Sex Transformation Of Man Series 3:

How Sex Changed Joanne Meyerowitz, 2009-07-01 How Sex Changed is a fascinating social cultural and medical history of transsexuality in the United States Joanne Meyerowitz tells a powerful human story about people who had a deep and unshakable desire to transform their bodily sex In the last century when many challenged the social categories and hierarchies of race class and gender transsexuals questioned biological sex itself the category that seemed most fundamental and fixed of all From early twentieth century sex experiments in Europe to the saga of Christine Jorgensen whose sex change surgery made headlines in 1952 to today's growing transgender movement Meyerowitz gives us the first serious history of transsexuality She focuses on the stories of transsexual men and women themselves as well as a large supporting cast of doctors scientists journalists lawyers judges feminists and gay liberationists as they debated the big questions of medical ethics nature versus nurture self and society and the scope of human rights In this story of transsexuality Meyerowitz shows how new definitions of sex circulated in popular culture science medicine and the law and she elucidates the tidal shifts in our social moral and medical beliefs over the twentieth century away from sex as an evident biological certainty and toward an understanding of sex as something malleable and complex How Sex Changed is an intimate history that illuminates the very changes that shape our understanding of sex gender and sexuality today

The Transgender Studies Reader Susan Stryker, Stephen Whittle, 2013-10-18 Transgender studies is the latest area of academic inquiry to grow out of the exciting nexus of queer theory feminist studies and the history of sexuality Because transpeople challenge our most fundamental assumptions about the relationship between bodies desire and identity the field is both fascinating and contentious The Transgender Studies Reader puts between two covers fifty influential texts with new introductions by the editors that taken together document the evolution of transgender studies in the English speaking world By bringing together the voices and experience of transgender individuals doctors psychologists and academically based theorists this volume will be a foundational text for the transgender community transgender studies and related queer theory

Transgender identities and other forms of gender and sexuality that transcend the normative pose important questions about society culture politics and history They force us to question for example the forces that divide humanity into two gender categories and render them necessary inevitable and natural The transgender also exposes a host of dynamics that at first glance have little to do with gender or sex such as processes of power and domination the complex relationship among agency subjectivity and structure and the mutual constitution of the global and the local Particularly intriguing is the fact that gender and sexual diversity appear to be more prevalent in some regions of the world than in others This edited volume is an exploration of the ways in which non normative gendering and sexuality in one such region the Pacific Islands are implicated in a wide range of socio cultural dynamics that are at once local and global historical and contemporary The authors recognize that different social configurations cultural contexts and historical trajectories generate diverse ways of being transgender across the societies of the region but they also acknowledge that these differences are overlaid with commonalities and predictabilities Rather than focus on the definition of identities they engage with the fact that identities do things that they are performed in everyday life that they are transformed through events and movements and that they are constantly negotiated By addressing the complexities of these questions over time and space this work provides a model for future endeavors that seek to embed dynamics of gender and sexuality in a broad field of theoretical import Gender,

Intersectionality and Climate Institutions in Industrialised States Gunnhildur Lily Magnusdottir, Annica

Kronsell, 2021-06-16 This book explores how climate institutions in industrialized countries work to further the recognition of social differences and integrate this understanding in climate policy making With contributions from a range of expert scholars in the field this volume investigates policy making in climate institutions from the perspective of power as it relates to gender It also considers other intersecting social factors at different levels of governance from the global to the local level and extending into climate relevant sectors The authors argue that a focus on climate institutions is important since they not only develop strategies and policies they also re produce power relations promote specific norms and values and distribute resources The chapters throughout draw on examples from various institutions including national ministries transport and waste management authorities and local authorities as well as the European Union and the UNFCCC regime Overall this book demonstrates how feminist institutionalist theory and intersectionality approaches can contribute to an increased understanding of power relations and social differences in climate policy making and in climate relevant sectors in industrialized states In doing so it highlights the challenges of path dependencies but also reveals opportunities for advancing gender equality equity and social justice Gender Intersectionality and Climate Institutions in Industrialized States will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate politics international relations gender studies and policy studies The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9781003052821> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
