result of a thorough exploration of contemporary conceptions of romantic love from different points of view Beginning with an initial text where the meanings of romantic love are discussed theoretically and historically the contributions gathered here present current discussions about love in the present day and in different geographical contexts that range from Hungary to Italy or Spain The first part of the book is devoted to the analysis of mobilities for the sake of love as a result of globalization These mobilities are analysed in relation to love ideals to gender equality and to online searches for the ideal partners The second part of the book deals with the exploration of different imaginaries of love in particular geographical contexts The topics dealt with here include love as sickness love and violence love ideals for men engaged in gender equality and love ideals for those who engage in cross dressing practices In the third part writing about and for love is addressed Love writings to the beloved dead teenage girls blogs and bestsellers such as Fifty Shades of Grey are discussed in particular detail This book addresses current conceptions of romantic love in different social groups through different practices and in different countries and shows that despite the variability of discourses experiences and practices related to love a number of ideas of what love should be like related to the Western ideals of romantic love persist in all these contexts The contributions to this volume are derived from extensive fieldwork and ethnographic research and will be of undoubted interest for the academic milieu However given the topic it deals with the book will also appeal to the general public who will find in these pages many love stories derived from the detailed study of the society which we inhabit and the ideals of love that we breathe

Adaptation Studies Christa Albrecht-Crane, Dennis Ray Cutchins, 2010-07-31 The volume takes as its starting point the assumption that adapters cannot simply transpose or transfer one particular text from one medium to another They must interpret re work and re imagine the precursor text in order to choose the various meanings and sensations they find most compelling or most cost effective then they create scenes characters plot elements etc that match their interpretation These very relationships are the subject matter this collection seeks to explore Poststructural theory is an ideal place to begin a rigorous and theoretically sound investigation of adaptation As adaptation studies adopts a poststructuralist lens and defines this richer notion of intertextuality some of its key assumptions will change Adaptation scholars will recognize that all film adaptations are intertextual by definition multivocal by necessity and adaptive by their nature Women and Women's Issues in Post World War II Japan Edward R.
