Maya Nature:

NATURE SPIRITS RUDOLF STEINER,2016-09-05 Based on knowledge attained through his highly trained clairvoyance Rudolf Steiner contends that folk traditions regarding nature spirits are based on spiritual reality He describes how people possessed a natural spiritual vision in ancient times enabling them to commune with nature spirits These entities which are also referred to as elemental beings became immortalised as fairies and gnomes in myth legend and children s stories Today says Steiner the instinctive understanding that humanity once had for these elemental beings should be transformed into clear scientific knowledge He even asserts that humanity will not be able to reconnect with the spiritual world if it cannot develop a new relationship to the elementals The nature spirits themselves want to be of great assistance to us acting as emissaries of higher divine spiritual beings

The Nature of an Ancient Maya City Thomas H. Guderjan,2007-12-09 Reveals what daily Maya life was like For two millennia the site now known as Blue Creek in northwestern Belize was a Maya community that became an economic and political center that included some 15 000 20 000 people at its height Fairly well protected from human destruction the site offers the full range of city components including monumental ceremonial structures elite and non elite residences ditched agricultural fields and residential clusters just outside the core Since 1992 a multi disciplinary multi national research team has intensively investigated Blue Creek in an integrated study of the dynamic structure and functional inter relationships among the parts of a single Maya city Documented in coverage by National Geographic Archaeology magazine and a documentary film aired on the Discovery Channel Blue Creek is recognized as a unique site offering the full range of undisturbed architectural construction to reveal the mosaic that was the ancient city Moving beyond the debate of what constitutes a city Guderjan s long term research reveals what daily Maya life was like

Nature Fantasies Gabriel Horowitz,2023-10-13 In this original study Gabriel Horowitz examines the work of select nineteenth and twentieth century Latin American writers through the lens of contemporary theoretical debates about nature postcoloniality and national identity In the work of Jos Mart Gertrudis G mez de Avellaneda Jorge Luis Borges Augusto Roa Bastos Cesar Aira and others he traces historical constructions of nature in regional intellectual traditions and texts as they inform political culture on the broader global stage By investigating national literary discourses from Cuba Argentina and Paraguay he identifies a common narrative thread that imagines the utopian wilderness of the New World as a symbolic site of independence from Spain In these texts Horowitz argues an expressed desire to return to the nation s foundational nature contributed to a movement away from political and social engagement and toward a biopolitical state in which nature traditionally seen as pre political conversely becomes its center

Maya Nature Thor Janson,2001 Caste and nature Mukul Sharma,2017-09-25 Rarely do Indian environmental discourses examine nature through the lens of caste Whereas nature is considered as universal and inherent caste is understood as a constructed historical and social entity Mukul Sharma shows how caste and nature are intimately connected He compares Dalit meanings of environment to ideas and practices of neo Brahmanism and certain mainstreams of environmental thought Showing how Dalit experiences of environment are ridden with metaphors of pollution impurity and dirt the author is able to bring forth new dimensions on both environment and Dalits without valourizing the latter's standpoint Rather than looking for a coherent understanding of their ecology the book explores the diverse and rich intellectual resources of Dalits such as movements songs myths memories and metaphors around nature These reveal their quest to define themselves in caste ridden nature and building a form of environmentalism free from the burdens of caste The Dalits also pose a critical challenge to Indian environmentalism which has until now marginalized such linkages between caste and nature

Humans Versus Nature Daniel R. Headrick, 2020 Since the appearance of Homo sapiens on the planet hundreds of thousands of years ago human beings have sought to exploit their environments extracting as many resources as their technological ingenuity has allowed As technologies have advanced in recent centuries that impulse has remained largely unchecked exponentially accelerating the human impact on the environment Humans versus Nature tells a history of the global environment from the Stone Age to the present emphasizing the adversarial relationship between the human and natural worlds Nature is cast as an active protagonist rather than a mere backdrop or victim of human malfeasance Daniel R Headrick shows how environmental changes epidemics climate shocks and volcanic eruptions have molded human societies and cultures sometimes overwhelming them At the same time he traces the history of anthropogenic changes in the environment species extinctions global warming deforestation and resource depletion back to the age of hunters and gatherers and the first farmers and herders He shows how human interventions such as irrigation systems over fishing and the Industrial Revolution have in turn harmed the very societies that initiated them Throughout Headrick examines how human driven environmental changes are interwoven with larger global systems dramatically reshaping the complex relationship between people and the natural world In doing so he roots the current environmental crisis in the deep past

The Power of Nature Monica L. Smith, 2023-03-21

In The Power of Nature, archaeologists address the force and impact of nature relative to human knowledge, action, and volition. Case studies from around the world, focusing on different levels of sociopolitical complexity ranging from early agricultural societies to states and empires, address the ways in which nature retains the upper hand in human-agentive environmental discourse, providing an opportunity for an insightful perspective on the current anthropological emphasis on how humans affect the environment. Climatic events, pathogens, and animals as nonhuman agents, ranging in size from viruses to mega storms, have presented our species with dynamic conditions that overwhelm human capacities. In some cases, people have modified architecture to deal with a constant onslaught of storms, as in Japan or the Caribbean; in other cases, they have welcomed the occasional natural disaster as a chance to start fresh or to put into place new ideas and practices as in the case of ancient Roman cities Using the concept of agency as one in which multiple sentient and nonhuman actors interact in a landscape and exploring locations such as the Caribbean the Pacific South Asia the Andes the Mediterranean Mesoamerica North America and the Arctic the authors provide compelling explanations of the effect of an entire realm of natural powers that beset human societies past and present from storms earthquakes and fires to vegetation domestic animals and wild birds Throughout the emphasis is on the philosophical and engineering adjustments that people make to stay resilient when facing the perpetual changes of the natural world Using an archaeological perspective The Power of Nature illustrates and analyzes the many ways that people do not control their environments It will be of interest to archaeologists as well as scholars in science biology botany forestry urban studies and disaster management Contributors Steven Ammerman Traci Ardren Katelyn J Bishop Karen Mohr Chvez Sergio Chvez Stanislava Chvez Emelie Cobb Jago Cooper Harper Dine Chelsea Fisher Jennifer Huebert Dale L Hutchinson Sara L Juengst Kanika Kalra Fran ois Oliva Matthew C Peros Jordan Pickett Seth Quintus John Robb Monica L Smith Jillian A Swift Silvia Tomkov Kyungsoo Yoo What Is Biodynamics? Rudolf Steiner, 2004-11 And if she stayed still Without making a sound She could see gnomes Helping plants through the ground This radiant picture book was written for Julianna Margulies the film actor and former star of the hit television series ER when she was six years old Her father Paul Margulies captures the pure openness of a child's imagination These reflections on what a small girl sees around her remind us all young and old that life's riches can come to us through our loving attention to the simple and ordinary The vibrant images by Famke Zonneveld the illustrator of Living Alphabet bring this book to life Ages 4-7 years
