Architecture and Feminisms Hélène Frichot, Catharina Gabrielsson, Helen Runting, 2017-11-10 Set against the background of a general crisis that is environmental political and social this book examines a series of specific intersections between architecture and feminisms understood in the plural The collected essays and projects that make up the book follow transversal trajectories that criss cross between ecologies economies and technologies exploring specific cases and positions in relation to the themes of the archive control work and milieu This collective intellectual labour can be located amidst a worldwide depletion of material resources a hollowing out of political power and the degradation of constructed and natural environments Feminist positions suggest ways of ethically coping with a world that is becoming increasingly unstable and contested The many voices gathered here are united by the task of putting critical concepts and feminist design tools to use in order to offer experimental approaches to the creation of a more habitable world Drawing inspiration from the active archives of feminist precursors existing and re imagined and by way of a re engagement in the histories theories and projected futures of critical feminist projects the book presents a collection of twenty three essays and eight projects with the aim of taking stock of our current condition and re engaging in our precarious environment worlds The Wayfinding Handbook David Gibson, 2009-02-04 Principles of environmental graphic design P 1 of cover Basics of Perception in Architecture Jörg Kurt Grütter, 2020-10-14 This book makes the extremely complex process of architectural perception far more transparent and thus contributes to a better understanding of our built environment Why is there so much debate about the appearance of our built environment about the aesthetics of architecture today Why do opinions about the aesthetic quality of buildings often diverge extremely even among experts Why can t we agree on architecture on what is beautiful and what is not Most areas of construction such as statics and building physics are measurable and can therefore be substantiated with objective arguments Yet this does not apply to the unquantifiable aesthetics of architecture Accordingly judgments on aesthetics are always subject specific and strongly dependent on the viewer Nevertheless the aesthetics of architecture is not just a matter of taste Many relationships between buildings as objects and viewers as subjects can be determined objectively with the help of perceptual psychology and information theory as this book demonstrates Beyond Zuccotti Park Ronald Shiffman, Executive Director Rick Bell, Rick Bell, Lance Jay Brown, Lynne Elizabeth, 2012-10-02 In the wake of the Occupy movement leading planners and social scientists examine public space today and freedom to assemble

Christianopolis ,2013-06-29 Johann Valentin Andreere 1586 1654 was a multi faceted product of late Reformation Germany A theologian who was firmly committed to the Lutheran confession he could yet see very clearly the flaws in his church and argue for their reform without being an ecumenicist in the modern sense he yet admired many aspects of the society he observed in Calvinist Geneva and he recognised the outstanding merit of individual Catholic scholars A linguist and a lover of art and music he was the friend of scientists and an enthusiastic student of mathematics wh held that science leads both to an appreciation of the wonders of the material world and its rejection in favour of more spiritual concerns In his satirical writing he could be ironic and flippant his rhetoric was often laboured and over elaborate but there is no mistaking the sincerity of his outrage at cruelty inhumanity and injustice Andrerere was optimistic in that he believed that the corruption and deceit the luxm y and deprivation the hypocrisy tyranny and sophistry of the age could be transformed in a second reformation yet there runs through his life a deep rooted pessimism or depression which makes his willingness to continue the struggle all the more admirable As early as 1618 while still a young deacon at the beginning of his career he defined the four ages of l human life as terror error labor and horror

Cahokia Sally A. Kitt Chappell,2002-02-15 At the turn of the last millennium a powerful Native American civilization emerged and flourished in the American Midwest By A D 1050 the population of its capital city Cahokia was larger than that of London Without the use of the wheel beasts of burden or metallurgy its technology was of the Stone Age yet its culture fostered widespread commerce refined artistic expression and monumental architecture The model for this urbane world was nothing less than the cosmos itself The climax of their ritual center was a four tiered pyramid covering fourteen acre rising a hundred feet into the sky the tallest structure in the United States until 1867 This beautifully illustrated book traces the history of this six square mile area in the central Mississippi Valley from the Big Bang to the present Chappell seeks to answer fundamental questions about this unique yet still relatively unknown space which was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1982 How did this swampy land become so amenable to human life Who were the remarkable people who lived here before the Europeans came Why did the whole civilization disappear so rapidly What became of the land in the centuries after the Mississippians abandoned it And finally what can we learn about ourselves as we look into the changing meaning of Cahokia through the ages To explore these questions Chappell probes a wide range of sources including the work of astronomers geographers geologists anthropologists and archaeologists Archival photographs and newspaper accounts as well as interviews with those who work at the site and Native Americans on their annual pilgrimage to the site bring the story up to the present Tying together these many threads Chappell weaves a rich tale of how different people conferred their values on the same piece of land and how the transformed landscape in turn inspired different values in them cultural spiritual agricultural economic and humanistic

The Artist and Political Vision Benjamin R. Barber, Michael J. Gargas McGrath, Art and politics are often regarded as denizens of different realms but few artists have been comfortable with the notion of a purely aesthetic definition of art The artist has a public and thus political vision of the world interpreted by his art no less than the statesman and the legislator have a creative vision of the world they wish to make The sixteen original essays in this volume bear eloquent witness to this interpenetration of art and politics Each confronts the intersection of the aesthetic and the social each is concerned with the interface of poetic vision and political vision of reflection and action They take art in the broadest sense ranging over poets dramatists novelists essayists and filmmakers Their focus is on art and its political dilemmas not simply on the artist They consider the issues raised for politics and culture by alienation violence modernization technology democracy progress and revolution And they debate the capacity of art to stimulate social change and incite revolution the temptations of social control of culture and of political censorship the uncertain relationship between art and history the impact of economic structure on artistic creation and of economic class on artistic product the common ground between art and legislation and between creativity and control

Streets and Patterns Stephen Marshall, 2004-08-02 There is an emerging consensus that urban street layouts should be planned with greater attention to placemaking and urban design quality while maintaining the conventional transport functions of accessibility and connectivity However it is not always clear how this might be achieved we still tend to have different sets of guidance for main road networks and for local streetgrids What is needed is a framework that addresses both of these plus main streets that don't easily fit either set of guidance in an integrative manner Streets and Patterns takes up this challenge to create a coherent rationale to underpin today's streets oriented urban design agenda Informed by recent research the book looks behind existing design conventions and beyond immediate policy rhetoric and analyses a range of first principles from Le Corbusier and Colin Buchanan to New Urbanism The book provides a new framework for the design and planning of urban layouts integrating transport issues such as road hierarchy arterial streets and multi modal networks with urban design and planning issues such as street type grid type mixed use blocks and urban design coding
