Africa's Future Duncan Clarke, 2012-02-09. Many seek to fix Africa: economists, experts, politicians, gurus, cognoscenti, and glitterati. But the continent conceals multiple secrets, including the Holy Grail explanations of its saga over the previous centuries. Africa's Future tells the tale of Africa's economic evolution, revealing unique prisms for understanding the continent's panoramic story: one of triumph over the lasting influences of nature and multiple political tragedies. Modern Africa developed diverse economic pathways to betterment, yet survivalist economies litter the landscape. Its paradox of subsistence with many faces coexists amidst the tiny middle class growing rich and many more poor expected in the future. Clarke provides fresh and challenging insights into Africa's economies and future, offering seasoned views on a continent of unlocked potential which has witnessed many false dawns. Not poor but poorly managed, Africa holds greater promise; its destiny revealed by its history.

African Financial Ecosystem Dr. Jean-Denis Gabikini, 2024-11-08. Historically and contextually, various integration models were experimented with by colonial powers, but these systems largely collapsed post-independence. For instance, the French attempted to maintain cohesion but prioritized their own interests, leading to fragmentation Efforts in East and West Africa similarly faltered as each nation pursued its own agenda without a unified political will South Africa made a notable attempt but integration never materialized it would have required a different approach such as the adoption of a SADC currency The recent endeavors of AES countries and Zimbabwe s new currency inject fresh dynamics into this ecosystem Concurrently the rise of new technologies presents both challenges and opportunities for financial integration Public organizations and pan African institutions play crucial roles in navigating this journey where the political dimension holds significant sway Additionally international dynamics exemplified by initiatives like those of the BRICs further influence the landscape Taken together these elements paint an intriguing picture fostering discussions on the African ecosystem and brainstorming plausible solutions The ultimate aim is to achieve within a reasonable timeframe a monetary union and a common African currency

Vernon Henderson,Anthony J. Venables,2017-02-09

Cities in Sub Saharan Africa are experiencing rapid population growth Yet their economic growth has not kept pace Why One factor might be low capital investment due in part to Africa s relative poverty Other regions have reached similar stages of urbanization at higher per capita GDP This study however identifies a deeper reason African cities are closed to the world

Compared with other developing cities cities in Africa produce few goods and services for trade on regional and international markets To grow economically as they are growing in size Africa's cities must open their doors to the world They need to specialize in manufacturing along with other regionally and globally tradable goods and services And to attract global investment in tradables production cities must develop scale economies which are associated with successful urban economic development in other regions Such scale economies can arise in Africa and they will if city and country leaders make concerted efforts to bring agglomeration effects to urban areas Today potential urban investors and entrepreneurs look at Africa and see crowded disconnected and costly cities Such cities inspire low expectations for the scale of urban production and for returns on invested capital How can these cities become economically dense not merely crowded How can they acquire efficient connections And how can they draw firms and skilled workers with a more affordable livable urban environment From a policy standpoint the answer must be to address the structural problems affecting African cities Foremost among these problems are institutional and regulatory constraints that misallocate land and labor fragment physical development and limit productivity As long as African cities lack functioning land markets and regulations and early coordinated infrastructure investments they will remain local cities closed to regional and global markets trapped into producing only locally traded goods and services and limited in their economic growth

Africa's Social and Religious Quest Randee Ijatuyi-Morphé, 2014-01-30 This well crafted book probes the key dimensions of Africa's existential predicament It constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing African situation the starting point for grasping Africa's social and religious quest Beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors e.g. colonization slavery vs leadership cultural values this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation The situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional African religion and material culture which hitherto defines African communality politics and destinies vis vis the cosmos and nature Thus African religion and communities each with its own attendant values do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity Rather they operate via adaptation The communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are This study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re signifies life and wholeness as a true end of Africans quest today Pan-African Agency Malusi Mncube, African-Asian Relations: Past, Present, Future LIT Verlag, 2023-03-15 Is the impression of a new dynamism in African Asian relations empirically correct Is it a process that will once be accepted as one of the fundamental transformations of World Society in the 21st century This volume addresses these questions in 14 chapters from a look back to 2000 years of African Asian contacts and exchange to the analysis of the origins of this new inter regional dynamism On the Asian side the focus is on China which has with the Forum on China African Cooperation FOCAC the Belt and Road Initiative with numerous infrastructure projects development assistance resource deals and the support for the African Union in Africa drawn most attention but also recent initiatives by India and South Korea are described On the African side the recent developments in Burkina Faso Cote d'Ivoire Ethiopia Angola Guinea Tanzania Ghana Zimbabwe and South Africa are analyzed in detail with a special focus on the various impacts of the recent and ongoing projects and initiatives and the conditions under which they exert developmental or detrimental economic Do we witness the repetition of past mistakes of development policies at higher level or is this time everything different Patrick Ziltener is an Associate Professor at the University of Zurich Switzerland Christian Suter is Professor of Sociology at the University of Neuchâtel and President of the World Society Foundation Zurich Switzerland
