The Political Economy of NGOs Jude L. Fernando, 2011-07-08 This book explores the paradoxical relationship between NGOs and capitalism showing that supposedly progressive organisations often promote essentially the same policies and ideas as existing governments It examines how a diverse group of NGOs have shaped state formation in Bangladesh and Sri Lanka It argues that rather than influencing state formation for the better NGOs have been integrated into the capitalist system and their language adopted to give traditional exploitative social relations a transformative appearance This enlightening study will give pause to those who see NGOs as drivers of true social change and will encourage students of development studies to make a deeper analysis of state formation

Traditional Industry in the Economy of Colonial India Tirthankar Roy, 1999-11-04 The majority of workers in South Asia are employed in industries that rely on manual labour and craft skills Some of these industries have existed for centuries and survived great changes in consumption and technology over the last 150 years In earlier studies historians of the region focused on mechanized rather than craft industries arguing that traditional manufacturing was destroyed or devitalized during the colonial period and that modern industry is substantially different Exploring new material from research into five traditional industries Tirthankar Roy s book contests these notions demonstrating that while traditional industry did evolve during the Industrial Revolution these transformations had a positive rather than destructive effect on manufacturing generally In fact the book suggests the major industries in post independence India were shaped by such transformations Tirthankar Roy s book offers new and penetrating insights into India s economic and social history
