looks at the major disciplines of knowledge in the humanities and social sciences asking how they have been reshaped by the cultural turn and how they have elaborated distinctive new objects of knowledge Parts II and III examine the questions arising from a practice of analysis in which the researcher is drawn reflexively into the object of study and in which methodological frameworks are rarely given in advance Addressed to academics and advanced students in all fields of the social sciences and humanities The SAGE Handbook of Cultural Analysis is at once a synthesis of advances in the field with a comprehensive coverage of the scholarly literature and a collection of original and provocative essays by some of the brightest intellectuals of our time

Sex Wars Lisa Duggan, Nan D. Hunter, 2014-01-27 This book is a collection of essays written during the 1980s and 1990s generated as parts of other larger activist efforts going on at the time Read together the essays trace the progress of the conversations between different activist groups and between the authors of the pieces Lisa Duggan and Nan Hunter creating a bridge between feminists gay activists those in politics and those in the law Since the 1995 publication of Sex Wars the political landscape has altered significantly Yet the issues and essays are still relevant today The anniversary edition contains a new chapter dealing with the changes in the law since the book's publication Lawrence v Texas for example

The Domain-Matrix Sue-Ellen Case, 1996 The Domain Matrix is about the passage from print culture to electronic screen culture and how this passage affects the reader or computer user Sections are organized to emulate in a printed book the reader's experience of computer windows Case traces the portrait of virtual identities within queer and lesbian critical practice and virtual technologies The book poses several key questions How do the competing orders of print and the screen situate the body How do they treat notions of the live Written to encourage a reading strategy somewhere between print and hypertext the book is divided into sections which prompt the reader to link them in non sequential orders

The Palgrave Handbook of Critical Social Psychology Brendan Gough, 2025-05-19 This handbook is the second edition of a highly cited and impactful collection which was the first to bring together the latest theory and research on critical approaches to social psychological challenges Edited by a leading authority in the field the volume helped to establish critical social psychology as a discipline of study distinct from mainstream social psychology The book helps to explain how critical approaches to social processes and phenomena are essential to fully understanding them and covers the main research topics in basic and applied social psychology including social cognition identity and social relations alongside overviews of the main theories and methodologies that underpin critical approaches This second edition adds four new chapters from two UK authors one US and one from New Zealand on the subjects of Indigenous Psychologies Mori communities Deleuze and arts based research It also adds a new introduction from the editor This volume features a range of leading authors working on key social psychological issues and highlights a commitment to a social psychology which shuns psychologisation reductionism and neutrality It provides invaluable insight into many of the most pressing and distressing issues we face in modern society including the migrant and refugee crises affecting Europe the devaluing of black lives in the

USA and the poverty ill health and poor mental well being that has resulted from ever increasing austerity efforts in the UK Including sections on critical perspectives critical methodologies and critical applications this volume also focuses on issues within social cognition self and identity This one stop handbook is an indispensable resource for a range of academics students and researchers in the fields of psychology and sociology and particularly those with an interest in social identity power relations and critical interventions

Politics of Difference in Taiwan T.W. Ngo,Hong-zen Wang,2011-05-10 Taiwan has been hailed as a successful case of democratization Compared with many other nations the transition from authoritarian rule occurred in a rather orderly fashion Group consciousness emerged as a reaction to the decades long suppression of cultural diversity under martial law as different social groups competed fiercely to exert their political subjectivity This volume is the first study to examine the politics of difference in Taiwan It aims to go beyond ethnic identity as the sole concern for group boundary to acknowledge the interests of other marginalized groups and to look behind reified group boundaries in order to discover group differences as mediated social relations based on overlapping boundaries rather than exclusive opposition In exploring the politics of difference among minority groups and the problems arising from their struggle over political recognition the book challenges the assumptions that groups are ontologically given that groups are internally homogenous and that the particularistic identities have no overlap The chapters offer a broad coverage of major social groups including ethnic minorities recent migrants gay and lesbian groups and marginalized workers They offer perspective analyses of the ongoing struggles by minority groups to overcome subordination

Contesting Islam. Constructing Race and Sexuality Sunera Thobani,2020-12-10 The current political standoffs of the War on Terror illustrate that the interaction within and between the so called Western and Middle Eastern civilizations is constantly in flux A recurring theme however is how Islam and Muslims signify the Enemy in the Western socio cultural imagination and have become the Other against which the West identifies itself In a unique and insightful blend of critical race feminist and post colonial theory Sunera Thobani examines how Islam is foundational to the formation of Western identity at critical points in its history including the Crusades the Reconquista and the colonial period More specifically she explores how masculinity and femininity are formed at such pivotal junctures and what role feminism has played in the wars against radical Islam Exposing these symbiotic relationships Thobani explores how the return of religion is reworking the racial gender and sexual politics by which Western society defines itself and more specifically defines itself against Islam

Contesting Islam. Constructing Race and Sexuality unpacks conventional as well as unconventional orthodoxies to open up new spaces in how we think about sexual and racial identity in the West and the crucial role that Islam has had and continues to have in its development

The Changing World of Gay Men P. Robinson,2015-12-04 This ground breaking book explores the experiences of gay men and their understanding of what it meant to be gay in the 20th Century from when homosexuality was illegal though the less repressed but no less difficult eras of gay liberation and the HIV AIDS epidemic
