Trade Preference Erosion Bernard M. Hoekman, Will Martin, Carlos Alberto Primo Braga, 2009-04-15 The multilateral trade system rests on the principle of nondiscrimination Unilateral trade preferences granted by developed countries can help beneficiary countries but can create tensions between preferred developing countries typically beneficiaries from pre existing colonial regimes and other developing countries There is also concern about the potential erosion of these preferences through trade liberalization in the importing countries an issue that has been important in the current negotiations under the Doha Development Agenda of the World Trade Organization Trade Preference Erosion provides the information needed to make informed assessments of the benefits of trade preferences for developing countries the risks associated with the erosion of these benefits and policy options for dealing with these problems The authors provide detailed analyses of specific preference programs and undertake cross country disaggregated analyses of the impact of preferences at the product level Understanding the likely impacts of these programs and how those impacts are distributed is a precondition for formulating appropriate policy responses The authors argue that such responses need to go beyond trade policies and need to include a focus on enhancing the competitiveness and supply side capacity of developing countries This book is a useful and informative guide for policy makers non governmental organizations and others who wish to better understand the debate on the magnitude and impact of preference erosion

Test Resource Partitioning for System-on-a-Chip Vikram Iyengar, Anshuman Chandra, 2012-12-06 Test Resource Partitioning for System on a Chip is about test resource partitioning and optimization techniques for plug and play system on a chip SOC test automation Plug and play refers to the paradigm in which core to core interfaces as well as core to SOC logic interfaces are standardized such that cores can be easily plugged into virtual sockets on the SOC design and core tests can be plugged into the SOC during test without substantial effort on the part of the system integrator The goal of the book is to position test resource partitioning in the context of SOC test automation as well as to generate interest and motivate research on this important topic SOC integrated circuits composed of embedded cores are now commonplace Nevertheless There remain several roadblocks to rapid and efficient system integration Test development is seen as a major bottleneck in SOC design and test challenges are a major contributor to the widening gap between design capability and manufacturing capacity Testing SOCs is especially challenging in the absence of standardized test structures test automation tools and test protocols Test Resource Partitioning for System on a Chip responds to a pressing need for a structured methodology for SOC test automation It presents new techniques for the partitioning and optimization of the three major SOC test resources test hardware testing time and test data volume Test Resource Partitioning for System on a Chip paves the way for a powerful integrated framework to automate the test flow for a large number of cores in an SOC in a plug and play fashion The framework presented allows the system integrator to reduce test cost and meet short time to market requirements
