Return To The High Valley Coming Full Circle Studies In Melanesian Anthropology:

Return to the High Valley Kenneth E. Read, 1986 Return to the High Valley Kenneth E. Read, 1986 The author describes the changes that have taken place in the village of Susuroka in Papua New Guinea since he studied it during the early 1950s

Religions of Melanesia Garry Trompf, 2006-09-30 Melanesia boasts over one quarter of the world's distinct religions and presents the most complex religious panorama on earth The region is famous for its unusual new religious movements that have adapted traditional beliefs to modernity in surprising ways As the first bibliographical survey to comprehensively cover the entire region Religions of Melanesia is an invaluable research aid for anyone interested in this growing field Trompf's work is a complete listing of scholarly publications and provides readable and concise descriptions that will clearly guide the researcher toward the most relevant sources This survey covers 2188 entries organized topically and regionally Trompf covers such subjects as traditional and modern belief systems and the emergent indigenous Christianity that has taken root Regional coverage includes Irian Jaya Papua New Guinea Solomon Islands Vanuatu New Caledonia and Fiji

Ethnographic Presents Terence E. Hays, 1992-09-24 Until the middle of this century the Western world knew little about the peoples of the Central Highlands of what is now Papua New Guinea and vice versa Only in 1930 was the curtain abruptly lifted on those valleys and mountain ridges with their tens of thousands of inhabitants whose mineral resources service as laborers fealty as colonial subjects and souls became objects of intense interest on the part of gold prospectors Australian administrative officers and missionaries For the most part these early interlopers were mere sojourners and all were too preoccupied with their immediate objectives to learn or report much about the lives of people whose very existence had only recently been suspected Within the general framework of how and why they conducted their early Highlands fieldwork but with the freedom to develop their essays as they chose potential contributors were asked to reflect on a range of interrelated topics Before the Highlands training and theoretical orientation prior to the experience previous fieldwork why the Highlands and a particular region were chosen expectations and preparation Arrival first impressions of the region and the people the colonial encounter selecting and establishing a field base hosts reactions and expectations hosts understandings of the fieldworker's objectives Fieldwork logistics of living in the field relationships with administrators and or missionaries the role of the anthropologists in the community what the community gained from the ethnographer's presence methods employed Analysis how the anthropological climate of the times shaped or influenced analyses how the Highlands experience may have changed the author's theoretical orientation After the Highlands how return visits or later work has been influenced by the first encounter how the early work relates to issues subsequently prominent in Highlands ethnography or anthropology in general

In the Midst of Life A. L. Epstein, 1992-02-12 The Tolai are among the most distinctive of Papua New Guinea's indigenous peoples For all their success in the pursuit of modernity the Tolai remain traditional in their attitudes toward death the cultural elaboration of which colors almost every aspect of their existence In his new book A L Epstein develops an emotional profile of the Tolai contending that societies are distinguished as much by the shape of their emotional life as they are by their social arrangements and cultural styles Epstein describes a wide range of mourning ceremonies and other more and less public occasions By investigating not only the words that stand for emotions but also the way affect enters into and informs people s conduct he charts a new course for ethnography that seeks to integrate the study of the emotions into anthropological analysis Journal of the Anthropological Society of Oxford Anthropological Society of Oxford,1987

History and Tradition in Melanesian Anthropology James G. Carrier,1992 Melanesian societies like village societies in many parts of the world are frequently portrayed as existing in a timeless traditional present The effects of this view are seen not only in overall popular and academic understandings of these societies but also in more abstract debates within anthropology about the nature of kinship exchange or social organization History and Tradition in Melanesian Anthropology offers an alternative view from authors who believe that historical evidence can and must inform our understanding of contemporary cultures This collection of original essays brings together scholars in anthropology and history They point out ways in which the timeless traditionalism approach of anthropology is inadequate Life in the existing societies of Melanesia cannot be understood they say without taking firmly into account how these societies are shaped by their interactions with Western influences In different ways all the contributors bring the history of Melanesian societies into their analyses whether discussing the generally dismissive attitude of ethnographers toward the large numbers of Melanesian Christians the ethnocentrism that led European observers to interpret fighting among the Melanesians solely according to whether it was for or against the Europeans or the mechanism by which a practice such as kerekere the soliciting of goods or services in Fijian society became reified as a custom While the essays are critical of much of the anthropology that is done in Melanesia they also exemplify a responsible historically informed approach to the study of Melanesian societies sober constructive and ideologically disinterested Historians and anthropologists of Melanesia and the Pacific in general will find here original and enlightening work that is sure to influence the theoretical orientation of Melanesian anthropology

A'aisa's Gifts Michele Stephen,2023-09-01 Filled with insight provocative in its conclusions A'aisa's Gifts is a groundbreaking ethnography of the Mekeo of Papua New Guinea and a valuable contribution to anthropological theory Based on twenty years fieldwork this richly detailed study of Mekeo esoteric knowledge cosmology and self conceptualizations recasts accepted notions about magic and selfhood Drawing on accounts by Mekeo ritual experts and laypersons this is the first book to demonstrate magic s profound role in creating the self It also argues convincingly that dream reporting provides a natural context for self reflection In presenting its data the book develops the concept of autonomous imagination into a new theoretical framework for exploring subjective imagery processes across cultures Filled with insight provocative in its conclusions A'aisa's Gifts is a groundbreaking ethnography of the Mekeo of Papua New Guinea and a valuable contribution to anthropological theory Based on twenty years fieldwork this richly detailed study of Mek The Heart of the Pearl Shell James F. Weiner, 2023-11-15 For the Foi people who live on the edge of the central highlands of Papua New Guinea the flow of pearl shells is the heart of their social life The pearl shell is the exchange item that mediates the creation of their most important sexual and social roles The Heart of the Pearl Shell analyzes a number of myths of the Foi people elegantly bringing together significant ethnographic materials in a way that has important implications for the development of social theory in anthropology and in Melanesian studies Scholars of semiotic symbolic anthropology and of comparative religion will also share the author's interest in the meaning and role of mythology in Foi culture Instead of relying on orthodox methods of Freudian or structuralist interpretation James Weiner assumes there is a dialectical relationship between the images of Foi myth and the images of the Foi's social world He demonstrates how each set of these images is dependent upon the other for its creation This innovative study locates Foi social meaning in the re-creation and attempted solution of the moral dilemmas that are crystallized in mythology and other poetic usages This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1988 The Gender of the Gift Marilyn Strathern, 1988-09-15 In the most original and ambitious synthesis yet undertaken in Melanesian scholarship Marilyn Strathern argues that gender relations have been a particular casualty of unexamined assumptions held by Western anthropologists and feminist scholars alike The book treats with equal seriousness and with equal good humor the insights of Western social science feminist politics and ethnographic reporting in order to rethink the representation of Melanesian social and cultural life This makes The Gender of the Gift one of the most sustained critiques of cross cultural comparison that anthropology has seen and one of its most spirited vindications
