Smith, 2012-08-10 Who gets to say what counts as contemporary art Artists critics curators gallerists auctioneers collectors or the public Revealing how all of these groups have shaped today's multifaceted definition Terry Smith brilliantly shows that an historical approach offers the best answer to the question What is Contemporary Art Smith argues that the most recognizable kind is characterized by a return to mainstream modernism in the work of such artists as Richard Serra and Gerhard Richter as well as the retro sensationalism of figures like Damien Hirst and Takashi Murakami At the same time Smith reveals postcolonial artists are engaged in a different kind of practice one that builds on local concerns and tackles questions of identity history and globalization A younger generation embodies yet a third approach to contemporaneity by investigating time place mediation and ethics through small scale closely connective art making Inviting readers into these diverse yet overlapping art worlds Smith offers a behind the scenes introduction to the institutions the personalities the biennials and of course the works that together are defining the contemporary The resulting map of where art is now illuminates not only where it has been but also where it is going Cremaster 3 Musée d'art moderne de la ville de

SEEING OUT LOUD Saltz critically engages with notable works of art by over 100 notable artists ranging from Picasso Matisse and Warhol to Matthew Barney Gerhard Richter and Chris Ofili These reviews appeared in the Village Voice between November 1998 and winter 2003 Jerry Saltz is the best informed and hair trigger liveliest of contemporary art critics tracking pleasure and jump starting intelligence on the fly Jerry's fast takes usually stand up better in retrospect than other people's long views Peter Schjeda Jerry Saltz looks at art from the perspective of the viewer the ignorant the lover and the enemy His writing is overwhelmingly passionate yet without sentimentality His words pierce the content and beauty of each

Religious Imaging in Millennialist America Ashley Crawford, 2018-09-19 Ashley Crawford investigates how such figures as Ben Marcus Matthew Barney and David Lynch among other artists novelists and film directors utilize religious themes and images via Christianity Judaism and Mormonism to form essentially mutated variations of mainstream belief systems He seeks to determine what drives contemporary artists to deliver implicitly religious imagery within a secular context Particularly how religious heritage and language and the mutations within those have impacted American culture to partake in an aesthetic of apocalypticism that underwrites it
