Compliance and Requirements Validation Using Goal Models Novarun Deb,Nabendu Chaki,2020-02-26 This book discusses enterprise hierarchies which view a target system with varying degrees of abstraction These requirement refinement hierarchies can be represented by goal models It is important to verify that such hierarchies capture the same set of rationales and intentions and are in mutual agreement with the requirements of the system being designed The book also explores how hierarchies manifest themselves in the real world by undertaking a data mining exercise and observing the interactions within an enterprise The inherent sequence agnostic property of goal models prevents requirement analysts from performing compliance checks in this phase as compliance rules are generally embedded with temporal information The studies discussed here seek to extract finite state models corresponding to goal models with the help of model transformation The i ToNuSMV tool implements one such algorithm to perform model checking on i models In turn the AFSR framework provides a new goal model nomenclature that associates semantics with individual goals It also provides a reconciliation machinery that detects entailment or consistency conflicts within goal models and suggests corrective measures to resolve such conflicts The authors also discuss how the goal maintenance problem can be mapped to the state space search problem and how A search can be used to identify an optimal goal model configuration that is free from all conflicts In conclusion the authors discuss how the proposed research frameworks can be extended and applied in new research directions The GRL2APK framework presents an initiative to develop mobile applications from goal models using reusable code component repositories

The Economics of Identity and Creativity Carsten

Herrmann-Pillath,2017-07-28 The Economics of Identity and Creativity aims to synthesize naturalistic evolutionary theory while discussing new developments in economics The author's approach reexamines fundamental assumptions about how a capitalist economy works from the relation between producers and consumers to the functioning of intellectual property rights In the creative economy the author argues identities merge with the flow of creative action To explain these changes he draws upon a range of theories from analytical philosophy to biology and from economics to sociology The first part of the book examines the role of language in the naturalistic approach to cultural science Hermann Pillath draws on Darwinian evolutionary theory to map a concept of knowledge Part Two offers a systematic approach to creativity and identity from the naturalistic point of view developed in Part One Here the author builds a theory of creativity from the ideas of conceptual blending in the cognitive sciences Herrmann Pillath presents a theory of identity based on analytical philosophy and looks at the problems in fixing the boundaries of an individual identity both in biological evolutionary theory and brain sciences He takes the concept of identity through the current economic approaches examining the distinction between social and personal identity This fascinating interdisciplinary work provides a precise argument that the foundations of economics can be found in cultural science and it has evolved to become the cultural institution at the core of the modern economy

Occupational Outlook Quarterly, 1968      Focus On: 100 Most Popular South Korean Male Film Actors Wikipedia contributors,      The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Ronen Ziv,2017-08-23 In the aftermath of Martinson's 1974 nothing works doctrine scholars have made a concerted effort to develop an evidence based corrections theory and practice to show what works to change offenders Perhaps the most important contribution to this effort was made by a group of Canadian psychologists most notably Donald Andrews James Bonta and Paul Gendreau who developed a treatment paradigm called the Risk Need Responsivity RNR model which became the dominant theory of correctional treatment This approach was more recently challenged by a perspective developed by Tony Ward Shadd Maruna and others called the Good Lives Model GLM Based in part on desistance research and positive psychology this model proposes to rehabilitate offenders by building on the strengths offenders possess GLM proponents see the RNR model as a deficit model that fixes dynamic risk factors rather than identifying what offenders value most and using these positive factors to pull them out of crime Through a detailed examination of both models theoretical and correctional frameworks The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Moving Beyond the RNR Model and Good Lives Model Debate probes the extent to which the models offer incompatible or compatible approaches to offender treatment and suggests how to integrate the RNR and GLM approaches to build a new and hopefully more effective vision for offender treatment A foreword by renowned criminologist Francis T Cullen helps put the material into context This book will be of much interest to scholars and students studying correctional rehabilitation as well as practitioners working with offenders      Special Educational Needs and Inclusive Education: Inclusive education David R.
