Jolivet,E. Petitpierre,T.H. Hsiao,2012-12-06 As in most groups of insects scientific research on the Chrysomelidae began in Europe in 1758 with the description of a few genera and species by the Scandinavian entomologists C von Linne I C Fabricius and others As the 19th century dawned many systematic entomologists took up the study of chrysomelid beetles together with other groups of beetles and many new species and genera were described from all parts of the world This trend has of course continued down to the present time However researches on the Chrysomelidae did not remain restricted to systematics and many new lines of study have been followed especially in the present century by workers who have benefitted from the advances made in related fields of pure and applied entomology Much has been achieved in the study of the Chrysomelidae as elsewhere and it is the aim of the present book to provide a summary and guide to these achievements It is also to be expected that this book will provide a stimulus for further studies on the Chrysomelidae so that we can anticipate continuing progress in our knowledge and understanding of this group through the endeavours of an ever increasing number of scientists I offer my congratulations to all concerned in the preparation of this book and my best wishes for its success

Ayoub,2012-12-06 Desertification land degradation in arid semi arid and dry sub humid areas resulting mainly from adverse human impacts is the main environmental problem of dry lands which occupy more than 40 per cent of the total global land area The phenomenon threatens about 3 6 billion hectares and currently affects the livelihood of about 900 million people Thl world is now losing annually about 1 5 million hectares of total irrigated lands 240 million hectares due mostly to salinization mainly in drylands Salt affected soils are widely distributed throughout the arid and semi arid regions and particularly severe in China 7 million ha India 20 million ha Pakistan 3 2 million ha USA 5 2 million ha as well as Near East southern Europe and elsewhere Demands on production have increased the pressure on existing productive land and moved the limits of production onto increasingly marginal lands Wise land use practices have yet to be developed for such conditions The Executive Director of UNEP reported to the Governing Council in February 1992 concerning the Status of Desertification and Implementation of the United Nations Plan of Action to Combat Desertification PACD The Report concludes that major efforts to implement the PACD had gone into supporting measures rather than concrete corrective field operations Little evidence of progress was found in irrigated croplands rainfed croplands or rangelands It was recommended that every piece of land should be used in keeping with its ecological characteristics natural capabilities and constraints
