Visual History of World Military Machines Major Alex Harris UK Army Air Corps,JJ Molloy,Lieutenant Joshua S. Bettis US Navy,Lieutenant Commander Josh Denning US Navy,2023-08-15 Discover the incredible combat machines that have graced the skies land and sea of the world s most famous conflicts A fascinating account of the history and development of dozens of legendary military vehicles from the German Tiger tanks of the Second World War and the nuclear powered submarine to the high tech fighter jets of today and the military technology of the future Visual History of Combat Machines details the facts and figures of these incredible machines Featuring complete breakdowns of the technology that makes these tanks choppers and battleships the best of the best this guide spans the last 100 years of warfare and how it s evolved Filled with informative and fascinating articles written by leading historians scholars and other military history experts as well as high quality photography and illustrations this action packed book is a must have for any history buff Tank Battles of the Cold War, 1948-1991 Anthony Tucker-Jones,2021-06-30 As Anthony Tucker Jones shows in this highly illustrated wide ranging history for most of the Cold War the tank retained its pre eminence on the battlefield The Arab Israeli wars witnessed some of the biggest tank battles of all time and tanks played key roles in conflicts in Korea Vietnam and Afghanistan as well as in the Iran Iraq War and the wars fought between India and Pakistan But then in the mid 1960s anti tank weapons became ever deadlier and the Mechanised Infantry Fighting Vehicle MIFV which was designed to support infantry and fight tanks emerged and the heyday of the tank was over Chapters cover each major phase in the evolution of the tank and of tank warfare during the period from the battles fought in the late 1940s and 1950s with Second World War armoured vehicles like the T 34 and the Sherman through to the designs common in the 1960s and 1970s like the T 55 Centurion Challenger and M60 Patton to the confrontation between the M1 Abrams and the T 72 during the Gulf War in 1991 Technical and design developments are important elements throughout the story but so are dramatic changes in tactics and armaments which mean the tank has an increasingly uncertain role in modern warfare

M113: American Armoured Personnel Carrier Ben Skipper, 2021-03-23 The M113 has become as much a recognizable part of the US military machine at war as the Bell UH 1 Iroquois and M16 assault rifle. Earning its stripes in the jungles and highlands of Vietnam it became the most widely armored vehicle of the campaign. Such was its prowess that the Viet Cong gave it the nickname Green Dragon on account of its ability to go virtually anywhere. Its groundbreaking aluminum hull gives the M113 a relatively low weight of 12ts this allows it to be easily transported by air and gives it an amphibious ability. The design was also easy to modify and can carry a range of support and indirect fire weapons. From mortars to ballistic missiles the M113 spawned a progeny of useful and innovative vehicles. The base M113 is lightly armored and safe against only the lightest of small arms fire and shell splinter. As a result a range of up armor packages have been used in the past from sandbags to complex applique armor. 80 000 M113s of all types have been produced and are in use with over 50 countries making it one of the most widely used armored fighting vehicles to be produced. Indeed such was its popularity that the US bought their final M113s in as late as 2007. The M113 was designed and developed by the Ford Machinery Corporation FMC to replace the heavier and less reliable steel bodied M59 and M75 armored personnel carriers. It was specifically designed to be lighter, air portable and have amphibious capability. Carrying a crew of two driver and commander who manned the M113's only weapon a 50cal machine gun, the M113 would transport 11 soldiers into combat before withdrawing to the rear. Powered initially by a V8 petrol engine the M113 would be continuously up engined throughout its frontline and subsequent rear support lifespan. Changes included improved suspension, smoke dischargers and externally fitted fuel tanks. Other changes have included armored commander's turrets and slat armor. This LandCraft title looks at the M113s development where the FMC sought to utilize its chassis into as many roles as possible from smoke generators to flamethrowers. The book also looks at how the M113 was adapted for use by numerous overseas customers and how these are upgraded to suit local conditions. Finally the title looks at the M113's changing roles in the more sophisticated contemporary battlescape and how it's still providing service in theatres across the world in a variety of roles both combat and support. For the modeler there is nothing more important than the little things and this image rich section of Land Crafts M113 title delivers the goods. Filled with crisp photos that show the M113's many details combined with helpful accompanying text, forms an enviable visual guide for the enthusiast and modeler alike.

M48 Patton vs Centurion David R. Higgins, 2016-01-20 The Indo Pakistani War of 1965 witnessed some of the largest tank battles since World War II notably between India's British made Centurion Mk 7s and the American made M48 Pattons fielded by Pakistan. The two countries tank regiments many of which shared a proud legacy in the British Indian Army fought one another in the difficult terrain of Jammu and Kashmir the focus of a long running dispute between India and Pakistan. The armoured clashes at Asal Uttar, Chawinda and Phillora would demonstrate that the Centurion with its powerful gun and lower profile generally proved superior to the faster lighter but overly complex Patton Featuring full colour artwork expert analysis and archive photographs this is the full story of the clash between two leading tanks of the Cold War era that were never designed to fight each other but rather to line up on battlefields as allies Infantry ,1988
