DVD set promotes student learning by illustrating each of the counseling theories covered in the textbook Counseling and Psychotherapy Theories in Context and Practice Second Edition by John and Rita Sommers Flanagan. However, the DVDs can be used in conjunction with this text or as a stand alone teaching tool in any course covering psychotherapy theories and techniques. Unique in its presentation of real clinicians from a variety of work settings including school and college counselors working with actual clients, the DVDs feature practitioners and clients who represent ethnic gender age and religious diversity. Model how to develop a positive therapeutic relationship from any theoretical perspective. Help students not only understand the differences between theories but also the difference between theory and technique. Offer commentary by the authors on how the counselor in the session made decisions from a theoretical perspective as well as why a particular counseling theory was appropriate for the client's situation. Exploring Psychoanalytic, Adlerian, Existential, Person Centered, Gestalt, Behavioral, Cognitive Behavioral, Reality, Feminist, Solution Focused, and Family Systems theories, these two DVDs shed light on these theories in real practice with clients.

Perspectives on the Intersection of Multiculturalism and Positive Psychology Jennifer Teramoto Pedrotti, Lisa M. Edwards, 2014-03-24. The volume will be a collection of chapters about current theory, research, and practice related to multiculturalism and positive psychology. This book will serve as a reference to any who are interested in the intersection of positive psychology and multicultural context. While many in the field of positive psychology have begun to move more strongly towards a culturally embedded approach that recognizes the importance of context in discussing viewing and cultivating strengths in individuals from different backgrounds, there is still a dearth of research in this area compared with studies that take a cross cultural approach comparing people from different countries or one that is purported to be culture free or universal in its application. While it is becoming more common to see various articles or chapters published on these topics, there is still no comprehensive text aimed at discussion of the collection of these topics presented in a cohesive and structured way. This book aims to fill this gap in the literature. In this book, a broad definition of culture is utilized that includes such facets as race, ethnicity, socioeconomic or social class, status, disability, religion, sexual orientation, and gender. This book is intended to present research, theory, and suggestions for practice that are grounded in diverse cultural contexts and current scholarship. It will assist researchers, students, and practitioners who are studying and working within diverse populations. Currently, there exists no comprehensive text that addresses the intersection of positive psychology and multiculturalism. Several edited volumes address positive psychology constructs, e.g., well-being, optimal experience, autonomy across cultures, but they do not focus on multicultural populations within the United States. Other books focus more specifically on mental health applications and stress and coping among multicultural populations; however, these books do not provide a broad perspective on psychology beyond this application piece. The proposed book will review current theory and research about constructs in addition to applications across contexts. Finally, other published books have focused on youth within multicultural society; this volume is more broad in its address of issues of positive psychology across the lifespan and across various aspects of identity including disability gender social class and sexual orientation     The Ethics of Teaching Patricia Keith-Spiegel, Bernard E. Whitley, Jr., Deborah Ware Balogh, David V. Perkins, Arno F. Wittig, 2003-01-30 The bk provides a discussion of the ethical dilemmas that can arise in faculty interactions w students as well as tips on how to avoid deal with these predicaments when they occur It focuses on common gray areas rather than extreme clear cut     Resources in Education ,1998     Fundamentals of Abnormal Psychology Ronald J. Comer, 2011 Ronald J Comer clearly integrates theoretical models research findings clinical experiences therapies and controversies within the context of social and cultural influences in this study of abnormal psychology     Multicultural Curriculum Transformation in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics Christine Clark, Amanda VandeHei-Carter, Kenneth J. Fasching-Varner, Zaid M. Haddad, 2018-07-27 This volume focuses on multicultural curriculum transformation in Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics or STEM subject areas broadly while also focusing on sub content areas e g earth science digital technologies in greater detail The discussion of each sub content area outlines critical considerations for multicultural curriculum transformation for the sub content areas by grade level early childhood and elementary school education middle and or junior high school education and high school education and then by organizing tool parameters standards both in a generalized fashion and specific to Common Core State Standards among other standards educational context relationships with and among students and their families civic engagement considerations pertaining to educational ability broadly considered for example for gifted and talented education bilingual gifted and talented education regular education bilingual regular education special education bilingual special education as well as relative to specific content and corresponding pedagogical considerations including evaluation of student learning and teaching effectiveness In this way the volume provides a conceptual framework and concrete examples for how to go about multiculturally transforming curriculum in STEM curricula The volume is designed to speak with PK 12 teachers as colleagues in the multicultural curriculum transformation work at focus in each subject area and at varied grade levels Readers are exposed to things to think about but also given curricular examples to work with or from in going about the actual concrete work of curriculum change It bridges the gaps between preparing PK 12 teachers to be able to 1 independently multiculturally adapt existing curriculum and 2 create new multicultural curriculum differentiated for their content areas and grade levels while also 3 providing ample examples of what such adapted and new differentiated curricula looks like In so doing this volume also bridges the gaps between the theory and practice of multicultural curriculum transformation in higher and PK 12 educational contexts     Australian Multiculturalism Lois E. Foster, 1988 This book is a documentary history and critique of the concept and policy of multiculturalism in Australia for the period 1970 to 1986 The book brings together for the first time a range of documents charting the emergence and implementation of multiculturalism across the main institutions of Australian society and culture The institutions covered in the book are education health and welfare the Church law media the realm of work and as a summarising chapter human rights and race and community relations in Australian society in the 1980s The wide range of documents and the critical thematic introduction and contexting make the book ideal as a teaching text for students in many disciplines and an invaluable research source
