Martin Sloane A Novel:

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2009-02-28 The story of a relationship across two decades of Jolene's search for Martin Sloane when one day he disappears from their home without warning or explanation is told in a novel that brilliantly and movingly explores the vagaries of love and friendship the burdens of personal history and the enigmatic power of art

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2001-10-30 In 1984 Jolene Iolas a student in upstate New York encounters Martin Sloane's art while visiting a Toronto gallery Flush with the confidence of youth she strikes up a correspondence with the older artist and eventually the two become lovers Introduced to a constancy of love she has never known Jolene relaxes into the rituals of being someone's other half She learns Martin's story and cherishes it as her own He becomes a fixture in her life a star in her sky And then he vanishes There is no hint of his fate no chain of cause to be followed Over a long fall the shock slowly hardening into fact Jolene sheds her life losing everything including her oldest friend Molly to inexpressible grief Ten years pass Jolene slowly learns to stop trying to make sense of it all But before she can fully return to life the opportunity to confront a ghost arises Word has come from Molly of all people that someone named Sloane has been exhibiting artworks identical to Martin's in Irish galleries Jolene travels to Dublin where she reluctantly reconnects with Molly and together they find themselves lost in a jumble of pasts as they try to piece together what happened to Martin Sloane An exquisitely crafted novel Martin Sloane is about the mysteries of love and art the weight of history and what it means to bear memory for the missing and the dead

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2002-06 What does it really mean to love another person The question hovers like a persistent wisp of fog over the story of Martin Sloane an Irish born artist who creates intricate object filled boxes and Jolene Iolas the young American woman who finds herself drawn first to Martin Sloane's art and then to the man himself The story of their relationship across two decades and of Jolene's search for Martin Sloane when one day he disappears from their home without warning or explanation is told in a novel that brilliantly and movingly explores the vagaries of love and friendship the burdens of personal history and the enigmatic power of art Goodness Michael Redhill, 2005 Winner of the Best of the Edinburgh Fringe Prize Althea Do you believe in your own death Every moment you are alive is endless and the present goes on and on with you inside it Of course the end is truly coming but it's so far off and in the meantime the spring bulbs need bringing out of the dark and the windows must be cleaned These distant murmurings of unrest are like the way you sometimes hear your name on the wind and you shudder Because it's eerie that the wind should know your name This remarkable autobiographical play by the award winning author of Building Jerusalem and Martin Sloane is a Russian doll like play concentric stories enveloping each other A writer is told in confidence a terrible tale of murder and injustice and he promises never to repeat the story Goodness is the writer breaking his word Recently divorced Michael Redhill goes to Poland to get away from his life and to do some research on the Holocaust Thwarted by witnesses unwilling to talk he returns home via England but in London is introduced to someone who can tell him a real story of evil Through this reluctant witness Redhill learns of a genocide He encounters through the memory of the storyteller an alleged war criminal about to be put on trial But this is an old man with Alzheimer's who can no longer remember the time his crimes were allegedly committed Has his guilt dissolved with his memory Could he be pretending to be ill in order to escape punishment The witness conjures for Redhill the war criminal's passionate and beautiful daughter who will defend her father at all costs There is also the prosecuting attorney who has much in common with the old man whose destruction he seeks As well as an uncomfortable attraction to his daughter Each is drawn to the other All is witnessed by a female prison guard the one who tells the playwright years later what really happened in the quest to give a nation some closure Everyone's story is compelling and the ending is as unexpected as it is shocking Who do we believe A prison guard still wounded by history A writer suffering from heartache A dying war criminal What is our responsibility Who does memory serve Did the past really happen And if it did who has a claim on it Goodness is a play about what happens in the gaps between experiencing telling and hearing

Simple Recipes Madeleine Thien, 2009-10-31 With delicate language and wisdom Madeleine Thien explores the longing of families pulled apart by conflicts between generations cultures and values Each of these stories captures a deeply personal world in which characters struggle to reconcile family loyalty with individual desires In House a 10 year old girl longs for the alcoholic mother who left the house one day never to return In Dispatch a woman tries to hold her marriage together even after finding proof that her husband is in love with someone else In A Map of the City a young woman's troubled relationship with her father overshadows the course she takes in her adult life Thien's fresh perspective and spare haunting prose have already won her prizes and the praise of established masters Simple Recipes is the beginning of a luminous writing career

The Trial of Katterfelto Michael Redhill, 2025-09-02 I will grant here at the outset that the Doctor was not who he seemed but this shall turn out to be of little import in the tale to come He is as am I but a charge in a wire We were conductors for another force vassals to a vessel This vessel I cannot speak of for some pages however central it will become but I gallop ahead of myself I believe it is important that you see how I came to meet the good Doctor and for you to meet us for who we were Perhaps you will marvel as have I at how chance encounters can be charged with the power to alter the course of one's life or even history In the late eighteenth century the conjurer and amateur scientist Gustavus Katterfelto has made a name for himself travelling across the English countryside with a bag of tricks For audiences his astonishing stunts are pure magic For Katterfelto each one is carefully engineered and executed with the help of his colleague confidante and amanuensis and our narrator Roger Gossage Yet one day in their travels the two men come across a mystifying object beyond their ken a metal horn that emits a disembodied woman's voice She calls herself Siri of Toronto and claims to speak from a place plagued by climate catastrophe and social unrest As they begin to use the horn in their magic shows Gossage and Katterfelto must work to understand the origin and intent of Siri's call a quest that will put them up against the limits of reason and test Roger's allegiance to the man he calls his friend Endlessly inventive richly imagined and entirely its own The Trial of Katterfelto is a consciousness expanding novel that writes directly into the most urgent questions we face as a species who we are what we have done and what we might do from here Contemporary Jewish Writing in Canada Michael Greenstein, 2004-01-01 Contemporary Jewish Writing in Canada brings together important and innovative works from modern Jewish writers living in Canada This anthology presents a variety of male and female voices both established and new some translated from French or Yiddish Caught between a conservative British tradition and an aggressive American influence with a long immigrant history Canadian Jewish literature has charted a unique intermediate course The largest community of Jewish writers in Canada can be found in Montreal where a vibrant Yiddish culture has flourished surrounded by a Francophone majority Beginning with A M Klein and carrying through the works of Leonard Cohen and Mordecai Richler Jewish writing in Montreal has adapted to changing political and linguistic pressures over the course of the twentieth century A number of Jewish authors in this anthology write in French and are involved in translation not just of language but of cultural values as well The second largest concentration of Jewish writers in Canada is in Winnipeg and the western part of the country where Jewish communities have strong Yiddish and socialist roots A generation of younger writers however have shifted from these earlier centers to Toronto where they form part of a multicultural mosaic blending Jewish Canadian and cosmopolitan values From Anne Michaels s Greek island to Aryeh Lev Stollman s Berlin and Michael Redhill s Irish synagogue Canadian Jewish literature engages exile at home abroad and abroad at home Lost Classics Michael Ondaatje, Michael Redhill, Esta Spalding, Linda Spalding, 2011-03-30 An Anchor Books Original Seventy four distinguished writers tell personal tales of books loved and lost great books overlooked under read out of print stolen scorned extinct or otherwise out of commission Compiled by the editors of Brick A Literary Magazine Lost Classics is a reader s delight an intriguing and entertaining collection of eulogies for lost books As the editors have written in a joint introduction to the book being lovers of books we ve pulled a scent of these absences behind us our whole reading lives telling people about books that exist only on our own shelves or even just in our own memory Anyone who has ever been changed by a book will find kindred spirits in the pages of Lost Classics Each of the editors has contributed a lost book essay to this collection including Michael Ondaatje on Sri Lankan filmmaker Tissa Abeysekara s Bringing Tony Home a novella about a mutual era of childhood Also included are Margaret Atwood on sex and death in the scandalous Doctor Glas first published in Sweden in 1905 Russell Banks on the off beat travelogue Too Late to Turn Back by Barbara Greene the slightly ditzzy cousin of Graham Bill Richardson on a children s book for adults by Russell Hoban Ronald Wright on William Golding s Pincher Martin Caryl Phillips on Michael Mac Liammoir s account of his experiences on the set of Orson Welles s Othello and much much more

Great Expectations Lisa Moore, Dede Crane, 2018-03-06 In this moving uniquely honest and transformative collection of original essays twenty five celebrated writers share one of their most intimate and life changing experiences childbirth Featuring an introduction by bestselling author and columnist Leah McLaren Great Expectations takes the reader on an emotional and physical journey like no other Lynn Coady relates the painful memory of her teenage pregnancy and the anguish of having to give up her newborn for adoption Peter Behrens expresses a father's feeling of utter helplessness and incomparable joy during the birth of his first child Christy Ann Conlin describes pregnancy and birth at age forty Afua Cooper reflects upon the immigrant's experience of three pregnancies and childbirths in a new land with foreign and evolving customs Anne Fleming contemplates her partner's artificial insemination and the birth of a beautiful girl and Jaclyn Moriarty transcribes her grandmother's and her mother's birth stories along with her own to create a tender oral history spanning three generations

The Notebooks Michelle Berry, 2010-08-13 In the tradition of the Paris Review The Notebooks is an exciting collection of original short fiction and in depth interviews from Canada's most celebrated and innovative young writers A provocative examination of the writer's life in the twenty first century The Notebooks charts a new direction in Canadian literature It brings together a unique collection of accomplished fiction ranging from the classic storytelling of Michael Redhill to the more experimental style of Lynn Crosbie In his keenly observed story Serotonin Russell Smith captures the sensuous pleasures and dizzying energy of the rave scene Big Trash Day a hybrid of fiction and poetry by Esta Spalding is a devastating commentary on poverty and a striking portrait of the shorthand that develops within intimate relationships In a sample from a novel in progress Yann Martel shares the process through which rough sketches become realized characters and disparate moments become fleshed out scenes The interviews remarkable for their honesty and insight bring us into the writer's world revealing the passion and inspiration that motivates these young writers as well as the hardships they endure in pursuit of their art By asking thoughtful and probing questions Michelle Berry and Natalee Caple elicit frank and intriguing details of how writers work structure their days and order their physical space to facilitate the act of writing Many of the authors here explore the impact of technological innovation and mass culture on contemporary fiction as well as the influence of various art forms on the way they imagine stories The writers in The Notebooks speak candidly about their political engagement their passion for writing and their desire to produce art that will last Contributors Catherine Bush Eliza Clark Lynn Coady Lynn Crosbie Steven Heighton Yann Martel Derek McCormack Hal Niedzviecki Andrew Pyper Michael Redhill Eden Robinson Russell Smith Esta Spalding Michael Turner R M Vaughan Michael Winter Marnie Woodrow These seventeen writers come from different backgrounds different parts of the country have different lifestyles and write very different kinds of fiction yet the connections between them are still plentiful As a group they are highly engaged with the world around them politically sophisticated intelligent modest about their potential success and passionate about the act of writing We hope that The Notebooks inspires an ongoing discussion with young writers at work and answers some of the silent questions that readers have longed to ask From the Introduction

Between Mountains Maggie Helwig, 2011-04-13 A spellbinding profound novel from one of Canada's most accomplished poets Between Mountains sets a heart rending love story amidst the aftermath of the Balkan wars of the 1990s Daniel a Canadian journalist has been living in Bosnia for ten years long after most correspondents have moved on to other global hotspots On a visit to Paris he meets Lili a Serbian Albanian interpreter at The Hague entrusted with hearing and telling the stories of victims and perpetrators of brutality Their lives intersect at the trial of a man accused of war crimes interviews with whom have formed the bedrock of Daniel's career Peripatetic driven people Lili and Daniel are also both damaged by the horrific things they have witnessed Each hopes to find in the other some kind of understanding and in impossible circumstances they are drawn into an affair which could destroy everything they have worked for Reminiscent of The Quiet American and Fugitive Pieces Between Mountains is at once a complex love story and a gripping novel of war and politics Exquisitely written and vividly imagined it explores issues of the greatest human importance within an intensely intimate landscape He paused in the doorway of the hotel automatically charting the safest route There was a little bar across the street that would probably make him an omelette in mid afternoon and he found himself calculating that there was not much exposed ground to cross then forcing himself to remember that this was Paris that there were no snipers in the neighbouring buildings not for now at any rate from Between Mountains

The Anansi Reader Lynn Coady, 2007 In 1967 then unknown writers David Godfrey and Dennis Lee founded a small press they grandly named The House of Anansi after an African trickster spider god Their goal was to publish groundbreaking new Canadian work in three core genres literary fiction poetry and topical nonfiction Forty years later Anansi is not only going strong but enjoying a fascinating creative renaissance bolstered by both its important backlist and its renewed commitment to seeking out the best new writers and ideas to publish alongside its established ones Assembled by award winning writer Lynn Coady The Anansi Reader features excerpts from ten of the best books from each decade of the existence of the press for a total of 40 entries Samples from Lynn Crosbie s Queen Rat Northrop Frye s The Educated Imagination and Kevin Connolly s Drift are among the treasures included In a thoughtful coda Coady shows readers the future with selections from seven exciting works in progress coming from Anansi in the next two years The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2007 The Routledge Introduction to English

Canadian Literature and Digital Humanities Paul Barrett,Sarah Roger,2025-06-30 The Routledge Introduction to English Canadian Literature and Digital Humanities is a guide to the concepts and theories at the intersection of Canadian literary studies and digital humanities DH Equal parts theoretical and practical it focuses on debates that overlap the two domains This book historicizes the connections between the two by surveying the history of DH in Canada the tradition of Canadian writers engaging with technology and DH analyses of Canadian literature It also situates both CanLit and DH with respect to contemporary concerns about alterity and it demonstrates how digital technologies allow writers and scholars to intervene in them This book complements its theoretical discussions with a practical introduction to DH methods Using Canadian literary texts and examples from projects at the intersection of CanLit and DH it introduces key DH approaches to novice readers Topics covered include data collection data management and textual analysis as well as essential DH tools and the Python programming language A concluding case study guides readers interested in applying the ideas presented throughout

The Gay Detective Novel Judith A. Markowitz,2015-02-16 Gertrude Stein called it the only really modern novel form that has come into existence yet the mystery genre was a century old before it featured its first gay main character in a novel Since then gay and lesbian detective fiction has been one of the fastest growing segments of the genre It incorporates gay and lesbian cultural elements and offers crossover appeal Its authors call upon a century of development in the mystery genre while providing new more accurate images of lesbians and gay men than generally found in mainstream literature and popular media This groundbreaking study of gay and lesbian detective fiction examines mystery series and historically significant stand alone novels published since the early 1960s Part I is an overview that describes how these novels make gay and lesbian life visible and forge new powerful images It also examines how they fit into the larger history of mystery fiction The series analyses in Part II are grouped according to the type of main character police officer private investigator amateur sleuth etc Each section discusses main and secondary characters of that type characteristic themes for the group and more The analyses of individual series cover main characters themes plot points and other elements Comments from authors interviewed for this book play a central role in those analyses Part III lists series spanning themes e g homophobia the closet gay marriage and the novels and series that address each of those themes Book Review Digest ,1916 The Publishers
