

A vintage movie poster for the film "A Matter of Life and Death". The central image shows a man and a woman in a close embrace. The woman, on the left, has dark, curly hair and is wearing a dark, high-collared jacket with a pilot's wing insignia on the sleeve. The man, on the right, has a mustache and is wearing a light-colored shirt and a dark jacket. They are both looking towards the camera with serious expressions. The background is a dark, starry night sky. In the distance, a bright, glowing yellow light source, possibly a setting or rising sun, illuminates a path that leads towards a small, dark silhouette of a person or animal. The overall mood is dramatic and romantic.

Making Death Matter Tara Mehrabi, 2016-11-18 This thesis is a contribution to feminist laboratory studies and a critical engagement with the natural sciences or more precisely research on the biochemical workings and deadly relations of Alzheimer s disease emanating from a year of field work in a Drosophila fly lab The natural sciences have been a point of fascination within the field of gender studies for decades Such sciences produce knowledge on what gets to count as nature and natural healthy or sick normal or not and they have done it with great societal authority and impact throughout European modernity However feminist technoscience scholars argue that science and knowledge is socially produced and political too Concepts such as nature animal human body sex and life itself are not simply given natural realities but phenomena processed through the naturecultures of the laboratory Situated within such theoretical and methodological approaches this thesis wonders how scientific facts about Alzheimer s disease are made in the lab today What kinds of realities bodies and ethico political concerns are enacted Who gets to live and who gets to die in everyday laboratory practices Theoretically the thesis is grounded particularly within Karen Barad s agential realism and posthumanist performativity and as such it accounts for human and nonhuman entanglements through which AD is performed in the lab in relational ways In other words the thesis explores how AD is enacted in the bodies of transgenic fruit flies Drosophila melanogaster as these flies embody the disease live and die with it Last but not least the thesis explores the materialities of death dying embodiment and biological waste in a biochemistry lab as constitutive parts of the produced knowledge about AD Denna avhandling utg r ett bidrag till feministiska laboratoriestudier och r en kritisk analys av naturvetenskaperna N rmare best mt r det en feministisk studie av forskning om Alzheimers sjukdom dess biokemiska verkningar och d dliga relationer utifr n ett rs f ltarbete som labbtekniker i ett fluglabb Naturvetenskaperna har under decennier fascinerat genusforskare Dessa discipliner formar kunskapen om vad som r knas som natur och naturligt h lsa och sjukdom normalt eller inte och de har gjort s med stor samh llig auktoritet genom Europeisk modernitet Forskare inom feministiska teknovetenskapliga studier har l nge h vdat att vetenskap ocks r social praktik med politiska implikationer Begrepp som natur djur m nskligt eller kropp k n och livet sj lvt kan inte tas f r givna utan formas ocks i laboratoriets naturkultur Med utg ngspunkt i s dana feministiska teknovetenskaplig teoribildningar och metodologiska utg ngspunkter bearbetar denna avhandling fr gor om hur vetenskapliga fakta om Alzheimers sjukdom skapas i laboratoriet idag Vilka kroppar verkligheter och etisk politiska f rh llingss tt aktualiseras Vem f r leva och vem f r d i vardagliga laboratoriepraktiker Teoretiskt bygger avhandlingen framf r allt p Karen Barads agentiella realism n r den diskuterar sammanv vningen mellan m nskligt och icke m nskligt samt det som kallas posthumanistisk performativitet i relation till Alzheimers sjukdom som den f rkroppsligas i transgena fruktflugor Drosophila melanogaster i laboratoriet I s rskilt fokus st r relationerna som skapas inom den biokemiska forskningen kring d d biologiskt avfall och kroppslighet in depth analysis of Bichat's investigations of death processes In the second part he explains that biologists in the late 1950s put forth a research framework that evolutionarily accounts for death in terms of either an effect of the weakness of natural selection or a by product of natural selection for early reproduction He illustrates how the biology of death is a central field and that studying it provides insight into the way that the epistemic structure of this knowledge has been constituted persists until now and may conflict with some traditional philosophical ideas Contradiction Set Free Hermann Levin

A Death of the World Harris B. Bechtol, 2025-04-01 A Death of the World offers a phenomenological description of what happens to the world for those who survive the death of someone Bringing Jacques Derrida's works into conversation with the philosophies of Martin Heidegger Emmanuel Levinas Jean Luc Marion Maurice Blanchot and Claude Romano the poetry and literature of Paul Celan W H Auden Emily Dickinson Ovid and Jonathan Safran Foer and psychological works concerning trauma mourning epigenetics and memory author Harris B Bechtol provides interdisciplinary language for understanding the death of the other as an event He argues that such death must be understood as an event because this death is more than just the loss of the other who has died insofar as the meaning of the world to and with this other is also lost Such loss manifests itself through the transformations of both the spaces in which meaning takes place and the lived time of a survivor's world These transformations of the world culminate in his account of workless mourning which establishes the contours of the life after these deaths of the world Making Information Matter Mareile
