Revolution and Rebellion in the Early Modern World Jack A. Goldstone, 1991-04-02 What can the great crises of the past teach us about contemporary revolutions Arguing from an exciting and original perspective Goldstone suggests that great revolutions were the product of ecological crises that occurred when inflexible political economic and social institutions were overwhelmed by the cumulative pressure of population growth on limited available resources Moreover he contends that the causes of the great revolutions of Europe the English and French revolutions were similar to those of the great rebellions of Asia which shattered dynasties in Ottoman Turkey China and Japan The author observes that revolutions and rebellions have more often produced a crushing state orthodoxy than liberal institutions leading to the conclusion that perhaps it is vain to expect revolution to bring democracy and economic progress Instead contends Goldstone the path to these goals must begin with respect for individual liberty rather than authoritarian movements of national liberation Arguing that the threat of revolution is still with us Goldstone urges us to heed the lessons of the past He sees in the United States a repetition of the behavior patterns that have led to internal decay and international decline in the past a situation calling for new leadership and careful attention to the balance between our consumption and our resources Meticulously researched forcefully argued and strikingly original Revolutions and Rebellions in the Early Modern World is a tour de force by a brilliant young scholar It is a book that will surely engender much discussion and debate

Global Dangers Sean M. Lynn-Jones, Steven E. Miller, 1995 Analyses some of the new issues that are raising the temperature of contemporary world politics Environmental scarcity international migration and nationalism

Matyók, 2022-08-22 This handbook offers a comprehensive analysis of peacebuilding in ethnic conflicts with attention to theory peacebuilder roles making sense of the past and shaping the future as well as case studies and approaches Comprising 28 chapters that present key insights on peacebuilding in ethnic conflicts the volume has implications for teaching and training as well as for practice and policy The handbook is divided into four thematic parts Part 1 focuses on critical dimensions of ethnic conflicts including root causes gender external involvements emancipatory peacebuilding hatred as a public health issue environmental issues American nationalism and the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic Part 2 focuses on peacebuilders roles including Indigenous peacemaking nonviolent accompaniment peace leadership in the military interreligious peacebuilders local women and young people Part 3 addresses the past and shaping of the future including a discussion of public memory heritage rights and monuments refugees trauma and memory aggregated trauma in the African American community exhumations after genocide and a healing centered approach to conflict Part 4 presents case studies on Sri Lanka's postwar reconciliation process peacebuilding in Mindanao the transformative peace negotiation in Aceh and Bougainville external economic aid for peacebuilding in Northern Ireland

Indigenous and local peacemaking and a continuum of peacebuilding focal points The handbook offers perspectives on the breadth and significance of peacebuilding work in ethnic conflicts throughout the world This volume will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding ethnic conflict security studies and international relations Environmental Security and Gender Nicole Detraz,2014-08-21 Over the past 20 years scholars policymakers and the media have increasingly recognized the links between both traditional and non traditional security issues and the changing condition of the global environment Concepts such as environmental security and resource conflict have been used to hint at these significant linkages While there has been a good deal of scholarly work conducted that seeks to identify the ways that actors link these concepts there has been little examination of the intersection between approaches to environmental security and gender This book explores this intersection to provide an insight into the gendered nature of both global environmental politics and security studies It examines how the issues of security and the environment are linked to theory and practice and the extent to which gender informs these discussions By adopting a feminist environmental security discourse this book provides crucial redefinitions of key concepts and offers new insights into the ways we understand security environment connections Case studies evaluate if and how environment and security discourses are being used to understand a range of environmental issues and how a feminist environmental security discourse contributes to our understanding of security environment connections This multidisciplinary volume draws on literature from the environmental sciences security studies and sociology to highlight the complex human insecurities that often accompany environmental change As conceptualizations of security continue to shift and broaden to include environmental issues and concerns it is imperative that gender informs the debate Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1986-04 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Immigration Phobia and the Security Dilemma Mikhail A. Alexseev,2006 Immigration phobia is a paradoxical global phenomenon neither theories that link conflict to symbolic and realistic threats nor the contact hypothesis can systematically explain intense anti migrant alarmism and exclusionism toward marginally small migrant minorities Through a careful comparative study of immigration attitudes in the Russian Far East the EU and the United States this book is the first to demonstrate that concerns about national identity and economic interests associated with migration are themselves ignited by a unique perceptual logic of the security dilemma Regression analysis and case studies trace support for expulsion of migrants to human yearning for pre emptive self defense under uncertainty Alarmism and hostility arise from ambiguities about immigration consequences and migrants motivations Framing migration as a national security problem is therefore logical but counterproductive The book instead recommends managing migration through economic incentives and new institutions at the global national and local level Innovations in Peace and Security in Africa Joseph Adero Ngala,Rachel Julian,Jonathan Henriques,2023-08-28 This edited volume harnesses African expertise to examine the local and global dimensions of peace It is an outcome of a workshop in Nairobi Kenya that convened African academics and practitioners with diverse specialisations The authors contributions foreground local voices across a broad scope of inquiry including rural community structures health trauma sexual violence peacekeeping and cybersecurity African knowledge is essential to understanding peace on the continent the complexities of conflict and insecurity the lived experiences of individuals and communities and their responses to such phenomena This analytical approach underpins the book creating fertile ground to identify and develop innovations that hold the promise for sustainable African solutions
