Mukkuvar Women:

Mukkuvar Women Kalpana Ram,1991 Women, Poverty and Ideology in Asia Haleh Afshar,B. Agarwal,2016-07-27

This book examines the contradictions between the prevailing ideologies and cultural practices and the economic interests of women in poor households in Asia Here the primacy of economic needs necessitates that all members of the household women men and children engage in income generating employment yet at the same time prevailing ideologies often impose restrictions on women s work Thus caught in the poverty trap they face conflicting choices between survival needs and social acceptability This collection of essays demonstrate the differing or complementary roles played by different agents such as the State private employers religious groups the community and the family and their effects on the lives of impoverished women in India Pakistan Iran Sri Lanka Korea Malaysia Hong Kong and Singapore The degree of complementarity or contradiction varies according to country class caste and ethnicity What is of interest however is the way they are manifested and in whose interest they are resolved

Women, Islam and Everyday Life Nina Nurmila,2009-06-10 This book examines Islam and women s everyday life focusing in particular on the highly controversial issue of polygamy It discusses the competing Islamic interpretations of polygamy and based on detailed fieldwork conducted in Indonesia women s actual experiences and perceptions of the practice and the impact of public policy

Women and Work in Indonesia ,

Women Writers in Postsocialist China Kay Schaffer,Xianlin Song,2013-07-31 What does it mean to read from elsewhere Women Writers in Postsocialist China introduces readers to a range and variety of contemporary Chinese women s writing which has seen phenomenal growth in recent years The book addresses the different ways women s issues are understood in China and the West attending to the processes of translation adaptation and the grafting of new ideas with existing Chinese understandings of gender feminism subjectivity consumerism and post modernism By focusing on women s autobiographical biographical fictional and historical writing the book engages in a transcultural flow of ideas between western and indigenous Chinese feminisms Taking account of the accretions of social cultural geographic literary economic and political movements and trends cultural formations and ways of thinking it asks how the texts and the concepts they negotiate might be understood in the social and cultural spaces within China and how they might be interpreted differently elsewhere in the global locations in which they circulate The book argues that women centred writing in China has a direct bearing on global feminist theory and practice This critical study of selected genres and writers highlights the shifts in feminist perspectives within contemporary local and global cultural landscapes

The Women's Movement in Postcolonial Indonesia

Elizabeth Martyn,2004-11-10 This book examines women s activism in the early years of independent Indonesia when new attitudes to gender nationalism citizenship and democratization were forming It questions the meaning of democratization for women and their relationship to national sovereignty within the new Indonesian state and discusses women s organizations and their activities women s social and economic roles and the different cultural regional and ethnic attitudes towards women while showing the failure of political change to fully address women's gender interests and needs. The author argues that both the role of nationalism in defining gender identity and the role of gender in defining national identity need equal recognition.

Women and Sharia Law in Northern Indonesia Dina Afrianty, 2015-05-01 This book examines the life of women in the Indonesian province of Aceh where Islamic law was introduced in 1999. It outlines how women have had to face the formalisation of conservative understandings of sharia law in regulations and new state institutions over the last decade or so, how they have responded to this forming non-governmental organisations (NGOs) that have shaped local discourse on women's rights, equality and status in Islam, and how these NGOs have strategised, demanded reform and enabled Acehnese women to take active roles in influencing the processes of democratisation and Islamisation that are shaping the province. The book shows that although the formal introduction of Islamic law in Aceh has placed restrictions on women's freedom, paradoxically it has not prevented them from engaging in public life. It argues that the democratisation of Indonesia, which allowed Islamisation to occur, continues to act as an important factor shaping Islamisation's current trajectory, that the introduction of Islamic law has motivated women's NGOs and other elements of civil society to become more involved in wider discussions about the future of sharia in Aceh, and that Indonesia's recent decentralisation policy and growing local Islamism have enabled the emergence of different religious and local adat practices which do not necessarily correspond to overall national trends.

A Question of Silence Janaki Nair, Mary E. John, 2000-10 The essays in this volume develop an understanding of the institutions, practices and forms of representation of Indian sexual relations and their boundaries of legitimacy.

Women's Employment in Japan Kaye Broadbent, 2012-11-12 The low status accorded to part-time workers in Japan has resulted in huge inequalities in the workplace. This book examines the problem in depth using case study investigations in Japanese workplaces and reveals the extent of the inequality. It shows how many part-time workers, most of whom are women, are concentrated in low-paid, low-skilled, poorly unionised service sector jobs. Part-time workers in Japan work hours equivalent to or greater than full-time workers but receive lower financial and welfare benefits than their full-time colleagues. Overall, the book demonstrates that the way part-time work is constructed in Japan reinforces and institutionalises the sexual division of labour.

Intersexions Gillian Bottomley, 2020-07-29 Do writings about ethnicity, class and gender form a holy trinity or challenge previous unidimensional analyses? Intersexions accepts the triple perspective but goes further. One aim is to understand the processes by which relations of power are maintained, reproduced and resisted. Intersexions also examines modes of representation within social theory, feminism, development theory and discussions of capitalism and postcolonialism, as well as dominant ideological notions of caste, domesticity and success. The writers' approaches are all critical but concerned also with providing alternatives. Comparative and specific analyses are combined; attention is paid to the written and spoken material of the people represented and their own positions as commentators; examined topics range from discussions of family ideology and paid and domestic work to analyses of writings by Aboriginals.

Vanuatians and second generation Greek Australians and critiques of the cultural construction of gender and ethnicity in Bangladesh India and Indonesia Themes recur and overlap Unitary categories are questioned and the processes by which relations described as class ethnic cultural and gender intersect and interact are demonstrated

Investigating Developmentalism Dev Nath Pathak, Amiya Kumar Das, 2019-06-18 Compiling various strands of the disenchantment with development discourse in contemporary South Asia with specific focus on the cases from India this edited book brings together anthropologists sociologists economists and historians to refresh the understanding of development It introduces ways of thinking otherwise about development discourse and what the contributors term developmentalism the social disenchantment with development The cultural discourse of development in contemporary South Asia manifests not only in the official programs of state agencies but in cinema television and mass media Dear to various stakeholders from government leaders and manufacturers to consumers and the electorate is the axiom of a developmental society Organized to bridge familiar understandings of development with radical ways of thinking through developmentalism this book holds value for those engaged in the anthropology and sociology of development development studies South Asian studies as well as for development professionals working for state and non governmental organizations

Islam and Women's Income Farah Chowdhury, 2016-12-01 This book examines the interrelationship between law culture patriarchy and religion in the context of contemporary Bangladesh It explores the role of Islam in society and politics generally and its influence on gender equality in particular The work focuses on the situation of married women Taking a socio legal approach it analyses the changing nature of the dowry practice and its relation to women's increasing paid labour force activity Despite anti dowry legislation it is argued here that the dowry system continues in the form of the appropriation of wives income The work calls for legal recognition of this action and the amendment of the Dowry Prohibition Act 1980 as a result of the changing social realities that are taking place in the lives of Bangladeshi women An Islamic approach is applied to equality between men and women in addressing and analysing these issues The book includes international comparisons on gender equality and discusses the role of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women CEDAW as well as the dowry system in South Asia The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of law and religion gender studies and international development

Women's Empowerment in South Asia Pranab Panday, 2016-04-28 Economic development in the poorest countries often makes better progress when women become involved in and take a lead in development projects Encouraging women's involvement however is often a major difficulty in societies where traditionally women's status has been inferior and where women are expected to be domestic and passive This book based on extensive original research considers major projects undertaken by non governmental organisations in Bangladesh to encourage women s participation The book identifies the factors which motivated women to be active discusses how women achieved the level of capacity and knowledge to enable them to serve their communities appropriately assesses the major difficulties and recommends how empowerment projects can be improved in future The book concludes that established institutions and traditional customs are often the greatest barrier to women s participation

An Anthropological Study of Marine Fishermen in Kerala B. Bindu Ramachandran, 2021-01-13 Anthropological studies of marine fishermen have explored immense diversity among fishing societies and the management strategies of marine resources in the context of globalization and changing technologies deserve the utmost attention from researchers in an uncertain economy In India fishing communities belong to various different castes and religions This book presents an anthropological study of Hindu marine fishermen in two neighboring fishing villages situated in the same coastal belt but administered by two different state governments Kerala and Pondicherry It explores the ways in which state interventions influence the development paradigm of a marginalized society like marine fishermen and discusses the distribution pattern of production systems and its significance at the household level The book also considers the gendered forms of economic transformation in fishing due to declining marine resources and technological and climate change It also focuses on the role of women fish vendors in market spaces as instituted by their distribution and credit connections and the unique experiences of the development process through anxieties compromises and survival in an uncertain economy The book will be of interest to researchers administrators and NGOs working for the inclusive development of marginalized communities sharing common property resources

The Korean Women's Movement and the State Seung-kyung Kim, Kyounghee Kim, 2014-01-10 This book asks what strategies women s movements can employ to induce law and policy changes at the national level that will assist women s equality without sacrificing their feminist energy movement cohesiveness and core feminist commitments The book takes up this question in order to emphasize the need not only to recognize the accomplishments of women s movements through political participation but also to analyze the process through which feminist organizations interact with formal politics It examines the institutionalization of the Korean women s movement under the progressive presidencies of Kim Dae Jung 1998 2002 and Roh Moo Hyun 2003 2007 focusing on three major pieces of legislation concerning women s rights that were enacted during this time and looks at the process of gender politics and the strategic bargains that needed to be made between the women s movement and other political forces in order to advance their agenda It questions whether the institutionalization of the women s movement inevitably results in demobilization and deradicalization and goes on to examine the relationship between the women s movement and the government over the two most women friendly administrations in South Korean history a period marked by flourishing civil society activism and participatory democracy

Possessed by the Virgin Kristin C. Bloomer, 2018 Possessed by the Virgin is an ethnographic account of three Roman Catholic women in Tamil Nadu south India who claim to be possessed by Mary the mother of Jesus The author follows the lives of these women over many years investigating questions about gender social power agency and authenticity Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2010 Divine Domesticities Hyaeweol Choi,Margaret Jolly,2014-10-29 Divine Domesticities Christian Paradoxes in Asia and the Pacific fills a huge lacuna in the scholarly literature on missionaries in Asia Pacific and is transnational history at its finest Co edited by two eminent scholars this multidisciplinary volume an outgrowth of several conferences seminars critically examines various encounters between western missionaries and indigenous women in the Pacific Asia Taken as a whole this is a thought provoking and an indispensable reference not only for students of colonialism imperialism but also for those of us who have an interest in transnational and gender history in general The chapters are very clearly written engaging and remarkably accessible the stories are compelling and the research is thorough The illustrations are equally riveting and the bibliography is extremely useful Theodore Jun Yoo History Department University of Hawai i The editors of this collection of papers have done an excellent job of creating a coherent set of case studies that address the diverse impacts of missionaries and Christianity on domesticity and therefore on the women and children who were assumed to be the rightful inhabitants of that sphere The introduction to the volume is beautifully written and sets up the rest of the volume in a comprehensive way It explains the book s aim to advance theoretical and methodological issues by exploring the role of missionary encounters in the development of modern domesticities showing the agency of indigenous women in negotiating both change and continuity and providing a wide range of case studies to show breadth and complexity and the local and national specificities of engagements with both missionaries and modernity My view is that all three aims are well and truly fulfilled Helen Lee Head Sociology and Anthropology La Trobe University Melbourne Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
