Lure of Paris B Weinberg, 1920-01-01 The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 Leanne M. Zalewski, 2022-12-15 This transatlantic study analyses a missing chapter in the history of art collecting the first art market bubble in the United States In the decades following the Civil War French art monopolized art collections across the United States During this Gilded Age picture rush the commercial art system art dealers galleries auction houses exhibitions museums art journals press coverage art histories and collection catalogues established a strong foothold it has not relinquished to this day In addition a pervasive concern for improving aesthetics and providing the best contemporary art to educate the masses led to the formation not only of private art collections but also of institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and to the publication of art histories Richly informed by collectors and art dealers diaries letters stock books journals and hitherto neglected art histories The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age 1867 1893 offers a fresh perspective on this trailblazing era Nineteenth-century American Art Barbara S. Groseclose, 2000 Many well known artists including Thomas Eakins and Winslow Homer and lesser known artists like Harriet Hosmer are closely examined as is the art world of the time In addition to discussing the free movement of American visual culture between high and low Barbara Groseclose interweaves nineteenth century art criticism with current art history to create a fascinating insight into the changing interpretations of American art of this period BOOK JACKET "Foreign Artists and Communities in Modern Paris, 1870-1914" Susan Waller, 2017-07-05 Foreign Artists and Communities in Modern Paris 1870 1914 examines Paris as a center of international culture that attracted artists from Western and Eastern Europe Asia and the Americas during a period of burgeoning global immigration Sixteen essays by a group of emerging and established international scholars including several whose work has not been previously published in English address the experiences of foreign exiles immigrants students and expatriates They explore the formal and informal structures that permitted foreign artists to forge connections within and across national communities and in some cases fashion new transnational identities in the City of Light Considering Paris from an innovative global perspective the book situates both important modern artists such as Edvard Munch Sonia Delaunay Marc Chagall and Gino Severini and lesser known American Czech Italian Polish Welsh Russian Japanese Catalan and Hungarian painters sculptors writers dancers and illustrators within the larger trends of international mobility and cultural exchange Broadly appealing to historians of modern art and history the essays in this volume characterize Paris as a thriving transnational arts community in which the interactions between diverse cultures peoples and traditions contributed to the development of a hybrid and multivalent modern art Women Artists in Paris, 1850-1900 Laurence Madeline, Pauline Willis, 2017-01-01 Paris was the epicenter of art during the latter half of the nineteenth century luring artists from around the world with its academies museums salons and galleries Despite the city's cosmopolitanism and its cultural stature Parisian society remained strikingly conservative particularly with respect to gender

Nonetheless many women painters chose to work and study in Paris at this time overcoming immense obstacles to access the city's resources. Women Artists in Paris 1850-1900 showcases the remarkable artistic production of women during this period of great cultural change revealing the breadth and strength of their creative achievements. Guest Curator Laurence Madeline, Chief Curator at Musée d'Art et d'Histoire Geneva, has selected close to seventy compelling paintings by women of varied nationalities ranging from well-known artists such as Berthe Morisot, Mary Cassatt and Rosa Bonheur to lesser-known figures such as Kitty Kielland, Louise Breslau and Anna Ancher.

American Impressionism and Realism Helene Barbara Weinberg, Doreen Bolger, David Park Curry, 1994. An examination of the continuities and differences between American Impressionism and Realism. Copyright Libri GmbH. All rights reserved.

American Stories Helene Barbara Weinberg, Carrie Rebora Barratt, 2009. They also consider the artists' responses to foreign prototypes, travel and training, changing exhibition venues and audience expectations. The persistence of certain themes: childhood, marriage, the family and the community, the attainment and reinforcement of citizenship, attitudes toward race, the frontier as reality and myth, and the process and meaning of making art, underscores evolving styles and standards of storytelling. Divided into four chronological sections, the book begins with the years surrounding the American Revolution and the birth of the new republic when painters such as Copley, Peale and Samuel F. B. Morse incorporated stories within the expressive bounds of portraiture. During the Jacksonian and pre-Civil War decades from about 1830 to 1860, Mount Bingham, Lilly Martin Spencer and others painted genre scenes featuring lighthearted narratives that growing audiences for art could easily read and understand.

A Parisienne in Chicago Madame Léon Grandin, 2010. This fascinating account of a French woman's impressions of America in the late nineteenth century reveals an unusual cross-cultural journey through fin de siècle Paris, Chicago and New York. Madame Léon Grandin's travels and extended stay in Chicago in 1893 were the result of her husband's collaboration on the fountain sculpture for the World's Columbian Exposition. Initially impressed with the city's fast pace and architectural grandeur, Grandin's attentions were soon drawn to its social and cultural customs, reflected as observations in her writing. During a ten-month interval as a resident, she was intrigued by the interactions between men and women, mothers and their children, teachers and students, and other human relationships, especially noting the comparative social freedoms of American women. After this interval of acclimatization, the young Parisian socialite had begun to view her own culture and its less liberated mores with considerable doubt. "I had tasted the fruit of independence of intelligent activity and was revolted at the idea of assuming once again the passive and inferior role that awaited me," she wrote. Grandin's curiosity and interior access to Chicago's social and domestic spaces produced an unusual travel narrative that goes beyond the usual tourist reactions and provides a valuable resource for readers interested in late nineteenth-century America, Chicago and social commentary. Significantly, her feminine views on American life are in marked contrast to parallel reflections on the culture by male visitors from abroad. It is precisely the dual narrative of this text, the simultaneous recounting of a foreigner's impressions and the consequent questioning of her own cultural certainties that make her book unique This translation includes an introductory essay by Arnold Lewis that situates Grandin s account in the larger context of European visitors to Chicago in the 1890s

Passionate Discontent Patricia Mathews,1999 Art historian Patricia Mathews examines the artistic social and scientific discourses of fin de siecle France Along the way she illuminates the Symbolist construction of a feminized aesthetic that nonetheless excluded female artists from its realm She analyzes contemporary cultural assumptions as well as theories such as social Darwinism biological determinism and degeneracy BOOK JACKET
