Missile Age Lon O. Nordeen, 2014-12-02 Lon O Nordeen has completely updated his 1985 chronicle of military aviation's evolving role in warfare now covering the major conflicts of the past four decades He presents the historical and political background of each conflict and includes in depth discussions of the aircraft weapons tactics training new systems and other factors that influenced the outcome of each war New and existing chapters have been enhanced with information based on recently declassified material especially regarding Vietnam and new sources in Egypt Israel and the former Soviet Union As smart bombs have become more successful in reducing the risks for pilots and frontline troops air missile warfare has become the central player in military conflicts Air Warfare in the Missile Age Second Edition is a valuable resource for understanding the evolution of modern air warfare Armed Forces, 1982 Paperbound Books in Print, 1991 Chinese Aerospace Power Lyle J Goldstein, Andrew S. Erickson, 2012-04-30 China's aircraft carrier program is making major waves well before the first ship has been completed Undoubtedly this development heralds a new era in Chinese national security policy While the present volume presents substantial new insight on that particular question its focus is decidedly broader in scope Chinese Aerospace Power offers a comprehensive survey of Chinese aerospace developments with a focus on areas of potential strategic significance previously unexplored in Western scholarship The book also links these developments to the vast maritime battlespace of the Asia Pacific region and highlights the consequent implications for the U S military particularly the U S Navy

The Arms Production Dilemma Randall Forsberg,1994 The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries In the shrinking arms market of the post Cold War era countries with advanced arms industries face difficult choices concerning force size arms production arms export and defense industrial capacity This book explores the links among these issues through a detailed study of the combat aircraft industries in the United States Russia Britain France Germany Italy and Sweden the seven countries that develop produce and export all of the world s technologically advanced weapon systems The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries Stunning changes in Russia s combat aircraft forces industry and strategy are detailed here for the first time as are expected future Russian combat aircraft exports to China Newly compiled data also show that in the United States and Russia and globally arms production for export will exceed production for domestic use for the first time in history starting in 1995 Arms production is thus increasingly dominated by commercial rather than security interests Ultimately at issue is whether governments will exploit the opportunity offered by the dramatic post Cold War contraction of the world arms market to reduce their armed forces and constrain international arms trade while shrinking the arms industry or keep pushing arms exports that generate new threats and justify larger armed forces more arms production and bigger arms industries Air Force Magazine ,1995
