J. Rummel, 2017-07-05 While there are estimates of the number of people killed by Soviet authorities during particular episodes or campaigns until now no one has tried to calculate the complete human toll of Soviet genocides and mass murders since the revolution of 1917 Here R J Rummel lists and analyzes hundreds of published estimates presenting them in the historical context in which they occurred His shocking conclusion is that conservatively calculated 61 911 000 people were systematically killed by the Communist regime from 1917 to 1987 Rummel divides the published estimates on which he bases his conclusions into eight historical periods such as the Civil War collectivization and World War II The estimates are further divided into agents of death such as terrorism deportations and famine Using statistical principles developed from more than 25 years of quantitative research on nations he analyzes the estimates In the collectivization period for example about 11 440 000 people were murdered During World War II while the Soviet Union had lost almost 20 000 000 in the war the Party was killing even more of its citizens and foreigners probably an additional 13 053 000 For each period he defines counts and totals the sources of death He shows that Soviet forced labor camps were the major engine of death probably killing 39 464 000 prisoners overall To give meaning and depth to these figures Rummel compares them to the death toll from major wars world disasters global genocide deaths from cancer and other diseases and the like In these and other ways Rummel goes well beyond the bare bones of statistical analysis and tries to provide understanding of this incredible toll of human lives Why were these people killed What was the political and social context How can we understand it These and other questions are addressed in a compelling historical narrative This definitive book will be of interest to Soviet experts those into 1989 in Central Europe: A Counterrevolution Paweł Ukielski, 2024-08-09 The literature on the fall of communism contains numerous interpretations of the changes that took place in Central and Eastern Europe in 1989 while debates about how best to characterize the fall of the communist regimes have raged for many years Researchers continue to ponder and argue over how revolutionary as opposed to evolutionary or reformatory these changes were In this new study author Pawe Ukielski proposes the term counterrevolution to describe the historical process that took place and uses it as an analytical construct to better understand the crisis of Soviet communism and the subsequent transitions that took place      Press, Propaganda and Politics Rubén Jarazo Álvarez, Andrada Fatu-Tutoveanu, 2014-08-11 This collective work aims to compare media and in particular cultural press in Francoist Spain and Communist Romania placing the two opposing paradigms in a common approach with the intention of identifying shared patterns and intricate connections between them but at the same time without ignoring their radical differences This comparison is performed both explicitly through several chapters focusing on the general methodological implications of such a comparison between Francoist Spain and Communist Romania in the development of totalitarian dictatorial propagandistic systems and implicitly by offering the academic frame to a series of case studies from both regimes The contributors to this volume Spanish Anglo Saxon and Romanian scholars approach several aspects of media in relation to politics propaganda historical or social aspects in the two regimes based on their academic backgrounds history cultural studies media and literature The volume intends to suggest through its collection of general comparative or analytic chapters as well as through a new approach on two political and cultural phenomena otherwise studied as opposing paradigms the need for a larger debate on the potential of the approach to these phenomena in a common framework      Death of the Father John Borneman, 2004 Death of the Father is a comparative examination of the crises in symbolic identification and national traumas that have resulted from the defeat and or implosion of regimes in Fascist Italy Nazi Germany Imperial Japan and Communist Eastern Europe      Residual Uncertainty Roy Pateman, 2003 Intelligence networks will forever be with us and surely there will always be an appropriate role for the intelligence community There are still important but hard to learn facts about targets including the intentions and capabilities of rogue states and terrorists the proliferation of unconventional weapons and the disposition of potentially hostile military forces that can only be identified monitored and measured through dedicated intelligence assets In Residual Uncertainty Roy Pateman gives numerous examples of where security has been breached and networks severely even irreparably compromised and explains how the consequences of intelligence failure will surely be graver in the future Pateman pinpoints the causes of failures in intelligence and policy in today's world and offers solutions that will drastically overhaul and improve our intelligence networks      Philosophical Perspective on Cinema Pedro Blas González, 2022-05-17 The main premise of Philosophical Perspective on Cinema is simple Can a visual medium such as cinema put in greater perspective diverse aspects of human experience Films are usually sorted by genres but by applying metaphysical existential categories to cinema the author enables readers to reflect on the nature and essence of existence by making life appear less transparent to itself Undoubtedly the connection between sensual reality and philosophical reflection is often glossed over when the emphasis is placed on theoretical abstractions and not life itself While this work is a reflection on the philosophy of existence the author embraces a practical approach to the metaphysical existential foundation of human existence
