Environmental Health Hazards and Social Justice Florence Margai, 2013-10-18 This book provides geographic perspectives and approaches for use in assessing the distribution of environmental health hazards and disease outcomes among disadvantaged population groups Estimates suggest that about 40 per cent of the global burden of disease is attributable to exposures to biological and chemical pathogens in the physical environment And with today's rapid rate of globalization and these hazardous health effects are likely to increase with low income and underrepresented communities facing even greater risks In many places around the world marginalized communities unwillingly serve as hosts of noxious facilities such as chemical industrial plants extractive facilities oil and mining and other destructive land use activities Others are being used as illegal dumping grounds for hazardous materials and electronic wastes resulting in air soil and groundwater contamination The book informs readers about the geography and emergent health risks that accompany the location of these hazards with emphasis on vulnerable population groups The approach is applications oriented illustrating the use of health data and geographic approaches to uncover the root causes contextual factors and processes that produce contaminated environments Case studies are drawn from the author's research in the United States and Africa along with a literature review of related studies completed in Europe Asia and South America This comparative approach allows readers to better understand the manifestation of environmental hazards and inequities at different spatial scales with localized disparities evident in both developed and developing countries

50 Health Scares That Fizzled Joan R. Callahan, 2011-05-25 This engaging nontechnical book discusses 50 health scares that captured the public's attention before fading away covering real and perceived health threats from long ago eras to present times Despite the benefits of advanced technology and modern safety mechanisms the world around us seems to grow ever more dangerous and fraught with hidden risks Even in the information age it is challenging to discern factual scientific information from sensationalized accounts in the media urban legends or unsubstantiated Internet lore In 50 Health Scares That Fizzled award winning author and researcher Joan R Callahan examines 50 health scares in 7 distinct categories medical interventions infectious diseases food scares additives in foods or beverages other biological hazards chemical or radiological exposures and lifestyle choices With great wit and a light tone Dr Callahan alleviates readers concerns and deftly explains the complex issues making the subject matter approachable
