Australia's most ruthless contract killers, their plots, accomplices, victims, crimes and punishments and of the people who saw fit to employ them. John Kerr dissects a parade of hits from the days of Sydney's razor gangs in the 1930s to more modern times, taking a fresh look on the way at the man they called Rent a Kill. Christopher Dale Flannery Kerr traces the tragic path of Dennis Allen's hired Red Rat, tells of the bungled Are you Les hit and examines the crimes that led to a mother's death on a bed beside her six-year-old son. He gives unflinching accounts of a man who killed his granny, wives who shopped for their husband's killers and cashed up criminals who called in favours to arrange the deaths of their enemies. A chilling account of how quickly ordinary people can turn to extreme violence to get what they want. Pentridge - Behind the Bluestone Walls Cheryl Osborne, Don Osborne, 2015-07-01

When Don Osborne went to Pentridge in 1970 he found a nineteenth-century penal establishment in full working order. It held about 1200 inmates, most of them cooped up in tiny stone cells that sweltered in summer and froze in winter. Some had no sewerage or electric light. Assigned to teach in the high security section of the prison, Don worked in the chapel which doubled as a classroom during the week. There he saw the terrible effects of the violence that permeated H Division, the prison's punishment section. He found himself acting as confidant and counsellor to some of the best-known criminals of the era and to others who'd become notorious later after H Division had worked its magic on them. This book offers an insider's reflections on how the prison emerged as it did and is supplemented by a stunning pictorial section. It focuses especially on the rebellious 1970s when the military disciplines of H Division began to give way in the face of prisoner resistance and public criticism. Don writes of the people and events that shaped Pentridge's history and etched it into the memories of the city that was its reluctant host. Researching Death, Dying and Bereavement Erica Borgstrom, Julie Ellis, Kate Woodthorpe, 2018-10-22

This book examines research on death, dying and bereavement and how our approaches, perceptions and expectations shape what we can know about the end of life. The contributions include personal and professional reflections and practical suggestions for conducting research in this field. The volume stems from the resurgence of the international and interdisciplinary study of death in the last 20 years. Within this empirical research is often viewed as sensitive but little has been written about the experience of conducting research in this area. There has thus been little reflection on the opportunities and challenges faced in undertaking research as the field of death studies grows, including the accommodation and recognition of cultural differences. This volume seeks to in part address this gap. The chapters in this book were originally published in the Mortality journal and the Death Studies journal. The History of Australian Crime Nigel Cawthorne, 2013-07-05

The criminal history of Australia from bushrangers who robbed, raped and murdered their way across the Outback in the late 18th and 19th centuries to today's breed of celebrity villain from Ned Kelly and Jack the Rammer to Mark Brandon Chopper Read and Alan Bond. The Last Outlaws Katherine Biber, 2025-07-02

Brilliantly reconstructed from contemporary narratives, The Last Outlaws is both a gripping work of historical true crime and a richly revealing examination of our nation at its birth. The Chant of Jimmie Blacksmith meets Killing for Country. In the winter of 1900 Wiradjuri man Jimmy Governor and his brother Joe murdered nine people across New South Wales in a rampage that caused panic in the colony on the cusp of nationhood Triggered it seems by a racist incident they killed men women and children evading a vast manhunt until they were eventually captured Joe was shot in the open Jimmy survived to be put on trial Thus the last man to be outlawed in the colony was hanged in the new nation meeting his end in Darlinghurst Gaol as the Federation decorations were taken down The brothers names still resonate partly due to Thomas Keneally's novel The Chant of Jimmie Blacksmith and Fred Schepisi's subsequent film but their story has remained distorted and obscure Undertaken with the co operation of the Governors descendants Katherine Biber's compelling reconstruction of events from the murders themselves to Jimmy's eventual execution brings this extraordinary story back to life In doing so it sheds fresh vivid light on the country that inspired and reacted to the murders Not only did many of the lawyers and politicians involved also play key roles in Federation but the case revealed in microcosm the psychology of the nascent nation its attitudes to land and race its anxiety about a wider First Nations insurrection its obsession with paperwork and the emerging sciences of neuroanatomy and criminology its nepotism religiosity sweeping police powers and sensationalist media More powerfully than the story of Ned Kelly or the Anzacs the fate of Jimmy Governor illuminates the origin story of the Australian nation Populated by a cast of extraordinary characters and compelling detail The Last Outlaws brings the energy of true crime into the telling of history offering an electric new understanding of both our past and our present examines several difficult questions of our recent history why did Australia not act more firmly to eradicate rape and child sexual abuse What prevented our culture from looking seriously at trauma How did we fail to protect victim survivors Rich in social and legal history this study takes readers into the world of victims of sexual crime and into the wider community that had to deal with sexual violence At the core of this book is the question that resonates deeply right now why does sexual violence appear seemingly insurmountable despite significant change Official Index to the Times ,1921 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement Times educational supplement Scotland and the Times higher education supplement
