Globalisation and International Order Jens-Uwe Wunderlich, 2016-03-23 New regionalism and globalization have been prominent themes in academic and political debates since the beginning of the 1990s Despite the considerable amount of scholarly attention that the new regionalism has received in recent years its full empirical and theoretical potential has yet to be fully investigated This illuminating study provides an overview of new avenues in theorizing regionalism and proposes a consolidated framework for analysis and comparison Offering a comparative historical perspective of European and Southeast Asian regionalism it presents new and imaginative insights into the theory and practice of regionalism and the links between regional developments globalization and international order IBSS: Political Science: 2002 Vol.51 Compiled by the British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2004-03-01 First published in 1952 the International Bibliography of the Social Sciences anthropology economics political science and sociology is well established as a major bibliographic reference for students researchers and librarians in the social sciences worldwide Key features Authority rigorous standards are applied to make the IBSS the most authoritative selective bibliography ever produced Articles and books are selected on merit by some of the world's most expert librarians and academics Breadth today the IBSS covers over 2000 journals more than any other comparable resource The latest monograph publications are also included International Coverage the IBSS reviews scholarship published in over 30 languages including publications from Eastern Europe and the developing world User friendly organization all non English titles are word sections Extensive author subject and place name indexes are provided in both English and French Place your standing order now for the 2002 volumes of the the IBSS Anthropology 2002 Vol 48 December 2002 234x156 0 415 32634 6 u195 00 Economics 2002 Vol 51 December 2002 234x156 0 415 32635 4 u195 0 0 Political Science 2002 Vol 51 December 2002 234x156 0 415 32636 2 u195 00 Sociology 2002 Vol 52 December 2002 234x156 0 415 32637 0 u195 00 China and the Global Politics of Regionalization Emilian Kavalski, 2016-05-23 This volume examines the prominent role of China in global politics and the relevance of the new regionalism paradigm to China's international outreach It provides a comprehensive and critical assessment of China's impact on the global politics of regionalization offers a novel application of analytical models investigates the aspects of the Chinese practice of regionalization that set it apart and demonstrates China's transformative potential in international life. Addressing the need to re-orient the research and policy agenda of international relations, this comprehensive study demonstrates both the lack of language to engage with existing norms and standards and the difficulty of applying them to an evaluation of the global politics of China's non-Western international agency. Beyond Regionalism? Matteo Legrenzi, 2016-04-15. Regional cooperation, regionalism and regionalization in the Middle East are usually considered to be weak and rather ceremonial. However, since September 11, 2001, a new regional order is emerging and the impact of geostrategic changes in the international environment has yet to be satisfactorily studied. With older regional organizations suffering from weaknesses, new forms appear to be developing and flourishing due either to European support or growing sub-regional identities. This volume offers refined theoretical models and approaches which are attuned to the new dynamics and contradictions of a wide range of regionalist projects in the contemporary Middle East. Case studies of the most important regional organizations in different policy fields offer comprehensive overviews of the main actors, institutions, historical development and current issues. Governing Regional Integration for Development Antoni Estevadeordal, 2016-04-22. Developing countries have joined the rapidly growing global system of regional trade agreements (RTAs) over the past years. The drive towards regional integration has advanced with the formation of new markets and groups in Latin America, Africa, Asia, the Middle East and Oceania, with few developing countries remaining outside these regional schemes. This volume looks at how getting governance right is a central element for successful RTA implementation, taking stock of the quality and effectiveness of the monitoring of developing country RTAs around the world. Organized by the main world regions and primarily focusing on developing country RTAs, the book also includes two case studies focused on monitoring in developed country regional agreements by way of comparison. The contributors operationalize governance in the context of RTA implementation with a more narrow and technical term of monitoring and provide eight important lessons for assessing monitoring around the world. International Bibliography of Political Science British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2003-10-23. IBSS is the essential tool for librarians, university departments, research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up-to-date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences. Shifting Geo-Economic Power of the Gulf Dr Bessma Momani, Professor Matteo Legrenzi, 2013-03-28. Bringing together for the first time distinguished Gulf experts to analyse the renewed geo-economic prominence of the Gulf states, this volume investigates some of the new power brokers in the world economy: the oil-exporting states of the Gulf. The Gulf Cooperation Council's (GCC) members Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates and Saudi Arabia collectively have the largest proven oil reserves in the world and are among the world's largest oil-exporting states. Gulf Arab states are actively pursuing a variety of foreign investment strategies. Some of these investments are being managed by sovereign wealth funds, government investment corporations and government-controlled companies. This renewed geo-economic status has received a lot of media attention but there has been a dearth of academic study on what this shift in global economic power means for the international economic system This volume aims to fill this gap with a rigorous scholarly analysis based on primary sources and raw economic data It brings together the expertise of academics who have devoted their career to careful study of the region and of renowned scholars of international political economy Europe-Asia Interregional Relations Bart Gaens, 2016-04-29 This book examines the interregional relations of the European Union with East Asia through the prism of the Asia Europe Meeting ASEM ASEM currently brings together 16 Asian countries the 27 member states of the European Union as well as the ASEAN Secretariat and the European Commission ASEM's ten year anniversary and the Sixth Summit in Helsinki prompted reflection on the forum's accomplishments in three dimensions of interaction its working methods democratic involvement public awareness and global strategic potential The volume provides an in depth evaluation of ASEM's first decade from a European perspective including the achievements of the ASEM6 Summit and its implications for the future of the process It also analyzes the role of interregional interaction as a tool for EU foreign policy Clash or Cooperation of Civilizations? Wolfgang Zank, 2016-05-23 For decades North Africa and the Middle East have experienced overlapping identities and integration processes With the exception of Morocco the countries of North Africa have supported the re launch of pan Africanism in the form of the African Union and its growing institutionalization but they also share an Arab identity and are members of the Arab League Islamism commands wide support among the regions of North Africa and the Middle East and the impact of European integration can increasingly be seen in varying forms This comprehensive volume focuses on overlapping identities and integration processes in the Mediterranean basin and queries to what extent these various identities and integration processes are compatible or in conflict Incorporating both theoretical and empirical material it unites contributions from a variety of countries thus exploring these issues from different perspectives Cruising in the Global Economy Christine B.N. Chin, 2016-12-05 The business of cruise tourism in recent years has commanded news media attention especially on issues of environmental pollution passenger safety and worker rights yet consumer interest in cruise vacations has not been adversely affected by negative publicity and it continues to grow at an average of 8.9% per annum This unique mode of business focusing on the production and consumption of pleasure at sea and on land offers us an unprecedented opportunity to analyze the manner in which ongoing economic restructuring processes to bring about free markets in goods services and labour can and does involve both life on land and at sea This interdisciplinary analysis elicits an examination of states relationship to the maritime regulatory structure governing ship ownership management and operations cruise lines business strategies development of port communities to capture cruise related revenue changing leisure consumption patterns and meanings and the employment of foreign migrant workers as seafarers The Role of the European Union in Asia Juha Jokela, 2016-02-24 Establishing strategic partnerships is a key objective for the European Union These partnerships provide frameworks for flexible and long term cooperation with global and regional players This book focuses on the EU's strategy toward China and India and explores ways of promoting a stronger and more versatile role for the EU in Asia. The volume examines the emergence of China and India as global powers and the implications for the EU's common policies and strategies. It focuses on the role of the EU within Asia in terms of its political security related and cultural impact in addition to economic presence and it explores the interplay of the EU, China and India in global governance and in utilizing and promoting multilateralism especially in the context of climate change and energy security. The contributors discuss avenues for the EU to pursue its interests in Asia and to achieve its objectives in global governance and multilateralism through partnerships with China and India while retaining its special relationship with the United States.

The EU-Russian Energy Dialogue Professor Pami Aalto, 2013-03-28. EU Russian energy dialogue represents a policy issue that forces us to take a serious look at several crucial questions related to the present and future of Europe such as how can the EU area ensure its future energy security when it is running out of its own energy resources and at the same time incorporating new members who are also dependent on energy imports. This book not only outlines the overall characteristics of the energy dialogue but also illustrates the involved policy implementation challenges by paying special attention to the regional context of northern Europe. The study contributes to diverse fields such as international relations and political science, European studies, studies on energy politics, international political economy, post-Soviet politics and literature on regionalization and regionalisms with a special reference to northern Europe.

EU Development Policy and Poverty Reduction Dr Wil Hout, 2013-03-28. This inspiring collection analyzes the contribution of EU development policy to poverty reduction. It focuses on various aspects of the policy: trade, agriculture and food security and modes of policy making and implementation and covers three geographical areas in relation to Europe: Latin America, Asia and Africa, Middle East. The volume concludes with practical recommendations for improving EU development policy with a view to enhancing its effectiveness.

Building Regions Dr Luk Van Langenhove, 2013-03-28. Regions: How they emerge and how they are dramatically changing the appearance of the present world of states and its related forms of governance from local to global levels is analysed in this monograph. But what are regions? Regions can be small or huge. They can be part of a single state, be composed out of different states or stretched out across borders. They can be important, recognized economic, social or cultural entities or they can be largely ignored by the people who live on a region's territory. They can be well defined with clear cut boundaries as is the case in so-called constitutional regions or they can be fuzzy as for instance in cross border regions. In sum, they are not a natural kind and defining regions is not a simple task. Luk Van Langenhove advances the concept of region building as an alternative to the construction of regions with three issues of region building being explored: Why are regions built in a world of states? How do region building processes take place? How are regions transforming the present world order? Crossing disciplinary boundaries, this book is an exercise in theorizing regions and brings together under one conceptual framework different processes and concepts such as regional integration, devolution, federalism and separatism and refines the social constructionist view on regions Bibliographie Internationale de Science Politique ,2002
