Red Dogs And Pink Skies Paul Gauguin On Painting And Music:

Red Dogs & Pink Skies Bruce Adolphe, 2002 WORKBOOK WITH CD ENCLOSED FULL COLOR MUSIC AND ART EDUCATION Gauguin felt that his approach to color the pinks beside purple or yellows near orange had nothing to do with Naturalism or Impressionism but everything to do with music He thought like a composer and he knew it When critics complained that Gauguin's paintings lacked perspective seemed flat and that his colors were unnatural the artist turned to music to defend himself The journalist Eugène Tardieu asked Gauguin why he painted red dogs and pink skies and Gauguin replied I do it purposefully Its like music I take an idea from life and arrange lines and colors to get symphonies and harmonies I do not paint mere representations of reality My paintings should make you think the way music does simply through the mysterious affinities the connections that exist between our minds and arrangements of colors and lines Gauguin felt that if people would only allow artists the same freedom from realism that musicians naturally enjoy they would understand his work He wrote in his journal Musicians live in a special world of sounds and harmonies Painting should be special too The sister art to music painting lives on forms and colors Color like music is vibration Together the music and book of Red Dogs and Pink Skies celebrate not only Gauguin's paintings and ideas about art and music but also the relationship of painting to music generally The design of the book from the decorative borders and backgrounds to the humorous images are based on details and elements of Gauguin's own work The music was inspired by listening to the paintings For Gauguin himself said Color is the language of the listening eye

Van Gogh and Music Natascha Veldhorst, 2018-01-01 Ah to make of painting what the music of Berlioz and Wagner has been before us a consolatory art for distressed hearts Vincent van Gogh This engaging book is the first in depth investigation of the influential role that music and sound played throughout Vincent van Gogh's 1853-1890 life From psalms and hymns to the operas of Richard Wagner to simple birdsong music represented to Van Gogh the ultimate form of artistic expression And he believed that by emulating music painting could articulate deep truths and impart a lasting emotional impact on its viewers In Van Gogh and Music Natascha Veldhorst provides close readings of the many allusions to music in the artist's prolific correspondence and examines the period's artistic theory to offer a rich picture of the status of music in late 19th century culture Veldhorst shows the extent to which Van Gogh not only admired the ability of music to inspire emotion but how he incorporated musical subject matter and techniques into his work with illustrations of celebrated paintings such as Sunflowers in a Vase which he described as a symphony in blue and yellow An expansive inquiry into the significance of sound and music for the artist including the formative influence of his song filled upbringing Van Gogh and Music is full of fascinating new insights into the work of one of history's most venerated artists
