Modern City Revisited:

Modern City Revisited Thomas Deckker, 2005-08-12 The second in a series of titles published to address issues relating to the conservation of the Modern Movement this is a key publication for architects planners and all those with a specific interest in modernism and modern planning

The City, Revisited Dennis R. Judd, Dick W. Simpson, 2011 Reexamining urban scholarship for the twenty first century

Cities Beyond Borders Nicolas Kenny, Rebecca Madgin, 2016-05-23 Drawing on a body of research covering primarily Europe and the Americas but stretching also to Asia and Africa from the mid eighteenth century to the present this book explores the methodological and heuristic implications of studying cities in relation to one another Moving fluidly between comparative and transnational methods as well as across regional and national lines the contributors to this volume demonstrate the necessity of this broader view in assessing not just the fundamentals of urban life the way cities are occupied and organised on a daily basis but also the urban mindscape the way cities are imagined and represented In doing so the volume provides valuable insights into the advantages and limitations of using multiple cities to form historical inquiries

The Routledge Handbook of Planning History Carola Hein, 2017-12-14 2018 IPHS Special Book Prize Award Recipient The Routledge Handbook of Planning History offers a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of planning history since its emergence in the late 19th century investigating the history of the discipline its core writings key people institutions vehicles education and practice Combining theoretical methodological historical comparative and global approaches to planning history The Routledge Handbook of Planning History explores the state of the discipline its achievements and shortcomings and its future challenges A foundation for the discipline and a springboard for scholarly research The Routledge Handbook of Planning History explores planning history on an international scale in thirty eight chapters providing readers with unique opportunities for comparison The diverse contributions open up new perspectives on the many ways in which contemporary events changing research needs and cutting edge methodologies shape the writing of planning history The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Between Conventional and Experimental Regine Hess, Inbal Ben-Asher Gitler, Tzafrir Fainholtz, Yael Allweil, 2024-10-07 Mass housing and prefabrication shaped global modernist architecture like no other aspect of industrialised construction This book offers a comprehensive exploration of how both conventional and experimental prototypes and series gave rise to an architecture for all and responded to crises nation building and housing shortages within the context of transnational and regional research The book's contributions explore partially unearthed empirical ground such as cases from Finland and Sweden while others offer a fresh interpretation of prefabrication's role in the history of global architecture notably in the USSR and Italy The chapters topics encompass colonial expansion class international collaboration and the achievements and setbacks of industrialised design The authors scrutinise the cultural impact of mass housing and prefabrication tracing this influence through exhibitions memory culture and typologies ultimately concluding with an outlook on the preservation and repair of structures and their adaptation for the future Human Geography Erin H. Fouberg, Alexander B. Murphy, Harm J. de Blij, 2009-01-27 Taking us from our hominid ancestors to the megacities of today Human Geography brings a new emphasis to the political and economic issues of human geography Mediating Modernism Andrew Higgott, 2007-01-24 Well illustrated Mediating Modernism demonstrates how architectural books and journals have created the architectural culture of the twentieth century and that nowhere is this truer than in Britain New Urban Configurations R. Cavallo, S. Komossa, N. Marzot, 2014-04-25 Urban areas have been caught up in a turbulent process of transformation over the past 50 years and changes have been rapid with issues such as mobility nature water management energy use and public space featuring prominently In each Olympic year since 1988 the Faculty of Architecture at Delft University of Technology has held an international conference focusing on the connection between research and design exploring the field of tension between science technology and art This book presents the proceedings of the latest in this series of conferences New Urban Configurations held in Delft the Netherlands in October 2012 in collaboration with the European Association for Architectural Education EAAE and the International Seminar on Urban Form ISUF This edition of the conference discussed the role and critical potential of the architectural project in the transformation process of cities and territories that leads to new urban configurations The publication contains all 140 accepted papers and a selection of the keynote lectures presented at the conference The papers have been grouped into five main themes innovation in building typology infrastructure and the city complex urban projects green spaces and delta urbanism Four of these major topics are further divided into several subtopics This book will be of interest to everyone involved in designing building thinking about as well as managing the urban landscape and territory Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Thomas L. naturalized Canadian personify the twentieth century's opposing outlooks on cities Howard had envisaged small towns newly built from scratch fashioned on single family homes with small gardens Jacobs embraced existing inner city neighbourhoods emphasizing the verve of the living street From Howard's idea the American Dream of garden suburbs had emerged yet his conceptualization of a modern city received criticism for being uniform and alienated from the rest of the city Similarly at the turn of the new century Jacobs inner city neighbourhoods came to be recognized as the result of commodification vacillating between poverty and newly discovered hubs of urban authenticity Presenting Howard and Jacobs within a psychocultural context The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard addresses our urban crisis in the recognition that city form is a gendered allegorical medium expressing femininity and masculinity within two founding features of the built environment void and volume Both founding contrasts bring tensions but also the opportunities of fusion between pairs of urban polarities human scale against superscale gait against speed and spontaneity against surveillance Jacobs and Howard in their respective attitudes have come to embrace the two ancient archetypes the Garden and the Citadel leaving it to future generations to blend their two contrarian stances

To be Free and French Lorelle Semley, 2017-07-20 An ambitious new vision of French citizenship from the perspective of Africans and Antilleans living in the colonies and mainland France Lorelle Semley explores the ways in which these colonial subjects used French democratic ideals to demand rights and redefine the meanings of freedom and Frenchness

Surrealism and Architecture Thomas Mical, 2005 Twenty one essays examining the relationship of surrealist thought to architectural theory and practice

Thick Space Dorothee Brantz, Sasha Disko, Georg Wagner-Kyora, 2014-03-15 Could the concepts of metropolitanism and thick space aid our understanding of historical and contemporary urban change Essays by scholars from both sides of the Atlantic provide interdisciplinary approaches to the complex dynamics of large scale urbanization The book opens with conceptual questions regarding the development of metropolises and metropolitan studies The following sections provide analyses of the social environmental and cultural dimensions of metropolitan spaces from both a theoretical and an empirical perspective such as the role of planning and urban parks the impact of ethnic diversity and segregation the place of cinematic visions or the centrality of infrastructures and architecture

Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand, 2014-07-16 A major influence was modernist Le Corbusier and his Athens Charter published in 1943 which called for the total reconstruction of European cities transforming them into compact and verdant vertical cities unfettered by slumlords private interests and traffic congestion As Yugoslavia transitioned toward self management and market socialism the functionalist district of New Belgrade and its modern living were lauded as the model city of socialist man The glow of the utopian ideal would fade by the 1960s when market socialism had raised expectations for living standards and the government was eager for inhabitants to finance their own housing By 1972 a new master plan emerged under Aleksandar Ordevic fashioned with the assistance of American experts Espousing current theories about systems and rational process planning and using cutting edge computer technology

the new plan left behind the dream for a functionalist Belgrade and instead focused on managing growth trends

Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Thomas Harper, Anthony Gar-On Yeh, Heloisa Costa, 2008-06-30 This is the third book in the series offering a new selection of the best urban planning scholarship from each of the world's planning school associations. The award-winning papers presented illustrate the concerns and the discourse of planning scholarship communities and provide a glimpse into planning theory and practice by planning academics around the world. All those with an interest in urban and regional planning will find this collection valuable in opening new avenues for research and debate.

Spaces of Congestion and Traffic David Rooney, 2018-09-03 This book provides a political history of urban traffic congestion in the twentieth century and explores how and why experts from a range of professional disciplines have attempted to solve what they have called the traffic problem. It draws on case studies of historical traffic projects in London to trace the relationship among technologies, infrastructures, politics, and power on the capital's congested streets. From the visions of urban planners to the concrete realities of engineers and from the demands of traffic cops and economists to the new world of electronic surveillance, the book examines the political tensions embedded in the streets of our world cities. It also reveals the hand of capital in our traffic landscape. This book challenges conventional wisdom on urban traffic congestion, deploying a broad array of historical and material sources to tell a powerful account of how our cities work and why traffic remains such a problem. It is a welcome addition to literature on histories and geographies of urban mobility and will appeal to students and researchers in the fields of urban history, transport studies, historical geography, planning history, and the history of technology.

Planning Toronto Richard White, 2016-01-15 Paris is famous for romance, Chicago the blues, Buenos Aires the tango, and Toronto Well. Canada's largest urban centre is known for being a city that works, a remarkably livable metropolis for its size. In this lavishly illustrated book, Richard White reveals how urban planning contributed to Toronto becoming a functional world-class city. Focusing on the period from 1940 to 1980, he examines how planners shaped the city and its development amid a maelstrom of local and international obstacles and influences. Based on meticulous research of Toronto's postwar plans and supplemented by dozens of interviews, Planning Toronto provides a comprehensive and lively explanation of how Toronto's postwar plans, city, metropolitan, and regional came to be, who devised them, and what impact they had. When it comes to the history of urban planning, the question may not be whether a particular plan was good or bad, but whether in the end it made a difference. As White demonstrates in Toronto's case, planning did matter, just not always as expected.

Peaceful Path Stephen Ward, 2016-03-14 The title of this book is taken from Ebenezer Howard's visionary tract To-morrow: A Peaceful Path to Real Reform, published in 1898 as a manifesto for social reform via the creation of Garden Cities. It proposed a new way of providing cheap and healthy homes, workplaces, and green spaces in balance in cohesive new communities underpinned by radical ideas about collective land ownership. While Howard's vision had international impact, in this book planning historian Stephen Ward largely honors the special place that Hertfordshire occupies on the peaceful path beginning with the development of Letchworth and Welwyn Garden Cities Building the Urban Environment Harold L Platt, 2015-10 History and critique of post World War II urban planning explores its effects on the environment race labor housing and municipal administration Cultures and Settlements. Advances in Art and Urban Futures, Volume 3 Dragica Potocnjak, Nicola Kirkham, 2003-01-01 This volume considers the making of settlement as a process of identity formation Taking the position that a culture signifies a way of life it asks how cultural frameworks inform patterns of settlement and how the built environment as process and design conditions cultural production and reception The disciplinary fields this intersects include architecture urban design sociology cultural and human geography cultural studies and critical theory Contributors work in a range of such fields in Europe and Latin America
