A Life Afield A. Hunter Smith, 2014-12-01 In A Life Afield A Hunter Smith welcomes readers to sit by his fireside as he recounts twelve evocative tales from his extensive experience as a hunter and hunting guide Though Smith could draw from some 350 years of ancestral sportsman stories he instead describes his own successes and mishaps with an intimacy that captivates audiences Through his narratives Smith shares his philosophy on hunting and rambling in the outdoors and questions what it means to be a true sportsman in today's Deep South As his stories make clear the South's outdoor heritage has changed drastically within the last twenty five years or more The beauty and majesty of the natural world as well as the principles of honor integrity and humanity found within circles of sportsmen are seemingly no longer reward enough for the sporting world of today Many of the age old and time proven wisdoms of woodsmanship are in danger of being forgotten or dismissed by a new era of immediate reward for minimal effort A Life Afield reminds readers what it means to be a woodsman to hold the woods and waters deep within one's heart Taken as a whole the collection chronicles the author's quest to adulthood influenced by his outdoor adventures and friendships while also subtly providing solid lessons in sporting ethics gun safety and general woodsmanship A Life Afield includes a foreword by Ellison D Smith IV an environmental attorney author of The Day the Pelican Spoke and Free as a Fish and brother of the author

American Hybrid Poetics Amy Moorman Robbins, 2014-07-21 American Hybrid Poetics explores the ways in which hybrid poetics a playful mixing of disparate formal and aesthetic strategies have been the driving force in the work of a historically and culturally diverse group of women poets who are part of a robust tradition in contesting the dominant cultural order Amy Moorman Robbins examines the ways in which five poets Gertrude Stein Laura Mullen Alice Notley Harryette Mullen and Claudia Rankine use hybridity as an implicitly political strategy to interrupt mainstream American language literary genres and visual culture and expose the ways in which mass culture in the twentieth and twenty first centuries has had a powerfully standardizing impact on the collective American imagination By forcing encounters between incompatible traditions consumer culture with the avant garde low culture forms with experimental poetics prose poetry with linguistic subversiveness these poets bring together radically competing ideologies and highlight their implications for lived experience Robbins argues that it is precisely because these poets have mixed forms that their work has gone largely unnoticed by leading members and critics in experimental poetry circles Heaven Is a Beautiful Place Genevieve C.
