Laboring Positions: Black Women, Mothering and the Academy Sekile Nzinga-Johnson, 2013-06-01 Laboring Positions aims to disrupt the dominant discourse on academic women's mothering experiences. Black women's maternity is assumed and yet is also silenced within the disembodied patriarchal racist antifamily and increasingly neoliberal work environment of academia. This volume acknowledges the salience of the institutional challenges facing contemporary caregiving academics yet it is centrally concerned with expanding the academic mothering conversation by speaking against the private/public spheres approach. Laboring Positions does so by privileging the hybridity between Black women's mothering experiences and their working lives within and beyond the academy. The collection also intentionally blurs essentialist boundaries of mother and other which dictates and generates alternate border zones of knowledge production concerning Black academic women's working lives. In doing so, the diverse perspectives captured herein offer us cogent starting points from which to interrogate the interlocking cultural, political, and economic hierarchies of the academy. The editorial goal of Laboring Positions is to offer a polyvocal collection embodying themes that privilege and arouse Black mothering as central in the narratives, research, and models of existence and resistance for Black women's survival within the academy. The contributors utilize a wide variety of methods and perspectives including Black feminist theory, intersectional feminism, Womanist research, ethics, hip hop feminism, African-centered epistemologies, literary analysis, autoethnography, policy analysis, memoir, qualitative research, survival strategies, and frameworks, and situated testimony that are all collectively bound by Black women's intellectual lives, activist impulses, and experiences of mothering or being mothered. The critical embodied perspectives herein serve as evidence that Black women exist beyond the institutional and ideological boundaries that have attempted to define their journeys. Laboring Positions's chapters speak to each other, and some conversations are louder than others; yet together they offer us a complexly nuanced portrait of the emergent literature on race, gender, mothering, and work.

Women, Art and the New Deal Katherine H. Adams, Michael L. Keene, 2016-01-04 In 1935 the United States Congress began employing large numbers of American artists through the Works Progress Administration: fiction writers, photographers, poster artists, dramatists, painters, sculptors, muralists, wood carvers, composers, and choreographers, as well as journalists, historians, and researchers. Secretary of Commerce and supervisor of the WPA, Harry Hopkins hailed it a renaissance of the arts if we can call it a rebirth when it has no precedent in our history. Women were eminently involved creating a wide variety of art and craft interweaving their own stories with those of other women whose lives might not otherwise have received attention This book surveys the thousands of women artists who worked for the U S government the historical and social worlds they described and the collaborative depiction of womanhood they created at a pivotal moment in American history The Harem Games Jorge Carreras Jr.,2015-03-06 A horrific and mystifying pandemic has struck Earth almost completely destroying the male population of the human species and the female population quickly takes control of political power in every nation But the Matriarchs are far more interested in revenge for the mistreatment they endured under their former societies than the preservation of the species They set about designing a bloodthirsty tournament forcing the surviving males to fight each other to the death until only one remains Two hundred years later The Matriarchy has fine tuned the rules of this contest Now every decade or so one young male from every nation is chosen to participate in a Battle Royale The last man standing wins and as a prize is offered one wish Each contestant goes into battle with a harem of brides by his side Participants have to fight each other and the environment in a deadly struggle for survival with the last remaining survivor and his harem being declared the winner It is in this environment that young Alex Dolorean must fight for his life and loved ones in the deadly Battle Royale known as The Harem Games Not recommended for young children Women of Color in the Aviation Industry Shannon McLoughlin Morrison,2023-08-04 Women of Color in the Aviation Industry offers a critical look at the reasons why the aviation industry remains underrepresented with minoritized groups particularly women of color Despite the increased efforts to advocate for diversity equity and inclusion within the industry the diversity of its employees remains stagnant Through interviews and conversations with a number of women of color this book argues that the industry is not doing enough to create and sustain a more equitable workforce In this book readers will discover why less than 4% of qualified commercial airline pilots are women and of that less than 1% are Black women The numbers of Latinx Indigenous people Asian and other people of color working in the aviation industry are lacking This book explores how the aviation industry often fails to incorporate the experiences of women of color when developing and implementing diversity equity and inclusion initiatives and offers different perspectives on why it remains challenging to recruit and retain minoritized people to the industry By bringing in the experiences of a variety of women this book asks readers to reflect on what it means for an organization to describe itself as one that supports diversity equity and inclusion This timely important book is a valuable resource for a wide spectrum of researchers and students in aviation as well as gender race and ethnic studies Whilst the examples in this book serve as a case study for aviation it can be used to examine other fields encountering similar challenges in creating a more equitable workforce What the Village Gave Me Denise Davis-Maye,Annice Dale Yarber,Tonya E.
