Drama of Consensus Kerry C. Larson, 1988 In this elegant study Walt Whitman's democratic consensual idealism emerges for the first time as truly central to his poetic achievement Though Whitman's democratic idealism has often been dismissed as a blindness to the political complexities of his day Kerry C. Larson argues that the poet was in fact vitally engaged in the problems of preserving social continuity at a time 1855-60 when the specter of disunion and fratricidal war grew increasingly ominous Whitman conceived his poems as vehicles for social integration whose entire aim was to dramatize the joining of the many and the one speaker and listener universal and particular without subordinating either term For Whitman the poet's role was to be the better President the figure in whose person all contending interests and competing factions would be resolved The importance of drama in Larson's title is borne out in his argument that Whitman's most memorable poems depict the goal of consent as an active process something to be achieved rather than merely affirmed By way of making this drama vivid these poems project a fictive audience or interlocutor which in being invoked by the poet furnishes him with a partner in the ongoing dialogue of voices Leaves of Grass both embodies and records Murder, an Analysis of Its Forms, Conditions, and Causes Gerhard Falk, Clifford Falk, 1990 A unique study providing evidence that murder is predictable and the exceptionally high murder rate in the United States is reducible Part I examines 50 case histories and an analysis of 912 homicides from an original study made in Erie County Buffalo New York Part II discusses multiple serial killers and mass murderers Part III covers assassinations and executions and a final part presents conclusions
