

Some Comments on N.H. Pritchard's Work

N.H. Pritchard has poetic genius. In his poems, Being is set adrift. These poems stimulate the reader through sight and sound and in spite of ourselves we are given to partake of a kaleidoscopic vision that is beyond dimension. The future inevitably holds a great deal in store for his pristine sensibility.

W.F. Lucas

These poems are 'of our time' . . . FREE souled . . . elements of Gertrude Stein . . . universal preoccupations four-squarely said.

Allen Ginsberg

Pritchard is an extremely talented poet. His poetry is absolutely original, for I've read nothing quite like it and nothing half as good in the entire area of contemporary poetry. He is involved with a type of supra-verbal communication that appeals to me immensely. From a conceptual standpoint, Pritchard's poems are very advanced and can be compared to the best abstract painting, for they are profoundly haunting in their evocations of sight, sound and emotion. These poems are in the "classicist" tradition of Joyce and Beckett.

African American Literature in Transition, 1960-1970: Volume 13 Shelly Eversley, 2022-11-24 This volume considers innovations transitions and traditions in both familiar and unfamiliar texts and moments in 1960s African American literature and culture It interrogates declarations of race authenticity personal and collective empowerment political action and aesthetics within this key decade It is divided into three sections The first section engages poetry and music as pivotal cultural form in 1960s literary transitions The second section explains how literature culture and politics intersect to offer a blueprint for revolution within and beyond the United States The final section addresses literary and cultural moments that are lesser known in the canon of African American literature and culture This book presents the 1960s as a unique commitment to art when Black became a political identity one in which racial social justice became inseparable from aesthetic practice

Freedom Time Anthony Reed, 2014-12-01 Experimental poetry and prose by black writers rejects traditional interpretations of social protest and identity formation to reveal radical new ways of perceiving the world Winner

2016 William Sanders Scarborough Prize Modern Language Association Standard literary criticism tends to either ignore or downplay the unorthodox tradition of black experimental writing that emerged in the wake of protests against colonization and Jim Crow era segregation. Histories of African American literature likewise have a hard time accounting for the distinctiveness of experimental writing which is part of a general shift in emphasis among black writers away from appeals for social recognition or raising consciousness. In Freedom Time Anthony Reed offers a theoretical reading of black experimental writing that presents the term both as a profound literary development and as a concept for analyzing how writing challenges us to rethink the relationships between race and literary techniques. Through extended analyses of works by African American and Afro Caribbean writers including N H Pritchard Suzan Lori Parks NourbeSe Philip Kamau Brathwaite Claudia Rankine Douglas Kearney Harryette Mullen and Nathaniel Mackey Reed develops a new sense of the literary politics of formally innovative writing and the connections between literature and politics since the 1960s. Freedom Time reclaims the power of experimental black voices by arguing that readers and critics must see them as more than a mere reflection of the politics of social protest and identity formation. With an approach informed by literary cultural African American and feminist studies Reed shows how reworking literary materials and conventions liberates writers to push the limits of representation and expression.

At least in my version and I invite other people to continue it if they can want to. There are more than a thousand books and hundreds of authors included from different countries nationalities genders as different as it is possible for now of course. Authors are sorted alphabetically books by the same author chronologically. More about the process and about my views on conceptualism can be found in the opening of the book. It considers innovations in form emergent identities changes in attitudes preoccupations and in the mind itself local and regional developments and shifts within the oeuvres of individual authors.

Radium of the Word Craig Dworkin, 2020-12-09 With fresh insight and contemporary relevance Radium of the Word argues that a study of the form of language yields meanings otherwise inaccessible through ordinary reading strategies. Attending to the forms of words rather than to their denotations Craig Dworkin traces hidden networks across the surface of texts examining how typography and even individual letters and marks of punctuation can reveal patterns that are significant without being symbolic fully meaningful without communicating any preordained message.

Radium of the Word takes its title from Mina Loy's poem for Gertrude Stein which hails her as the Madame Curie of the laboratory of vocabulary. In this spirit Dworkin considers prose as a dynamic literary form characterized by experimentation. Dworkin draws on examples from writers as diverse as Lyn Hejinian, William Faulkner, and Joseph Roth. He takes up the status of the proper name in Modernism with examples from Stein, Loy, and Guillaume Apollinaire, and he offers in-depth analyses of individual authors from the counter canon of the avant garde including P. Inman, Russell Atkins, N. H. Pritchard, and Andy Warhol. The result is an inspiring intervention in contemporary poetics. A Directory of American Poets and Fiction Writers, 1993-1994, 1992-12. Black Chant Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 1997-01-13. The Library Journal Book Review, 1971. Stolen Life Fred Moten, 2018-07-26. Taken as a trilogy, consent not to be a single being is a monumental accomplishment, a brilliant theoretical intervention that might be best described as a powerful case for blackness as a category of analysis. Brent Hayes Edwards, author of Epistrophies: Jazz and the Literary Imagination. In Stolen Life, the second volume in his landmark trilogy, consent not to be a single being, Fred Moten undertakes an expansive exploration of blackness as it relates to black life and the collective refusal of social death. The essays resist categorization, moving from Moten's opening meditation on Kant, Olaudah Equiano, and the conditions of black thought through discussions of academic freedom, writing, and pedagogy, non-neurotypicality, and uncritical notions of freedom. Moten also models black study as a form of social life through an engagement with Fanon, Hartman, and Spillers, and plumbs the distinction between blackness and black people in readings of Du Bois and Nahum Chandler. The force and creativity of Moten's criticism resonate throughout, reminding us not only of his importance as a thinker but of the continued necessity of interrogating blackness as a form of sociality. A Directory of American Poets and Fiction Writers 1997-1998 Poets & Writers, Inc., 1997.
