Barber, 1960 Quaestiones Propertianae Hans-Christian Günther, 2018-07-17 This comprehensive study deals with the major critical problems of one of the most difficult authors of Latin literature It examines in a systematic fashion the two major factors which have been assumed to be responsible for the state of the transmitted text of Propertius dislocation and interpolation It also covers a large number of notorious cases of verbal corruption and discusses problems of the manuscript tradition on the basis of the most recent research Beyond questions of textual criticism and history in the narrow sense the book provides also important exegetical remarks on many Propertian passages and deals in a separate chapter with problems of book and poem structure Sexti Properti Carmina. Recognovit I.P. Postgate Sextus Propertius, John Percival Postgate, 1894 Propertius D. Thomas Benediktson, 1989 An examination of Propertius in light of nonclassical modernist literary techniques especially internal monologue or stream of consciousness and imagism Classical writers typically try to order or shape disparate experiences while modernists seek to present the complexity and disarray of human experience Failing to realize that Propertius is in the modernist camp has led previous textual critics to divide and reorganize his poems A E Housman for example unsuccessfully tried to reorder the lines in one Propertian poem into a logical and chronological sequence On the contrary Propertius like the modernists attempts to communicate experience itself through the association of ideas or through the reflection upon a visual picture or series of pictures imagism or what Pound described as the superposition of image and narrative Benediktson finds philosophical justification for imagism in the Epicurean theory of images and in the Epicurean theorist and poet Philodemus as well as in the doctrine of ut pictura poesis The result is a picture of Propertius that accounts for the mathematical precision of Book I the structural chaos of Book II and the more balanced poetry of Books III and IV The
