Unity from Diversity Ray W. Cooksey, 2024-07-15 This book is about the choices that researchers can make when building knowledge in social and behavioural spaces Knowledge is the unity we seek and given that social and behavioural research is a human endeavour focusing on human lives and experiences there are diverse and ever evolving pathways towards achieving that unity Any one pathway will only ever yield partial glimpses into human life and diversity of potential choices serves to enrich expand and enlarge those glimpses in pursuit of more complete understanding The book shows that researchers and the researched are far more connected than disconnected in this world and those connections are spread out through a network of interlinked complex systems The book argues that pluralist systemic thinking provides the means by which a researcher's methodological choices for navigating the Data Triangle comprising data source data gathering and data analysis strategies and the learning they provide can be fully and robustly contextualised with respect to those systems and the expectations and influences that emerge from them Such contextualisations facilitate the refinement augmentation and or narrowing of those choices during the researcher's journey Anticipating choices downstream may have implications for more immediate choices and more immediate choices may create a cascade of necessary downstream choices An essential part of contextualisation involves making choices about patterns of guiding assumptions modes of knowledge building and research frames Researchers must develop the capacity to be flexible and adapt to unanticipated emergent events obstacles and political influences making trade offs where necessary throughout their research journey always with an eye on both feasibility and quality Importantly research has no meaning unless the researcher can ensure that it connects with intended audiences via specific research outcomes especially since the ultimate judgments about the convincingness meaningfulness quality and utility of the research are vested in those audiences Throughout the book special attention is devoted to the roles that stakeholders and gatekeepers play in shaping the researcher's journey as well as to what can be learned from Indigenous First Nations perspectives on social and behavioural research

The Golden Thread Fuad Udemans, 2013-09-23 This book is an account of a ten year experiment whereby the scientist became an entrepreneur so as to experience his own theoretical model applied in a live social system society Profit motives and the clinical nature of science became muddled with norms rules and laws of social systems and how different people applied and responded to these rules The insights to be gained from this journey are often surprising The book highlights many counter intuitive outcomes It also reveals how certain individuals interpret societys rules and norms despite their design to ensure fair and equitable social systems Indeed the manipulation of social laws and standards by those with strong fields of power is self evident and it is explored in a unique manner Understanding how the field of power can be manipulated suggests that no matter how bleak ones current position may be it is very possible and relatively easy to escape conditions of poverty oppression and subjugation vital issues that citizens in all countries face today

The Semiotics of Information Systems John Mingers, Leslie P. Willcocks, 2023-08-29 The central concepts of information meaning embodied cognition and semiotics are hugely relevant to contemporary organisations and personal and social lives However these concepts are not well understood and are frequently under represented misrepresented and their importance seriously underplayed in the study of management This is particularly noticeable in the study of the information systems and digital technologies that underpin so much of business operations personal and social life organisation communication and management today This book seeks to fill the obvious gap It provides detailed understanding of fundamental concepts and develops a useable integrative semiotics framework The framework is grounded in rich social theory and philosophy and as the book demonstrates provides a valuable exploratory and explanatory framework for researchers This takes shape as a 12 step research process that has the general features of most research methodologies but also provides distinctive rich resources for in depth research into semiotically related phenomena It will be of great interest to academics undertaking research in digital technologies and business model innovation as well as scholars of research methodology organisation studies HRM marketing and information systems

The Routledge Companion to Management Information Systems

Robert D. Galliers, Mari-Klara Stein, Abayomi Baiyere, 2025-06-02 The field of information systems has been evolving since the first application of computers in organizations in the early 1950s. Focusing on information systems analysis and design up to and including the 1980s, the field has expanded enormously with our assumptions about information and knowledge being challenged along with both intended and unintended consequences of information technology. This second edition takes stock of the progress made in recent years and presents a forward looking perspective that can help to shape future scholarly conversations both in the field of information systems but also in cognate fields where information technology is having profound effects. With the advances in digital technology such as artificial intelligence, the Internet of Things, cloud computing, blockchain, green tech and the like, we herald a digital era and can envision a shift and a need for new logics, new ways of thinking and new ways of engaging with digital technology now and in the near future. As compared to the four themes in the previous edition, this book introduces a fifth theme, Digital Phenomena, to specifically attend to contemporary issues and what is a pertinent agenda for future research. This prestige reference work offers students and researchers a critical reflection on major topics and current scholarship in this evolving field, with each chapter providing a balanced overview of current knowledge, identifying issues and discussing relevant debates. This book is required reading for any student or researcher concerned not just with the broad and expanding field of management information systems per se but all those in cognate disciplines interested in the impacts, management and use of modern information technologies in organizations and modern society, whether it be strategy, organizational behaviour, marketing, sociology or the like. This single volume repository deals not just with the current state of knowledge, the current debates and the extant literature but also with questions concerning emerging management concerns and implications of the fast changing world of digital technologies. Emergence in Complex, Cognitive, Social, and Biological Systems Gianfranco Minati, Eliano Pessa, 2012-12-06 The systems movement is made up of many systems societies as well as of disciplinary researchers and researches explicitly or implicitly focusing on the subject of systemics, officially introduced in the scientific community fifty years ago. Many researches in different fields have been and continue to be sources of new ideas and challenges for the systems community. To this regard, a very important topic is the one of EMERGENCE. Between the goals for the actual and future systems scientists, there is certainly the definition of a general theory of emergence and the building of a general model of it. The Italian Systems Society, Associazione Italiana per la Ricerca sui Sistemi AIRS, decided to devote its Second National Conference to this subject. Because AIRS is organized under the form of a network of researchers, institutions, scholars, professionals and teachers, its research activity has an impact at different levels and in different ways. Thus, the topic of emergence was not only the focus of this conference but it is actually the main subject of many AIRS activities.
