At the same time it is becoming increasingly apparent that primary literature on these substances is of universal importance in biology and medicine and that the original classification of these molecules based on the laboratory setting of their discovery as growth factors, lymphokines, cytokines or colony stimulating factors was quite artificial. Performative Inter-Actions in African Theatre 3 Kene Igweonu, Osita Okagbue, 2014-01-02 This book is part of a three volume book set published under the general title of Performative Inter Actions in African Theatre. Each of the three books in the set has a unique subtitle that works to better focus its content and differentiates it from the other two volumes. The contributors' backgrounds and global spread adequately reflect the international focus of the three books that make up the collection. The contributions in their various ways demonstrate the many advances and ingenious solutions adopted by African theatre practitioners in tackling some of the challenges arising from the adverse colonial experience as well as the one-sided advance of globalisation. The contributions attest to the thriving nature of African theatre and performance which in the face of these challenges has managed to retain its distinctiveness while at the same time acknowledging, contesting and appropriating influences from elsewhere into an aesthetic that is identifiably African. Consequently the three books are presented as a comprehensive exploration of the current state of African theatre and performance both on the continent and diaspora. Performative Inter Actions in African Theatre 3 Making Space Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa offers essays that seek to re-conceptualise notions of drama and theatre in Africa and therefore redefine our understanding of the practice, role and place they occupy in a constantly evolving African socio-cultural contexts. Contributions in Making Space Rethinking Drama and Theatre in Africa range from essays that explore notions of space in performance to those that challenge the perceived orthodoxy of conventional forms and approaches to theatre.
