Rethinking Multicultural Education Carol Korn-Bursztyn, Alberto M. Bursztyn Ph.D., 2002-03-30 Korn and Bursztyn and their contributors examine the cultural transitions that children make as they move between the cultures of home and school To better understand these transitions they explore how educators understand their students shifting experiences and examine how educators also negotiate transitions as they too move from home to school each day The narratives or case studies reflect this shifting gaze from child to teacher to parents and take up the various relational configurations that these can form amongst and between each other They turn a critical eye toward instances of classroom practice and school life connecting personal knowledge with school change In some cases the authors draw directly on autobiographical material linking these to a reflective approach to teaching Avoiding the celebratory tone that often attends discussions of multiculturalism the authors address how diversity engages us in continual renegotiation of the personal and social The perspectives of educators and of teacher candidates are presented and the construction of cultural identity and its impact on schools explored In illuminating the complicated nature of cultural transitions and the obligation of schools to create places in which children and families of diverse backgrounds can thrive they highlight how multiculturalism can play a transformative role in the lives of children and schools A must reading for educators and graduate students in education school psychology guidance and counseling

Creating Multicultural Citizens Dr Raihani, 2013-11-12 Despite the largest scale decentralisation of education since 1999 which broadly led to the marketisation of education it is not clear how school education responds to the multicultural realities of Indonesian society and ethnic religious conflicts Creating Multicultural Citizens presents a comprehensive evaluation of contemporary education in the largest democratic Muslim country in the world focusing on the ways in which education prepares citizens for a multicultural society It thoroughly

Multicultural Literature for Children and Young Adults Mingshui Cai, 2002-10-30 There is much discussion of multiculturalism in education This is especially true of multicultural literature for children and young adults The rise of multicultural literature is a political rather than a literary movement it is a movement to claim space in literature and in education for historically marginalized social groups rather than one to renovate the craft of literature itself Multicultural literature has been closely bound with the cause of multiculturalism in general and thus has been confronted with resistance from conservatives This book discusses many of the controversial issues surrounding multicultural literature for children and young adults The volume begins with a look at some of the foundational and theoretical issues related to multicultural literature The second part of the book addresses issues related to the creation and critique of multicultural literature including the authorship of such works and the role of the reader in determining whether or not a work is multicultural The third looks at the place of multicultural literature in the education of children and young adults Throughout its discussion the book makes extensive references to a large body of multicultural fiction and provides a thorough review of research on this important topic

Teaching in the Now Jeff Frank,2019-08-15 John Dewey s Experience and Education is an important book but first time readers of Dewey s philosophy can find it challenging and not meaningfully related to the contemporary landscape of education Jeff Frank s Teaching in the Now aims to reanimate Dewey s text for first time readers and anyone who teaches the text or is interested in appreciating Dewey s continuing significance by focusing on Dewey s thinking on preparation Frank through close readings of Dewey asks readers to wonder How much of what we justify as preparation in education is actually necessary That is every time we catch ourselves telling a student you need to learn this in order to do something else we need to stop and reflect We need to reflect because when we always justify the present moment of a student s education in terms of what will happen in the future we may lose out on the ability to engage students attention and interest now when it matters Dewey asks his readers to trust that the best way to prepare students for an engaging and productive future is to create the most engaging and productive present experience for students We learn to live fully in the future only by practicing living fully in the present Although it can feel scary to stop thinking of the work of education in terms of preparation when educators reclaim the present for students new opportunities for teachers students schools democracy and education emerge Teaching in the Now explores these opportunities in impassioned and engaging prose that makes Experience and Education come alive for readers new to Dewey or who have taught and read him for many years
