing in English including consideration of colonization and imperialism Partition war migration and diaspora tradition and modernity global capitalism climate change gender and sexuality and intersectionality Gives syllabus suggestions for undergraduate and graduate courses in postcolonial literature world literature and women's studies

Protestant Missionaries, Asian Immigrants, and Ideologies of Race in America,

1850-1924 Jennifer Snow, 2006-12-15 This book examines how in defending Asian rights and their own version of Christian idealism against scientific racism missionaries developed a complex theology of race that prefigured modern ideologies of multiculturalism and reached its final belated culmination in the liberal Protestant support of the civil rights movements in the 1960s

Diaspora and Class Consciousness Shanshan Lan, 2012-12-12 This book is an ethnographic study of the multi linear process of racial knowledge formation among a relatively invisible population in the Chinese American community in Chicago namely the working class Shanshan Lan defines Chinese immigrant workers as Chinese immigrants with limited English language skills who work primarily at low skill blue collar service jobs at the extreme margins of U S economy The book moves away from the enclave paradigm by situating the Chinese immigrant experience within the larger context of transnational labor migration and the multiracial transformation of urban U S landscape Through thick ethnographic descriptions Lan explores Chinese immigrant workers daily struggles to cope with the disjuncture between race as an American ideological construct and race as a lived experience The book argues that Chinese immigrant workers racial learning is not always a matter of personal choice but is conditioned by structural factors such as the limitation of the Black and white racial binary the transnational circulation of U S racial ideology the negative influence of prevalent U S rhetoric such as multiculturalism and colorblindness and class differentiations within the Chinese American community

Global Spaces of Chinese Culture Sylvia Van Ziegert, 2013-09-13 This book is an exploration of how Chinese communities in the United States and Germany create and disseminate a sense of diasporic Chinese identity It not only compares the local conditions of the Chinese communities in the two locations but also moves to a global dimension to track the Chinese transnational imaginary Van Ziegert analyzes three strategies that overseas Chinese use to articulate their identities as diasporic subjects being more American German being more Chinese hybridizing and commodifying Chinese culture through trans cultural performances These three strategies are not mutually exclusive and they often intersect and supplement each other in unexpected ways The author also analyzes how the everyday lives of overseas Chinese connect with global and local factors and how these experiences contribute to the formation of a global Chinese identity

Korean American Women Jenny Pak, 2013-09-13 Current models of acculturation in multicultural counseling literature are severely limited in describing how individuals deal with the complexity of culture change The reasons for immigration the historical period during which the immigration occurred educational and socioeconomic levels ethnic community and religious involvements family functioning and social support to name a few all have an impact in the process of cultural adaptation This book examines Korean American women s dual cultural identity By utilizing multiple case studies the book highlights 1 the complexity of issues involved as individuals go through different levels of culture change and 2 the multiplicity of people negotiating their lives in the dual cultural context and creating meaning out of many ambiguous and even contradictory life situations

of essays deliberates chiefly on the notion of locating home through the lens of the mythical idea of Trishanku implying in between space and homing in diaspora women's narratives associated with the South Asian region. The idea of in between space has been used differently in various cultures but gesture prominently on the connotation of hanging between worlds. Historically imperialism and the indentured grimit system triggered dispersal of labourers to the various colonies of the British. Of course this was not the only cause of international migratory processes. The partition of India and Pakistan led to large scale migration. There was Punjabi migration to Canada. Several Indians particularly the Gujaratis travelled to Africa for business reasons. South Indians travelled to the Gulf for employment. There were migrations to East Asian countries under the kangani system. Again these were not the only reasons. The process of demographic movement from South Asia has been complex due to innumerable push pull factors. The subsequent generations of migrants included the twice thrice and likewise displaced members of the diaspora. Racial denigration and Orientalist perceptions plagued their lives. They belonged to various ethnicities and races inhabited marginalized spaces and strived to acculturate in the host society. Complete cultural assimilation was not possible creating layered and hyphenated identities. These intricate social processes resulted in amalgamation and cross pollination of cultures, inter racial relationships and hybridization in all terrains of culture, language, music, fashion, cuisine and so on. Situated in this matrix was the notion of Home, a special personal space which an individual could feel as belonging to very strongly. Nostalgia, loss of home, culture shock and interracial encounters problematized this discernment of belongingness and home. These multifarious themes have been captured by women writers from the South Asian region and this book looks at the various aspects related to negotiating home in their narratives. Theorizing

Ethnicity and Nationality in the Chick Lit Genre Erin Hurt, 2018-10-26. Scholars and readers alike need little help identifying the infamous Bridget Jones or Carrie Bradshaw. While it is no stretch to say that these fictional characters are the most recognizable within the chic lit genre, there are certainly many others that have helped define this body of work. While previous research has focused primarily on white American chick lit, Theorizing Ethnicity and Nationality in the Chick Lit Genre takes a wider look at the genre by exploring chick lit novels featuring protagonists from a variety of ethnic backgrounds, set both within and outside of the US. Mobile Homes Su-Ching Huang, 2020-11-25. The writers discussed in the book include Chiang Yee, Hualing Nieh, David Wong, Louie Fae Myenne Ng, John Okada and Toshio Mori. Their publication dates span from the 1940s up to 2000. Growing Up a Woman Milena Kaličanin, Soňa Šnircová, 2015-10-13. This book explores contemporary transformations of the female Bildungsroman, showing that the intersection of the genre and gender brought to critical attention in the context of second wave feminism remains of equal importance in the era of postfeminism. The female Bildung narrative has acquired an important position in twentieth and twenty first century literature through its continuing depiction of female self discovery and emancipation as a process of negotiating the traditional divisions of female and male roles in relation to the private and public spaces. Recognizing the seminal contribution of feminist criticism to the definition of the genre and the role of feminist cultural processes in its thematic developments this volume investigates more recent influences on the female Bildung narrative and the influence of the classic female Bildungsroman on contemporary cultural texts As a collection of fifteen essays written by international scholars the book offers a representative sample of the narratives of female development presenting a variety of genres including the novel the short story autobiography TV series and Internet video blogs and theoretical frameworks adopting hermeneutic postcolonial feminist and postfeminist perspectives In its diversity this volume reveals that despite the ongoing process of women s emancipation the heroine s struggle with the private public divide has remained throughout the twentieth century and in the first decades of the new millennium a central issue in stories about the female quest for self definition The book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of literary women and gender studies particularly those interested in the narratives of female development that represent American and British cultural contexts
